Controller Winters' Death Reveals Betrothal

SCHWAB SEES TRADE REVIVAL

Roberts Named to Supreme Bench

Today

Word From Arizona. Successful Miss Hollins. Mr. Wells' Chimpanzee. Shot in Prison.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MRS. GRACE H LOGAN of Phoenix, says Arizona women earnestly favor abolishing capital punishment.

A woman, Eva Duggan, was hanged there recently, says Mrs. Logan, and:

"We now have two young boys facing the gallows. When our committee was in session today all agreed to see if you would not touch upon this subject in your writing for our Arizona papers."

PUNISHMENT inflicted by government on criminals reflects the civilization of the period.

After the French Revolution, when torture of witnesses was forbidden, judges were aghast, and said:

"We can't get the facts if we are not allowed to torture witnesses."

That applied to witnesses not accused of any crime.

If Arizona decides to stop punishing one killing with another killing, that will be due to the influence of women.

A MILLION women, burning with the desire to be "independent" although nobody is independent, will be interested in Miss Marion Hollins. Years ago she was champion female golfer. Now she takes her place in big business, as an able "oil woman." She made up her mind that if men could do it, she could, went into oil financing, and a recent sale netted her $2,500,000.

DID YOU read H. G. Wells' interesting statement about the higher apes? They can "think ahead" a little. No other animal except man, not even monkeys with tails, can do it.

Without being taught, a chimpanzee will take one stick, insert it in the hollow of another stick, and, with the added length, draw a banana into his cage.

Since the beginning of time, no other animal but man could think as much as that.

CONSIDER what man does now, weighing the stars, measuring the electrons inside of an atom. And only twelve thousand years ago he was using sharp flints for weapons, not far ahead, mentally, of the chimpanzee. What will he do 10,000,000 years hence?

IN THE OHIO penitentiary, where nearly four hundred convicts were recently burned alive, two long term prisoners ended their imprisonment suddenly yesterday morning. They were asleep with other convicts in the stockade, when a machine gunner on the roof discharged his machine gun accidentally, and killed them. Albert Freeman and Frank Ross are their names.

Such accidents are bad for prison discipline.

THE PROSECUTOR who sent to the electric chair Ruth Snyder and Gray, who helped murder her husband, has died. What report would he send from his present abode concerning the couple executed by his order?

Would he report that they had been forgiven up there, or would he be allowed to look down and see them, writhing in torment, where "the worm dieth not," condemned to horrible agony, through infinite millions and billions of years?

DISPLAY OF NAVAL power on water and in air continues in New York.

The most interesting display came when some senators saw 132 planes rise from the decks of three ships 15 seconds apart and when they saw the same planes, after flying out to make theoretical attacks, return to land safely on the ships, 30 seconds apart, without a mishap.

WHAT WOULD such a carrier ship with its cargo of bomb-poison gas and machine gun carrying planes do to a fleet of surface ships?

It would do to it exactly what 132 hawks would do to a group of field mice.

SHE LIVES apart and few will know, when her career ends.

But Cancalaise, Jersey cow, of Mt. Kisco, N. Y., is a champion female worthy of honor.

Last year she produced 1,072.7 pounds of butter fat, and 18,822 pounds of milk.

Such cows could help to solve the farm problem. They are, in their way, as remarkable as machinery in mass production factories.

STEEL TRADE VERY GOOD, FARRELL HOLDS

Girdler, Grace, Wilkinson Join in Optimistic Views On Business for 1930

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 9.—American industry is emerging from a period of severe test "with flying colors" and the steel business is "sounder than ever before," Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, declared today at a meeting of the institute at Hotel Commodore.

Leading steel officials of the country were present. All of them were optimistic regarding the future of business conditions.

Schwab, one of the nation's most astute business men, said that so far as the steel industry is concerned, "the test" has been met "with conspicuous success" and recovery since the beginning of the year "has surprised many." He attributed this to good management which, he insisted, is one of the essentials in business today.

DEATH HALTS WINTERS' ROMANCE

Betrothal Revealed as City Mourns Controller; Body Arrives From Cleveland

A romance known only to a few intimate friends was ended with the death of City Controller Daniel Winters in a Cleveland sanitarium last night, it was revealed today as the city mourned his passing.

Controller Winters, a widower for several years, was engaged to wed Miss Mary Carney, of 247 Orchard street, Knoxville, daughter of John J. Carney, funeral director.

PRESENT AT DEATH

Miss Carney returned home today some hours after the body of Controller Winters reached here. She had been at his bedside almost constantly since his condition became critical 10 days ago and was present when death came.

Miss Carney admitted that she and Controller Winters planned to marry, although no formal announcement of their engagement had been made. She had taken rooms in a hotel operated in connection with the Cunningham Sanitarium, Cleveland, that she might be near him in his last hours.

FLAGS AT HALF STAFF

Also at the controller's bedside when death came were his son, Albert, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Brooks.

Mayor Charles H. Kline today ordered all flags on municipal

PROSECUTOR IN OIL LEASE SELECTED

Nomination May Go to Senate Late Today; No Serious Opposition Seen

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—President Hoover has selected Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, one of the government's special counsel in the oil scandals, to fill the vacancy on the bench of the United States Supreme Court, it was learned today.

The name of the noted Philadelphia attorney will be sent to the Senate either today or tomorrow, and there is every indication that his nomination will be acceptable to the Senate, which on Wednesday rejected Prisedent Hoover's first choice, Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina.

RECORD OUTSTANDING

His record as a prosecutor in the oil cases against E. L. Doheny, Albert B. Fall, Harry F. Sinclair and others has, on the whole, met with unstinted praise in the Senate.

In the civil cases he and ex-Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, his associate, were uniformly successful in recovering for the government the vast naval oil reserves that Albert B. Fall leased away. On the criminal side they were not so successful, only one conviction being obtained, that of Fall for bribery, which is now on appeal.

The Senate, however, has come to regard this as due more to the vagaries of District of Columbia juries than to lack of thoroughness or vigor on the part of the government's prosecutors.

Roberts has just passed his fifty-fifth birthday, on May 1. He was born in Philadelphia, and educated at the University of Pennsylvania, taking his A. B. degree at the age of 20, and his law degree three years later. He began practice in 1898.

After three years of practice, he became an assistant district at-

INDIA'S RIOTERS BURN VICTIMS

BOMBAY, India, May 9.—(AP.)—Sholapur was cleared of all European women and children today and ready for eventualities which might follow yesterday's reign of terror. In the violence several policemen were murdered and their bodies burned, others are believed to have been murdered and their bodies burned, and twice the police opened fire on the mobs. The police report the total dead as probably 13, the severely wounded as 24.

Special trains, guarded by troops, today bore out of the embattled mill center the last of the refugees, to Poona and nearby towns.

Europeans, included missionaries, this forenoon were advised to leave Talegaon, 30 miles from Poona.

DAVIS ATTACKS VOTE DICTATION

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 9.—(AP.)—A promise to turn the spotlight on alleged political corruption in Pennsylvania has come from the lips of Secretary of Labor James J. avis, Republican candidate for Senator.

Addressing an audience here, Davis asserted that because he had a "more or less progressive mind," his chief rival for the office, Senator Joseph R. Grundy, incumbent, was trying to influence employes in certain institutions in the state to vote against him.

Davis' declaration came a few days after Senator Nye (Rep.), North Dakota, head of the Campaign Funds Investigating Committee, invited federal and district attorneys of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh to transmit to the committee any information they may have bearing on fraud, slush funds and corruption in the May 20 primary.

Davis said the attempt to dictate the vote of the people was "corruption in the highest form" and that he would raise his voice against that "form of political debauchery."

BLUE LAW POLL FOR REPEAL

The preponderance of ballots favoring repeal of the Blue Laws in the poll of Pittsburgh by the Sun-Telegraph is maintained by the second tally of votes cast, but the margin between supporters and opponents of the law is reduced by the latest figures.

The second tabulation shows 79 votes in favor of continuance of the blue laws, 45 for modification and 620 for repeal, a total of 744 ballots. Added to the first tally, the figures produce this standing:

For the Blue Laws...	106
For modification....	70
For repeal	1,078

The first tally showed 90 per cent of the voters for repeal, now reduced to about 83 per cent, with

Heat Wave Holds; One Death Here

No relief from the heat wave holding Pittsburgh in its grip appeared likely today. The forecast was for fair and warm weather. Late this afternoon the mercury had mounted to 84.

The coroner's office today reported the first heat prostration death of the season. The victim was Chris Miner, 55, of 1302 Madison avenue, who died last night in St. John's General Hospital.

DECISION TODAY IN CAB STRIKE

The taxicab drivers' strike may be settled today if the Parmelee Transportation Company and the strikers can agree on one point.

That point hinges on George Seibert, business agent for the Piledrivers and Dockbuilders local union.

The strikers want him as their business agent. The company has flatly refused this request.

By 5 p. m. today the strikers' committee is to give the company its decision on this point.

If the decision does not end the strike, "all negotiations are off," declared Walter Laird, of Parmelee, according to Police Superintendent Walsh.

Walsh, Laird and Public Safety Director Clark conferred yesterday.

Walsh prepared to prevent possible renewal of violence, in case peace negotiations fail, by ordering extra motorcycle patrolmen and beat policemen on duty late today.

4 Foreign Powers Sign Young Plan

PARIS, May 9.—(AP.)—A protocol, putting into effect the Young plan, was signed late today at the French foreign office by Premier Briand, and the foreign ministers of Great Britain, Italy and Belgium.

Sheiks Ignore Girl Flier, Down in Desert Storm

BAGDAD, Irak, May 9.—(AP.)—The romancers who concoct tales of what happens to pretty British girls who get lost in the desert are all wrong, according to Amy Johnson, 23, aviatrix with golden hair, who is attempting a record flight from Croydon, England, to Australia.

Arriving here from Aleppo, Syria, she told of having been forced down in the desert near an Arab encampment, where she waited tremulously with revolver in hand for what might happen, but heard only the barking of dogs.

The real danger was not from sheiks, she said. She had flown across the Taurus Mountains 8,000 feet above sea level through dense clouds which hid everything beyond a few yards ahead of her when she encountered a sandstorm with a wind of about 50 miles an hour.

The storm forced her down. For two hours whirling clouds of dust threatened to carry the plane away. She took out her baggage, containing an evening dress, clean stockings, and other feminine things. When the storm died down she was able to get into the air again.

She planned to leave here today, hoping to arrive at Karachi tonight, two days ahead of the 15-day record of Bert Hinkler, whose mark she is trying to beat.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE HEAD AND BLAINE CLASH AT QUIZ

'DRY LOBBY' ACTIVITIES SIFTED

Inquiry Delves Into Political Expenditures; Senator Calls Religion a 'Cloak'

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The Anti-Saloon League which for 50 years has been battling against liquor, was divine in birth and has a divine mission, F. Scott McBride, its general superintendent informed the Senate Lobby Committee today.

This claim for the league was made by McBride during a tempestuous cross-examination by Senator Blaine (Rep., of Wisconsin, an anti-prohibitionist).

Blaine read from a speech of McBride's in which the dry leader proclaimed that the league "was born of God and led by Him."

"PREPOSTEROUS!"

"Do you consider this organization an offshoot of God?" asked Blaine.

"I said it was born of God," McBride answered. "It was born at a prayer meeting."

"Well," retorted Blaine, "I don't think God would approve of some of your methods. This is preposterous, moreover, it is sacrilegious and I want to go on record on that."

"The league was born at a prayer meeting," reiterated McBride. "It has been led by God ever since. We always open our meeting with prayer."

"You cloak all your activities under the guise of religion," snapped Blaine.

This passage occurred after McBride had admitted that the League went to the President, the attorney general and the prohibition commissioner on appointments to the prohibition enforcement staff.

QUIZ ON POLITICS

"I am wondering how your organization evades the federal corrupt practice act," said Blaine.

"We don't evade it."

"How much was spent in the 1928 campaign?"

"About $100,000 by the national organization."

"How much by the states?"

"A total of both national and state organization of $178,000. The question you are going into now is legal and I would rather have our counsel answer them. We try to live up to the law."

"You say most of your political work is done back in the states?"

"Until 1921 all of it was back in the states."

"What per cent of your work is political?"

"I couldn't answer that, but I would say 5 per cent."

Blaine read from the Congressional Record a speech of McBride's placed there by Senator Sheppard (Dem.), of Texas, February 13, 1930, in which McBride said "90 per cent of our work clusters around elections."

He said that includes the election of the President, members of Congress and governors of states. He admitted 43 out of 48 governors are dry, but he could not name those who are wet or those who are dry.

"You find out and tell us the five governors who are wet and tell this committee. I intend to examine you on that and the activities of your state organization on this," Blaine said.

The Anti-Saloon League recommends or objects to appointments of federal judges, district attorneys and dry agents direct to the White House, to the attorney general and to the prohibition commissioner, McBride admitted.

Senator Blaine asked:

"Where are the copies of your letters to the President, the attorney general and the Treasury Department, on appointments of federal judges, attorneys and prohibition agents?"

"I suppose, if we have any copies, they are in our general file," McBride replied.

PACKING PLANT BLAST TOLL 11, 7 MISSING

Rescuers Recover 3 Bodies, Continue Hunt for Others; Woman in Casualty List

International News Service.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 9.—With 11 known dead in this city's most disastrous industrial accident, rescue workers today continued to dig in the ruins of the smokehouse of Armour & Co., in a hunt for seven missing men, all believed to have died in an explosion which wrecked the five-story building late yesterday.

Three bodies were recovered this morning. They were those of Mary Johnson, 33, James Staples, 26, and Charles Moore, 26.

Other dead are Matilda Loar, Margaret Willis, Gerald Munden, Earl Hanson, Vera Durkin, Ray Rackman, Arthur Rogers and Dexter Bowlin.

25 WORKERS TRAPPED

The injured include Flora Miller, Louise Webb, Orville Wise, James Sparks, Walter Kline, Gus Weidner, Carl Pape and Gus Kiess.

The blast, which unexpectedly trapped 25 men and women workers in the smoke room and sausage department of the building yesterday, completely levelled the building. Ammonia gas is believed by authorities to have caused the explosion.

Firemen, aided by squads of volunteer rescuers, continued their all night search for bodies today in the debris of the curing plant, which had been a six-story building.

Deadly ammonia fumes settled over the shattered building, hindering the rescue work of firemen and relief workers who sought to free the trapped victims. Several firemen not equipped with gas masks were overcome.

HUNT THROUGH NIGHT

A force of nearly 500 men toiled throughout the greater part of the night removing twisted walls and flooring in their search for the dead. Flood lights were mounted nearby and furnished light for the workers. A railroad crane and several heavy jacks were brought to the scene to lift away the debris.

Jacks were used to raise three tons of wreckage which entrapped Walter Kline, a foreman in the smoking plant. He is in a serious condition. Rescue workers located a man's hand protruding from the wreckage. Although he was pinned in, a space was cleared around his head and an attempt made to feed him stimulants. He died before he could be extricated.

An agonized crowd of spectators, some of whom had relatives who were missing, crowded about the plant during the night.

A building adjoining the wrecked smokehouse was partially shattered by the explosion and several box cars on a nearby siding were smashed.

CAPONE FOE BEATEN, WARNED

Miami City Manager Who Jailed Al Attacked Soon After Gangster's Release

MIAMI, May 9.—(AP.)—City Manager Frank H. Wharton and his brother-in-law, Albert P. Hinson, were warned to "get out of town" by unidentified men who attacked and beat Hinson last night.

Hinson said he feared his brother-in-law might be killed because of his activity against Al Capone and the Chicago gang leader's companions.

FOLLOWS RELEASE

The attack occurred several hours after Capone, his brother, and two companions had been released under a habeas corpus writ from the Miami municipal jail, where they had been held for investigation by order of Wharton, Mayor C. H. Reeder and Director of Public Safety S. D. McCreary.

Capone had been warned to leave town.

AIDE ARRESTED, FREED

About the time Hinson was making the report of the attack, police went to the home of Frank Gallat, resident property agent for Capone, and arrested him for questioning regarding alleged association with the gang leader. Gallat, long a Miami resident, said he had done work at Capone's house last summer and that he now was trying to collect for it.

Gallat was released by Director of Public Safety McCreary a few minutes before an attorney entered police headquarters with a writ of habeas corpus. McCreary said he had ordered Gallat's arrest on order of City Manager Wharton.

GRANTS HEARING

Federal Judge Ritter today granted a hearing on a petition for a temporary injunction to restrain Miami police from arresting Capone without a warrant.

The hearing, set for 6 p. m., was granted following release of the gang leader.

Judge Ritter, several days ago made permanent an injunction to Florida sheriffs against arrest of Capone without due process of law.

Capone's lawyer said Miami police had been instructed to arrest Capone whenever he appeared.

BROTHER SURRENDERS

CHICAGO, May 9.—(INS.)—Accused to being czar of a huge liquor smuggling business employing planes as transports, Ralph Capone, brother of Al, surrendered today to federal authorities holding two warrants for his arrest.

Capone was arraigned before a United States commissioner and released under $5,000 bond within five minutes. Hearing was set for May 23.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, who brought his wife to Hull-House on their honeymoon, wired congratulations.

the ratio between votes for repeal and for continuance of the law dropping from 18 to 1 to 10 to 1.

"BLUE" SUPPORT HELPED

Returns from the Shady Side and Baum boulevard districts aided the cause of supporters of the law. Ballots were received also for the first time from the Highland, Negley and Morningside districts.

The division of ballots between men and women voters gives these figures:

For the Blue Laws, 81 men and 25 women; for modification, 50 men and 20 women; for repeal, 792 men and 286 women.

The Blue Law poll of Philadelphia by the Philadelphia Record and the Pittsburgh poll by the Sun-Telegraph have aroused state-wide interest in the subject of Sunday observance, prescribed by the original Blue Law of 1794, and other surveys of sentiment are expected to be made before the Legislature convenes in 1931.

EAST-WEST SENTIMENT.

Both polls seek an accurate survey of sentiment, and plan to mail a ballot to every voter on the registry list in either city.

Due to the interest here in the Philadelphia canvass, its daily progress will be published in this paper.

The Pittsburgh figures likewise will be published daily in Philadelphia.

4-TO-1 AGAINST

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—The returns in the Blue Law poll of Philadelphia by the Philadelphia Record today total 96,200 votes, divided as follows:

tion, and another towering figure in steel, declared "there is nothing wrong with the steel industry." He asserted:

"Business today is very good. Production of the country is not down to 70 or 80 per cent, but up to 75 or 80 per cent. The building industry is good—every fabricating plant has four or five months work on its books."

Regarding mergers, Farrell said:

"Some think that unless we merge we will be submerged. The best thing we can do is to emerge. I think the bloom is off the rose in the merger business. I think people will make as much money out of what they have as they will out of what they expect to get."

WAGES TO STAY UP

Speaking of employment, he remarked that the steel corporation is the only company in the country today which in his opinion is 100 per cent on an eight-hour day and six-day week basis. Someone asked him the other day whether wages were coming down, and his reply was:

"Emphatically they are not."

Thomas L. Girdler, chairman and president of the Republic Steel Corporation, was equally optimistic, while Horace S. Wilkinson, president of Crucible Steel Company, said his company was running 80 per cent capacity.

GRACE VOICES HOPE

Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, reported:

"Operations are off a little, but the industry is running at about 75 per cent capacity. Prices have been a little weak, but I believe this condition is about to end and that we have seen the low point. There is reason to expect a gradual picking up in the industry—not right away, but after a little time."

Schwab discussed general business conditions, as well as the situation within the steel industry. Regarding business generally, he maintained that all present indications were for a better second quarter than the first with "prospects good for a substantial volume of business in the second half of the year." He declared:

NEW LIFE IN TRADE

"New life will come into business with the present ease in money. Industrial development is once more on an upward trend.

"Employment is showing noticeable improvement. Automobile production is picking up. Building construction is showing improvement. Ship building has made a substantial recovery. Public works and road construction by federal, state and local authorities will have a stimulating effect."

FIRST FEDERAL WORK

His first government work was as special prosecutor in connection with the espionage cases during the war. In 1924, when the oil scandals were at their height and the senate was demanding that the Department of Justice not be allowed to handle the prosecution, President Coolidge selected the Philadelphian, along with Pomerene, to direct the government's cases. For the past six years he has done little else.

Like a majority of Pennsylvanians, Roberts is a Republican. He has, however, never taken any active or prominent part in the politics of his city or state, and his Republicanship is described by his friends as "nominal."

It is understood that President Hoover's decision to appoint Roberts was not finally made until shortly before noon, although the Philadelphian has been under consideration since Wednesday.

LITTLE OPPOSITION SEEN

News that Roberts had been chosen spread rapidly to the Capitol, and the comment among senators seemed to confirm the opinion of the leaders that there will be no opposition to Roberts worthy of the name.

Senator George W. Norris, (Rep.), of Nebraska, the veteran insurgent leader, who led the fights against both Hughes and Parker, received the news with a wide grin, but asked to be excused from comment. Norris' approval, however, was plainly written on his face.

Senator Borah, (Rep.), of Idaho, withheld public comment, as did Senator Robinson, (Dem.), of Arkansas, the minority floor leader.

Roberts Not In Office When Word Is Received

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—(AP.)—Owen J. Roberts, who has been selected by President Hoover for the vacancy on the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States, was in New York today and out of immediate reach when word of his selection was received here. It was stated at his office that he was expected this afternoon.

Very interesting was the only comment of lawyers associated with Mr. R[illegible]

there may not have been so heavy as at first thought.

WOMEN IN PANIC

The frightened women from Poona had told of the killing of 50 persons, the wounding of about 400.

The police reported three policemen murdered and burned by the mob, five others missing, probably murdered, and another five, mostly natives, known to be dead. There were 24 wounded in hospitals this forenoon.

Yesterday's Sholapur rioting exceeded all previous outbreaks since the inception of Mahatma Gandhi's program of civil disobedience.

The authorities looked forward anxiously, Saturday being the Moslem Feast of Bakrib, always liable to produce disorders.

OFFICIALS ATTACKED

The district manager of Sholapur today issued a statement which said:

"I regret to inform the public of Sholapur that yesterday a crowd of several thousand persons attacked the district magistrate, the district superintendent and a small party of police in the Ekruk road.

"The crowd threw stones for about an hour and a half and showed its intention of attacking still more seriously.

"The district magistrate therefore, after twice warning the crowd, ordered the police to open fire.

"Soon afterward a crowd attacked unarmed policemen within the city, murdered at least three of them, burned their bodies at the roadside and wrecked police stations.

"It then set fire to and burned the buildings of the Judges' Court.

"During the afternoon the police party again was attacked and had to open fire. Troops now have arrived and there is no need for the people to fear to go about their business peacefully, but no carrying of weapons, holding of meetings or processions, or the assembling of more than five persons will be allowed."

ARREST GANDHI AIDES

Simla reported today that the district congress committee at Kohat had been declared unlawful.

Arrests of congressmen at Peshawar continued today.

Dr. Copichand, general secretary of the Lahore All-India Congress committee, was among those arrested.

This was viewed as a possible indication of the beginning of a widespread roundup of leaders in the Mahatma Gandhi campaign of resistance to the salt laws.

Firemen at Pump In Shifts to Save Child

New Kensington firemen continued their battle to save the linfe of Richard Harkins, 3, son of Leroy Harkins, of 527 Ridge avenue, New Kensington, by pumping oxygen from inhalators into the lungs of the child who is suffering from pneumonia.

The firemen have operated the inhalators since Wednesday afternoon, members of the department taking their turns whenever it became necessary to administer oxygen. The boy's condition was said to be fairly good this morning.

PRIEST DEFENDS PINCHOT

The Rev. Dr. James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Church, today ridiculed a charge by T. G. Robertson, a vice-president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, made yesterday in Davis-Brown headquarters in the Hotel Henry, that former Governor Gifford Pinchot was indirectly responsible for the killing of John Borkowski because one of the accused coal and iron policemen had been pardoned by Pinchot in connection with a previous killing.

Father Cox stated, in a letter to Frank I. Gollmar, chairman of the local Pinchot-For-Governor committee:

"To blame Gov. Pinchot for Lyster and his part in the Borkowski case is just about as sensible as blaming the American Federation of Labor for the part the striking taxicab drivers of Pittsburgh believe this same Thomas G. Robertson played when he tried to kill their strike in the early stages of the walkout.

"Gov. Pinchot's sincere stand for labor everywhere discredits the attempts of a man like Robertson to hurt him."

Robertson also charged Pinchot with failing to carry out a promise, when governor, to have the compensation for a person injured during work raised from $12 to $15 a week, and declared that Senator Grundy had defeated more union legislation than any other man in America.

15,000 CHINESE MASSACRED

SHANGHAI, May 9.—(INS.)—A native language newspaper published reports here today from its Kaifeng correspondent that 15,000 persons were killed and 500 taken captive by an army of 4,000 bandits which invaded Yung Yang, in the Honan district, April 23.

The reports said that the carnage came after the bandits had overcome the resistance of a handful of troops and merchant volunteers.

The city was plundered and 10,000 homes were burned.

'He Thinks More of Horse,' Wife Tells Judge

"He thinks more of his horse than of me."

So said Mrs. Henry J. Thwaite, of 2741 Mt. Royal road, to Judge Richard A. Kennedy in County Court yesterday in asking for a support order against her husband. Thwaite was directed to pay her $50 a month.

The horse, old Frank, has been in the Thwaite family 20 years, more or less, and has figured in a number of escapades, chief of which has been a tendency to run away after working hours. Several times he ended up in Wilkinsburg Police Station, where he has a record.

But this was the first time he was accused of alienation of affections.

Thwaite, admitting his liking for his veteran horse, denied he didn't provide for his family. He said:

"I bought a large brick house and filled it with new furniture, and she took the furniture away while I was at work."

Jobless Flat Dweller Host To Queen On Visit

LONDON, May 9.—(AP.)—An unemployed lighterman, with his wife in a hospital and little chance of getting a job, entertained Queen Mary in a humble flat of London's East End, where Her Majesty had an opportunity of seeing how the other half lives.

The Queen was visiting a nurses' training center and said she wished to see one of the model flats built by the Deptford Council.

A police inspector, accompanied by the Queen, knocked on the door of a flat. A man wearing a derby hat and an overcoat opened it.

"The Queen would like to see your house," said the inspector.

"Certainly," gasped J. C. Conlay, the jobless lighterman, and he escorted the Queen inside.

The Queen showed great interest and talked to Conlay, who told her he came from the slums and the model flat suited him admirably. He remarked that he was out of work, but was still hunting.

"That's a pity," sympathized Her Majesty, "I hope you get work soon."

She shook hands with the workman and he is still trying to convince himself that it wasn't all a dream.

400 CONVICTS REFUSE FOOD, BITTER OVER KILLING OF TWO

DRY BREAD RATIONS SPURNED

Burning of Tents in Corral Leaves Segregated Men Without Shelter From Sun

International News Service.

COLUMBUS, O., May 9.—Though seemingly quiet on the surface, an undercurrent of tenseness existed today in Ohio State Penitentiary here, where rioting and bloodshed followed Easter Monday night's holocaust in which 320 convicts perished in flames and smoke.

Four hundred convicts, corralled in the now-tentless barbed-wire stockade spent the night under the stars without shelter, and chilled and hungry—their canvas "homes" burned.

HUNGRY TWO DAYS

The prisoners there have had nothing to eat since 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Officials are expecting trouble there if any occurs.

At dusk last night guardsmen placed two large pans of dry bread within the wire enclosure. One of the pans was picked up and thrown over the high fence towards the guards. The other was left untouched, except for a few prisoners who smuggled pieces of bread against the commands of fellow prisoners "not to eat."

The E and F dormitories, where two sleeping convicts were shot to death and another prisoner was wounded yesterday when a machine gun of the militia was accidentally discharged, is being closely watched.

NEW FIRE PLOT

Fire Chief A. E. Nice refused to post a company of firemen within the prison walls at the request of Col. Robert Haubrich commanding officer of the 700 soldiers who have placed the large penal institution under martial law. Col. Haubrich says he uncovered a plot to burn the prison hospital. About 150 more or less helpless inmates are quartered there. Nice told Haubrich fire-fighters could reach the prison within two minutes.

Guard officials today still maintained their attitude that the convicts in the stockade could "stay there and sweat." A broiling hot sun beat down upon the unprotected prisoners yesterday, in agony because they had not been fed.

The sun was equally hot today.

Fifty-six prisoners were transferred to Mansfield Reformatory yesterday, and 44 to London Prison Farm.

HOOVER IN NEW TARIFF FIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(INS)—The Democratic-Insurgent coalition, which dominated the Senate tariff wars for months, today served notice on the administration of a fight against retention of President Hoover's flexible powers in the tariff bill.

Although the House voted to restore the flexible provision after it was killed in the Senate, coalition leaders announced they would seek to defeat the tariff bill, rather than allow the President to continue changing duties at will.

The insurgent bloc meanwhile declared its intention to fight for the debenture. If it is stricken from the bill, as administration leaders now intend, the insurgents likely will vote to kill the entire measure.

The conferees were expected to report another disagreement on the flexible clause and the debenture and then to bring the bill back to the Senate for another vote on both items.

LAW INSTITUTE UNTIES KINKS

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—A drastic revision of the nation's criminal code, designed to untie a score of knots now hindering the movement of justice, stood partially approved today by the American Institute of Law.

Among the approved recommendations were:

The selection of extra jurors in protracted trials, to eliminate retrials because of sickness or death on a jury.

The examination of jurors by the judge, rather than the opposing counsel.

Permission of defendants to waive jury trial in all but capital cases.

Provisions for admitting material witnesses to bail and for releasing such witnesses after taking their depositions in case bail cannot be given, thus eliminating long jail confinement.

Simplification of the form of indictment to prevent guilty persons from escaping conviction through errors in charging the offense.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—The House Postal Committee has favorably reported the bill introduced by Representative Kelly, of Edgewood, to provide medals of honor to air mail pilots who perform hazardous acts while on duty. The Postoffice Department approved the measure and urged that it be enacted as a tribute to courageous air mail fliers.

GULF OIL FIRE SPREADING

BAYONNE, N. J., May 9 (AP)—With chemicals virtually exhausted and a stiff north wind carrying the flames toward two large high pressure gasoline tanks near the main office building the fire at the Gulf Oil Refining Company believed completely under control early today was threatening the entire refinery at noon.

The plants of the Standard Tidewater and Vacuum Oil companies nearby also were feared to be in danger.

All about the fire workers were erecting high embankments of earth and cinders to prevent the burning oil from running to portions of the yard not yet touched.

The pool, which is still burning covers about two city blocks. The estimated damage thus far is $3,000,000. More than 5,000,000 gallons of oil has been consumed.

Three piers and a portion of the plant of the Gulf Refining Company already are in ruins with an estimated loss of $3,000,000.

The fire starting from an explosion aboard a small motor tanker, destroyed, in addition to the piers, a warehouse, a power house, a pumping station and several locker buildings and stock houses. The flames were fed from 18 oil storage tanks, which exploded one after another as the fire reached them.

Seven men, three of them members of the crew of the tanker Churchia, where the first explosion occurred, were seriously injured and about 200 others were treated for minor hurts suffered fighting the fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—(AP)—Confined by natural and political barriers to an area approximately seven miles square, San Francisco's population increased 115,086 to a total of 621,762 in the last decade.

With the Pacific Ocean and the bay on three sides, and county lines shutting off expansion on the fourth, the city by the Golden Gate—once the metropolis of the Pacific Coast—has been virtually forced to grow skyward or "overflow" to take care of its new population.

YALE STUDENTS BATTLE POLICE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 9.—(AP)—Clashes between students and police growing out of the annual Yale freshmen celebration early today resulted in 11 arrests and injuries to a score of students and policemen.

Seven students, four wearing bandages around their heads, were fined $25 each on charges of breach of the peace.

A traveling salesman who somehow got mixed up in the melee and another student also are in the hospital, and will have a hearing later.

Policemen, their uniforms torn and soiled, went to police headquarters for treatment of minor injuries.

All of the students arrested were upper classmen and were charged with general breach of the peace.

They were released in $200 bonds each, furnished by Dean Clarence W. Mendell, of Yale College.

Members of the student council led by Waldo W. Greene, captain of the 1929 football team, aided in ending the disturbances.

LIPTON, 80, OUT FOR 'THAT CUP'

LONDON, May 9.—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton, whose greatest ambition now is, as it has been for the last quarter of a century or more, to lift the America's cup, will be 80 years old tomorrow.

Sir Thomas plans to make his birthday celebration chime in with his yachting activities. The veteran cup-seeker will spend the day aboard his yacht, Erin, off Southampton, where he will watch further trials of his new challenger, Shamrock V, with which he hopes in his fifth venture to capture the cup.

"My ambition still is to bring back the America's cup," he said today. "I am out to do it. I mean to do it. With Shamrock V I believe my ambition at last will be achieved."

The regatta will be held off Newport, R. I., beginning September 13.

Sir Thomas' previous tries for the cup were made in 1899, 1901, 1903 and 1920.

BALTIMORE, May 9.—An investigation into the alleged use of inferior cosmetics is to be undertaken by the American Pharmaceutical Association if its house of delegates, in session here, adopts recommendations of Dr. George D. Beal, assistant director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research of the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Beal heads a committee of the delegates which has been digging into the manufacture of cosmetics. He charged some manufacturers put harmful ingredients into their products.

Funds for the investigation which will lead to a request to Congress for a law to cover offenses were asked by Dr. Beal.

GOES ON AIR TO TELL OF VICTORY

Mrs. McCormick to Explain Significance of Illinois Triumph in Speech Tonight

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick tonight will tell the nation by radio the significance of her recent astounding victory in the Illinois primaries.

Member of Congress and campaigner extraordinary, Mrs. McCormick will answer her critics and emphasize the fact that the dominant issue of her campaign was her opposition to the League Court and European entanglements.

TALK OF COUNTRY

Since Mrs. McCormick defeated Senator Charles S. Deneen for the nomination for Senator by 200,000 majority, she has been the talk of the country. In that primary battle, a woman for the first time in history won the Senatorial nomination of a major party. It was a personal victory in large measure, for Mrs. McCormick stumped the state from one end to the other, and asked no favor because of sex.

She made the League Court an issue, drove that issue home to the voters, and her victory has been regarded as of nation-wide significance.

The statement attempted to show the victory was not due to the League Court issue, raised by Mrs. McCormick. This, Mrs. McCormick quickly denied.

HER OWN VERSION

In her radio address Mrs. McCormick will give for the first time her own version of her campaign, the importance of her stand against the League Court, and the significance of the huge vote which was polled in her behalf.

Mrs. McCormick is now serving as congresswoman-at-large from Illinois, her first term. She is a forceful speaker, of magnetic personality, already a national political figure. Her radio broadcast will begin at 6:15 p. m. eastern daylight saving time, over WABC.

Penn Provost Flays Police 'Vandalism' in Clash

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—(AP)—The acts of police during the clash with University of Pennsylvania students last week were characterized by Dr. Josiah Penniman, provost of the university, as "absolute vandalism."

His statement was made at a meeting of all fraternity presidents, senior society men and dormitory supervisors, at which Pennsylvania "rowbottoms" were denounced.

"All the deeds of the police were unwarranted," Dr. Penniman declared, "and many of them were illegal. In fact, virtually all disorders occurred after police arrived on the scene. "If any student will furnish absolute identification of any officer who committed any certain act of vandalism, proper prosecution will follow. Our great difficulty is identification."

The provost characterized "rowbottoms" as an "unintelligent form of amusement which might very well grow into something serious" and declared they must be eliminated at Pennsylvania.

The meeting was intended to furnish Dr. Penniman with data which he will present to the trustees of the university who, it is understood, plan legal steps against the police.

Van A. Bittner of the United Mine Workers of America urged support of candidates on the Davis-Brown ticket in a broadcast last night over KDKA.

Sheriff R. S. Cassidy urged the election of Lieut. Gov. Stinson as Lieutenant governor and his running mates on the Davis-Brown slate in a radio address at 8 p. m. tomorrow over station WJAS.

Attorney W. W. Stoner is scheduled to preside at a meeting for the Davis-Brown ticket tomorrow night in North Side Carnegie Music Hall. Speakers will include Bernard J. Myers, state chairman of the Davis-Brown campaign, and president of the State Bar Association, and Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America.

DENIES GRUNDY LABOR AID

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—(AP.)—People "do not forget and records do not lie," Charles Edwin Fox, former district attorney of Philadelphia, declared last night in a statement challenging Senator Joseph R. Grundy's claim that he was a friend of the child labor bill.

In the primary campaign, now in full swing, Mr. Fox is supporting the ticket headed by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, for the senatorial nomination, and Francis Shunk Brown, for governor. Grundy is the principal opponent of Davis. Fox said:

"Instead of displaying a friendly attitude toward the child labor bill, Mr. Grundy was its most vehement, violent and unrelenting enemy.

"True to the standard that has invariably marked his long career, Joseph R. Grundy, in 1915 when the child labor measure was passed by the Legislature, placed the interests of the manufacturers and industrialists above everything. Had his will prevailed the bill would have been defeated and the mills, factories and sweatshops would still be crowded with children of immature minds and bodies.

"When the child labor law finally was passed over his violent opposition, Mr. Grundy ran true to form by issuing a bitter statement without even waiting for Gov. Brumbaugh to sign the measure. That statement is to be found in the monthly bulletin of the Manufacturers Association issued in May, 1915."

MORO BANDITS KILL OFFICER

MANILA, May 9.—(AP.)—One of the sharpest clashes in years between the Philippines constabulary and Moro outlaws occurred on the island of Mindanao yesterday, resulting in the death of a constabulary officer and three privates and the wounding of three officers and 15 privates. The number of Moro casualties had not been determined.

The fighting took place in the mountainous Kawayan district. The size of the rebel force was not known, but its ranks included murderers, cattle thieves, robbers and tax dodgers and others sought for law violations, and judged by the nature of its resistance it was believed to be large. The outlaws were entrenched in an old fort.

The wounded constabulary officers included an American, Capt. J. R. Grinstead, commander of troops in Lanao province on the island. His wound was in the leg but considered possibly fatal.

Capt. Grinstead, a native of Ridgeway, Mo., holds the distinguished service cross awarded for bravery in France in 1918 while he was a sergeant in the Thirty-fifth division.

The officer killed was Lieut. A. C. Maynes, a Filipino. He fell when constabulary troops attacked the fort. Lieut. Garcia, another Filipino officer, was wounded in the head during the attack.

Firemen's Quick Return Catches Station Thief

[illegible] AP [illegible]

[illegible] something [illegible] credits to Mayor Kline and [illegible] Controller Joseph [illegible] Smith, chairman of the Republican committee, [illegible] meetings and speakers declared.

"The roar of the lion has quieted until it resembles the bleat of the lamb. 'Bread-and-Butter' Charlie Kline and Joe Armstrong are no longer allegedly threatening the payroll with dismissal for failing to support the Philadelphia gang by voting the Davis-Brown ticket.

"Instead, the public in Pittsburgh has been introduced to the new firm of Kline and Armstrong, Political Counsellors at-Large, who now hold themselves governmental experts, ready and willing to advise their poor benighted fellow citizens in matters political and to help them chart their courses through the present primary."

ANSWERS SPEECHES

Smith evidently referred to speeches of Kline and Armstrong in which they declared they were qualified to advise city and county employes to vote for the Davis-Brown slate by reason of the people's apparent confidence in Kline and Armstrong by repeatedly electing them to public office. Smith warned:

"Let those who seek the advice of either Kline or Armstrong beware of the political blackjack which is still the only stock in trade of this new combine.

"The issue remains the same—clean government against the organized gang government. A vote for Pinchot is a vote against gang control, and Pinchot's election is a guarantee of economical and efficient government in the interests of all the people instead of a special class."

PINCHOT BROADCAST

Votes for Pinchot were urged by Attorney Ralph H. Frank, of the local campaign committee, in a broadcast last night over KQV.

Mrs. Henry Chalfant Miller, of Wilkinsburg, spoke last night at a mothers and daughters banquet in Kittanning in behalf of Pinchot.

Attorney Frank is scheduled to preside at a noon meeting today in Pinchot headquarters, Magee Building, 334 Fourth avenue. Speakers will include Attorneys Walter P. Smart and Edward O. Spotts, the latter of Tarentum.

A radio address urging support of Pinchot's candidacy will be broadcast over Station WJAS at 7:30 p. m. today by Attorney John H. Lauer.

PINCHOT CHIEF SCORES KLINE

PINCHOT RAKES ERIE MACHINE

ERIE, Pa., May 9.—(AP.)—Gifford Pinchot, independent campaigner for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, last night compared Erie to Philadelphia in what he asserted was its gang domination of politics and predicted that the controlled vote soon will lose its power to determine elections.

Speaking over Radio station WEDH, the former governor recalled the $2,000,000 Republican primary of four years ago, attributed it to political machines and said that "no decent citizen in Pennsylvania wants any more such scandals."

His address here completed a busy day during which he spoke at Mercer, Greenville, Meadville and Waterford. At Greenville he pledged himself to work, if elected, to see that the Pymatuning Dam project is carried through to early completion.

During conferences at Erie with County Commissioner Charles R. Davis and County Solicitor Harold F. Mook, Pinchot was told that his chances to poll a majority in Erie County were excellent. Davis and Mook expressed belief that Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., anti-prohibition rival, and Francis Shunk Brown, advocate of a referendum, would split the anti-dry vote in Erie.

ANTI-DRYS HOLD MASS MEETING

About 700 persons, including many women, heard Republican candidates running for state offices on an anti-dry platform explain their creed at a meeting last night in Carnegie Music Hall.

Previous to the meeting an organ recital was given by Dr. Charles Heinroth. Samuel Harden Church presided.

Before adjourning, Mr. Church introduced Representative Helen Grimes, explaining she was an anti-dry, had been re-elected and was again seeking to succeed herself.

Speakers included Thomas W. Phillips, candidate for governor; Francis H. Bohlen, for United States Senator; Charles Dorrance, for lieutenant governor and Maj. Henry H. Curran, president of the National Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

BAD LIQUOR

Bohlen declared he opposed prohibition because the country was flooded with spirits of the most vice and crime producing kind.

Bohlen said:

"I realize that an experiment which after 10 year's trial has completely failed in its purpose and has produced such terrible consequences is no longer an experiment, but a terrible mistake.

"We present the novel spectacle of candidates who dare to defy the voting power of the Anti-Saloon League. We give you an opportunity to express your conviction by your votes as the dry minority has for years expressed its convictions."

BREEDS SPEAKEASIES

Phillips said:

"The Anti-Saloon League started out to eliminate the saloon, but instead of limiting its activities to its legitimate objective, it has, so to speak, chopped down the whole tree to get one apple, and the tragedy of the whole affair is that for every saloon it knocked off there have sprung up several speakeasies."

Dorrance said the prohibition laws were unChristian because they violate the very fundamentals of Christianity, in that they do not promote temperance.

Curran declared the anti-dry candidates presented a straight-away fight against straddling, hypocrisy and bone-dry prohibition and it is being fought out in one of the greatest states in the union.

He averred that the eyes of the nation are on this fight, and asked whether Pennsylvania would continue to stand for domination of her citizens' intimate habits of life by residents of other states.

PLOT TO DESERT DAVIS DENIED

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—(AP.)—A charge that the Philadelphia Republican Organization "War Board" planned to desert Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, candidate for United States senator, in order to insure the gubernatorial nomination of Francis Shunk Brown, was denied by Councilman Charles B. Hall, "War Board" leader.

The charge was made by Warren F. Doane, an aid of Senator Joseph R. Grundy.

"Shortly before the May 20 primary," said Doane, "Charley Hall will issue orders for the wholesale cutting of Davis in order to put over Brown. The attempt to pile up a larger vote for Brown will prove advantageous to Senator Grundy."

Hall said the charge was false.

"It comes from a vicious-minded band of political associates of Senator Grundy," he said. "My political career has been honest, and the campaigns in which I have taken part have been honestly conducted. Such a charge as this is unworthy of notice. All of the friends of Mr. Brown are for Secretary Davis, and no one can change them."

IRISH AIR RULES ISSUED

DUBLIN.—(AP.)—The governor general of the Irish Free State has issued regulations for air navigation in conformity with the International Convention held in Paris.

No aircraft can be registered in the Free State unless wholly owned by a citizen or by a company whose principal place of business is in the state. All aircraft must be certified as airworthy, and its personnel must have certificates of competency.

No aircraft will be allowed to fly over Clonrara, the Shannon electricity center, at a height less than 6,000 feet. Trick flying is prohibited, except on special occasions, duly licensed.

The Free State is far behind other countries in development of aviation. Except for the army planes there are very few machines.

Snowwhite Wolf Killer Falls Before Guns

STANFORD, Mont., May 9.—(AP.)—The "White Killer" is dead, shot and killed after he was cornered yesterday by a pack of dogs.

For 10 years the killer, an 83-pound snow white wolf, eluded hunters who charged him with destruction of thousands of dollars worth of live stock.

Al Cloz and Earl Neill, the men who slew the wolf, are expected to share in a $400 reward.

COURT BLOCKS TRESPASSING ON LOT

King Edward Apartment Loses Building Removal Action—Contract Alleged

John McSorley, owner of the King Edward Apartments, who sought to enjoin M. H. Cuff, Craig street, from interfering with the removal of a building across Cuff's lot, lost the first round in Common Pleas Court.

McSorley claims that Cuff agreed to sell him the lot on the north side of Craig street, on which he would furnish [illegible] apartments 10 feet wider than the lots charged [illegible] Steam Heating Company. This Cuff denied [illegible] counsel, John G. [illegible] M. D. Wedner. A hearing on McSorley's attempt to secure a temporary injunction was held before Judge Frank P. [illegible] the action proving to be a [illegible] one.

PAYS HAND MONEY

According to testimony McSorley [illegible] $1,000 hand money to Attorney Ingo G. Lauer for the purchase of his two apartments at 1212 and 1216 Craig street for a price of $51,485. The sale according to Lauer's testimony was a verbal one and not yet closed.

McSorley is building an addition to the King Edward Apartments and also desires to erect some garages. He wants to move the Lauer buildings to a lot in Melwood street 200 feet distant and says the only way he can do it is to cross the Cuff property.

Cuff will not take the stand at the hearing. Attorney Fraser moved for dismissal of the case when Attorney H. F. McCamey finished putting in his case. Attorney Fraser based his point that McSorley was asking that Cuff submit to a trial against Mr. McSorley, which was not supported since McSorley is not the owner of the Lauer property and that an agreement does not necessarily mean the transaction will be completed.

DAMAGES CLAIMED

However Lauer said that his property has already been damaged by McSorley because the latter invaded the premises. He notified McSorley that he would be held responsible for leasing of the apartments after May 1. He declared he would bring an action for damages if McSorley did not take the property.

McSorley produced witnesses who testified that Cuff had entered into an agreement to permit him to move the Lauer houses over the rear of his lot. The court dismissed the proceedings without prejudice in order to permit McSorley to bring further action. It was indicated to show he owns the Lauer property.

GONE 4 YEARS, ASKS DIVORCE

Driving into a cemetery in South Fayette Township June 4, 1926, that was the last time Katherine E. DeZomba, who lives in that municipality, saw her husband, Michael J. DeZomba, from whom she wants a divorce. She ran away with DeZomba and got married. Mrs. DeZomba's mother told Judge Frank P. Patterson.

"That's the way with some women," said the court. "You run away and get married and think if everything does not go right, you can come in here and get a divorce."

The court questioned her very carefully, discovering she had known DeZomba three years before their marriage and had lived that length of time with him after they were married in 1921, having once separated before the final break came.

WEATHER AGAIN BALKS TURNER

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 9 (INS.)—Capt. Roscoe Turner today awaited more favorable weather for his proposed trans-continental flight to New York.

At a late hour last night Capt. Turner postponed the flight due to stormy weather. He had expected to hop off here shortly after midnight today in an attempt to better the mark recently set by Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh.

Six-Foot Chinese Boy Becomes U. S. Citizen

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP.)—Uncle Sam has accepted a 12-year-old six-footer from the Orient as a citizen. Fong On, who explained that he was born in California and who is a little fellow, asked the authorities if his son, about so high (indicating his knees), could come from China. They said yes. But when big Fong Bing Len arrived, his size caused him to be held by immigration people. There was litigation with study by doctors and a special master. The result was that Federal Judge Woolsey decided in favor of the Fongs.

1,000 ATTEND GRUNDY FEAST

More than 1,000 persons were guests of George S. Oliver at a luncheon yesterday in the William Penn Hotel in honor of Senator Joseph R. Grundy, who is running to succeed himself.

With the exception of about 50 men prominent in business and professional circles, the guests were leaders of Grundy's campaign in Western Pennsylvania counties.

GRUNDY SPEAKS

Speakers were Senator Grundy, Oliver, Miss Sarah Soffel, of Pittsburgh, and Miss S. M. R. O'Hara, of Wilkes-Barre, president of the State Council of Republican Women.

Miss O'Hara read a telegram from Gov. John S. Fisher to Mrs. Clarence Beck, of Easton, reaffirming his esteem for Grundy and calling attention to the fact that "he now seeks the office not to benefit himself or indulge his own ambition, but rather for the opportunity of serving his state at a time when our industrial situation is in great jeopardy."

Grundy traced the history of the tariff as developed by the Republican party and the battle that he has waged for the provision of duties which would assure full-time employment for wage-earners at satisfactory pay.

INDORSED BY BOARD

Attorney Robert T. Houlden urged Grundy's nomination in an address broadcast last night over station WJAS.

State Senator James J. Coyne, local campaign chairman for Grundy, announced yesterday that W. G. Irvine had been placed in charge of Grundy headquarters in the Lorain Hotel, Highland avenue and Rodman street, Eleventh Ward.

Coyne also said the Soho Board of Trade indorsed Grundy's candidacy at a meeting in Lithuanian Hall.

FISHER SILENT ON BROWN

HARRISBURG, May 9.—(AP.)—Reports circulated in Philadelphia that Gov. John S. Fisher was supporting Francis Shunk Brown for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, were not confirmed here.

Gov. Fisher declined to comment on the reports, holding to his position that he does not wish to become involved in any way in the present gubernatorial campaign. Close friends of the governor have been quoted as saying that the governor has informed both Pinchot and Brown that he will do nothing for or against either.

Gov. Fisher has publicly announced his support of Senator Joseph R. Grundy for the senatorial nomination and of Judge J. Frank Graff, of the Superior Court for re-election.

5-PUZZLE BOX MIND GAUGE

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP.)—How a person opens and closes a specially-equipped box apparently has proved a very successful method of testing intelligence in Belgium, according to Dr. A. G. Christiaens, Brussels professor, speaking before the International Congress of Mental Hygiene.

The person undergoing the test, Dr. Christiaens explained, is given a box closed by intricate devices which he is told to open and close again.

In meeting the test, he pointed out, five problems are involved.

"The first two," he said, "arouse thought but require no act of reasoning. These problems are solved by the majority. The third problem cannot be solved without the help of reasoning and is far more seldom solved. The fourth resembles the first two but requires keener observation. The fifth, like the third, requires intelligence of a superior kind."

The intelligence of the individual, it was explained, is gauged not only by the problem at which he stops, but also by his behavior in dealing with the problem, the latter being termed far more valuable as an indication of capacity than his success or failure in opening the box.

The One Grand Piano Opportunity for 1930

A Co-operative Plan
Between Ourselves and the Manufacturers of the Famous

EVERETT
Grand Pianofortes

The Whole Proposition in a Few Words

1. The Everett is the most moderately priced fine grand piano in America. At its regular price, it is conceded to be the best value in the moderate price grand piano field.

2. The model chosen for this co-operative proposition is generally thought to be Everett's most beautiful style and is regularly and nationally priced at $695, F.O.B. factory.

3. With 6 per cent interest added, were you to purchase one on the terms granted under this arrangement, the total price would be $749.40.

4. On this proposition you may make your selection from our quota of forty grands, for $645, with no interest or carrying charges, to be added.

5. Instead of a usual cash payment of $89.50 (10%), your initial cash payment, under this proposition, is $34.50—a little less than half.

6. Instead of usual payments of $25 per month, plus a carrying charge, your monthly payments will be only $18.50, with no carrying charge to be added.

7. As guarantees for your protection, all of which are given you in writing:

a. You may have your money back at any time within 30 days, if for any reason you are not thoroughly satisfied.

b. You may exchange your piano at any time within six months, without loss of a single penny.

c. You may exchange your piano at the end of the first year, at a cost not to exceed $1.25 per month for the whole year's use of your piano.

d. Or, you may exchange it at the end of the second year, at a cost not to exceed $2.50 per month for two years' use.

8. You have the privilege of making larger payments than $18.50 a month, and effect additional savings by earning profit sharing dividends of $1.50 per month, in cash, for each and every month you thus shorten your payment period.

9. The piano is Warranted unconditionally. The Warranty will be given to you in writing and signed jointly by the Everett Piano Company and ourselves.

10. A matching seat, also by Everett, is included without extra charge.

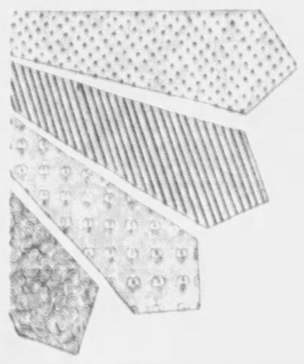
11. The piano will be delivered immediately.

12. And finally, should you pass on before your payments have been completed, it will be our privilege and practice to cancel the unpaid balance of your account and turn over a receipt in full for the piano to your family.

THE essence and intent of this entire proposition, both on the part of the Everett Piano Company and our house, is to supply you with a fine, beautiful Baby Grand Piano of standard make and known reputation . . . to save you money . . . to make your payments small and easy . . . to give you every protection and safeguard in your purchase we can think of—even more than you yourself could have suggested . . . all for $645, without interest, carrying charges or extras of any nature to be added. The unusual high character, benefits and advantages of this whole proposition are so clearly outstanding, it must be very plain that those at interest cannot delay.

This is the most compelling opportunity we have ever announced. And—owing to the fact that our quota of these beautiful Grands is strictly limited to forty instruments—we cannot impress upon you too strongly to select and reserve your Grand at your very earliest convenience.

The MEN'S STORE



Pastel Shade Cravats
$1.50

It's the season for summers pastels . . . followed closely by the "high" colors, reds, yellows and greens. They're here in wonderful variety. All the preferred models in men's and young fellows' styles. And the new colors and patterns. You expect these at Horne's!

When we say STEELCRAFTS stand extremely hard wear, don't mistake us and think they might be coarse. But they're as smart and dressy as if they were just off the boat from London. They're practical clothes that you can wear to work, to church or for an evening's bridge. They're values hard to find for $37.

DEATH REVEALS BETROTHAL OF WINTERS

buildings at half staff in respect to the late controller.

Funeral arrangements for Controller Winters were to be announced later today.

EULOGIES AT BANQUET

News of the death of Controller Winters, which had been expected because he had been in ill health for months, shocked City Hall and scores of others with which he moved.

At least one banquet held in honor of a ward chairman became for the 1,000 guests a place of mourning at which even the dead leader took the part of a political spectre.

His death permitted Mr. Winters to perform the duties of the office of controller, which he had been elected last fall, only a few days after he took the oath of office at January.

His appearance when he took his oath of office crowded to the chamber worked his friends. His own cheerfulness failed to reassure them at that time.

The election last fall had proved Mr. Winters's popularity and his unusual ability as a vote getter. In a hot primary campaign he outdistanced every city ward.

SERVED IN COUNCIL

Before becoming Controller Mr. Winters was a member of Council. He was elected to that body in 1918 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. James P. Kerr, the physician who resigned to enter the army.

He was elected to a full term by the voters the next year and was re-elected in 1923 and 1927. In 1922 he was elected president of Council, serving six years in that capacity.

Mr. Winters was born in Pittsburgh February 4, 1876, son of Daniel and Elizabeth Davis Winters and educated in the Pittsburgh public schools.

At the age of 15 he went to work for the S. McKee Glass Company and continued his studies at home. In 1891 he became a window glass cutter for the McKee Company and soon became active in the labor union maintained by that trade. He became financial secretary for the national body of that organization January 1, 1903, and a year later became president. He resigned as president in 1905 and became superintendent of the cutting room of the New Martinsville Window Glass Company, West Virginia.

ENTERS MAIL SERVICE

Returning to Pittsburgh in 1908 he entered the Government Mail service, remaining there until April 5, 1909, when he was appointed police magistrate by Mayor William A. Magee.

January 1, 1914, Mr. Winters was appointed cost clerk by Sheriff George W. Richards and on February 1, 1918, was named by Mayor E. V. Babcock as assistant to the Director of the Department of Public Safety.

Mr. Winters was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Monongahela Lodge No. 269, F. & A. M.; Pentalphia Club, Almas Club, Pittsburgh Press Club, Pittsburgh Lodge No. 11, B. P. O. Elks, Loyal Order of Moose, Fraternal Order of Eagles and an honorary member of the Spanish-American War Veterans. He was a director of St. Joseph's Hospital, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Carnegie Library and treasurer of the South Pittsburgh Board of Trade.

AIDS WAR WORK

During the World War Mr. Winters was chairman of the South Side District War Savings stamp drive, a member of the Liberty Loan committee and an officer of the Allegheny County Defense Unit.

Mr. Winters was married April 30, 1891, to Miss Emma C. Schilling, of Braddock, Pa., who died several years ago. He leaves a son, Albert, formerly a newspaperman but now in the office of the prothonotary.

Stock Crash Victim, Wife Gone, Ends Life

CHICAGO, May 9 — (AP) — The stock market crash ruined in the back yard of a home on Ferdinand street yesterday when Byron C. Dowes, 58, shot and killed himself.

Dowes lost his wealth in the market. The concern he founded went bankrupt. He sold his home and his wife left him.

He went to live with his mother. She heard a shot yesterday and found her son dead across a flower bed.

Last of Notorious Gang Ends His Life

CHICAGO, May 9 — (AP) — The burial today of Bud Clement, who killed himself, marked the finish of one of the toughest gangs that ever bred of Chicago's West Side. All had police records. They gathered at Bud Clement's bar, planned murder and pledged each other's health in bootleg bourbon. Danny Rooney was the first to go, 14 years in prison at Joliet. Murder was the charge.

Seeks Hindenburg; Injures Palace Aide

BERLIN, May 9 — (INS) — Denied an audience with President Von Hindenburg, a Berlin merchant named Bendfeld set upon and seriously injured an attendant at the German White House today. He was overpowered and taken to a hospital for observation.

Embankment Fall Fatal to Man of 70

Andrew Zambrosky, 70, of 115 Nineteenth avenue, Munhall, died today in Homestead Hospital from injuries suffered April 24 when he fell over an embankment near his home.

Death of Winters Leaves His Office Vacant 3d Time

The office of city controller was vacant today for the third time in a year and a half.

Former Controller John H. Henderson died December 1, 1928, and the office was filled until January 7, 1929, when Council elected Harry Oliver Evans to serve until the next November election.

Evans defeated for election by Councilman Daniel Winters, resigned last November.

Winters resigned his seat in Council and was chosen by his fellow members for Evans' unexpired term. He began his elective term the first Monday of January. His death last night leaves the office temporarily in charge of Deputy Controller John Scully, pending the election of a controller by Council.

The boys' athletic events will be held a week from tomorrow.

EULOGIES PAID WINTERS

Expressions of sympathy in the death of Controller Daniel Winters were made to many of his business and personal associates. They were:

MAYOR CHARLES H. KLINE

I was shocked beyond expression to learn of the death of Daniel Winters, my dear, beloved friend. I know of no man in public life with more friends and who will be more missed than he will be. His place in public life will be difficult indeed to fill. He was a man of exceptional ability which was well known to every person in this community. The loss sustained by his personal friends is irreparable.

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL JOHN S. HERRON

It is with the deepest regret that I received the news of Daniel Winters' death. My long association with him had endeared him to me. It is difficult to express my deep regret. I have lost a good friend and the people of Pittsburgh have lost a good official. His place will be hard to fill and to me it will be a loss always will be felt.

SUPERINTENDENT OF POLICE P. P. WALSH

I have lost a boyhood friend. Daniel Winters is a man I always have admired. Pittsburgh has lost a splendid official.

COUNCILMAN M. J. MULDOWNEY

Daniel Winters and I started together in the sheriff's office. I promoted him then. I always admired and respected him.

I believe all of the people of Pittsburgh did the same. The news of his death was a shock. It is impossible to express my sense of loss.

DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS EDWARD G. LANG

I was informed of Mr. Winters' death before he took the train for New York and Europe and who left with tears streaming down his cheeks.

This is terrible news. I can't say anything more. It is a great loss to Pittsburgh.

COUNCILMAN HARRY A. LITTLE

News of the death of Daniel Winters meant to me the loss of a dear personal friend. Throughout the turmoil of politics we were able always to maintain our friendship largely because of his broadmindedness and spirit of comradeship, which is not to be seemed able to destroy. This is a great loss for Pittsburgh.

Mother-in-Law Decoy in Rum Purchase

DETROIT, May 9 — (AP) — Jacob Franklin has his own reason for disliking mothers-in-law. And it's different.

Patrolman Frank Lescoe described to jury the impression that he was not an ordinary customer, took his mother-in-law along when he visited Franklin's mail store in an attempt to make a liquor buy. Patrolman Lescoe said his plan worked, and he bought a gallon of whiskey for $5. Now Franklin is in jail.

WINTERS' PLEA AID TO FRIEND

The last political act of City Controller Daniel Winters, who died last night in a Cleveland sanitarium, was to obtain reinstatement of an old friend, March Luster, on the police force.

Luster, who had walked a beat on the South Side for 20 years, had been retired by Public Safety Director James M. Clark in the big shake-up several months ago.

The patrolman thought he was still too young and vigorous to become a pensioner. He appealed to Controller Winters. From his sick room, the controller wrote to Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, asking if something could not be done.

Last Saturday the controller received a letter from Supt. Walsh advising he had consulted with Mayor Kline and Director Clark and that Luster had been reinstated as of May 1. Luster was on duty today.

HOOVER PLANS VISIT TO CUBA

HAVANA, May 9 — (AP) — El Mundo, Havana morning newspaper, said today that it had learned on good authority President Hoover will visit Cuba next December.

El Mundo said that the American State Department has initiated diplomatic correspondence preliminary to the trip, and that Hoover's supposed intention is to continue his interrupted "good will" tour through Latin-American countries, visiting Cuba and Mexico.

This country, according to the newspaper, will be visited first.

The paper says that a visit by the President of the United States "is much desired, and will be of great importance to the best political and economic relations of Cuba and the United States."

Fight for Diploma Carried into Court

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 9 — (INS) — Whether high school officials can refuse to issue a graduation certificate to a student because he is asserted to be a Communist will be decided in court here May 28.

Ralph Rosenstein charges school authorities have refused to issue a graduation certificate to his son, Max, 18, eligible for graduation last year.

P. R. R. Opens Plant For Treating Water

An electrically-equipped water treating plant has been placed in operation by the Pennsylvania Railroad at the Scully yards on the Panhandle division, it was announced today. WILKINS SEEKS SUBMARINE FOR POLE

Noted Explorer Takes Up Purchase With Navy; Plans Underwater Arctic Trip

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP.)—Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins, explorer of the top and bottom of the world, may undertake his proposed trip beneath the Arctic ice in an obsolete United States submarine converted into a "submersible boat."

The bearded explorer, together with Simon Lake, submarine inventor and builder, called upon Assistant Secretary Jahncke, of the Navy, late yesterday to try and purchase such a boat. Whether the Navy will sell has yet to be decided.

TALK PURCHASE

Both Wilkins and Lake were loath to discuss their conference. The explorer acknowledged that the "possibility of using a submersible boat for geophysical work in the Arctic" had been discussed. He added, however, that being a British subject he himself could not possibly purchase such a craft from the government.

It was Assistant Secretary Jahncke who told the details of the visit. He said the explorer and the inventor had been advised to enclose the details of their proposed purchase in a letter to be submitted to Secretary Adams.

Jahncke added that undoubtedly the request would eventually be sent to the Department of State. A clause in the London naval treaty, which has yet to come before the Senate, makes specific mention of experimental submarines, he explained, and thus the proposed sale would involve an international angle.

START NEXT YEAR

Wilkins, whose explorations have carried him through the air, said he planned to make his sub-ice voyage into the North sometime next year, probably about a year from this month.

It would be made, he reiterated, in a "submersible boat," rather than a submarine in the generally acknowledged sense of the word. His explanation of the major differences between the two was that the submarine was almost entirely an instrument of war. In the craft he hopes to use, the explorer said, scientific apparatus would replace all fighting equipment, and the boat would be made over generally for the specific end of cruising into the North, submerging under the ice when necessary and cutting its way up again.

MEN TO SPORT GAUDY STRAWS

Vain man, whose timidity for dash and color in his dress was partly conquered during the present and last season with inauguration of styles that include dazzling colors in practically every piece of male apparel, will be startled when the straw hat season starts May 15, according to a hat buyer for a group of department stores.

Kirk Rupp, whose business it is to buy hats for Fisher Bros., Inc., 227 Fifth avenue, declares that the color trend in men's socks, shirts, suspenders, etc., has so captivated men that last year the color style went as far as the bands of men's straws. This season males will wear colored straws!

He said:

"Before the season is over, men will be wearing tan, green, blue and maybe gray hats," Mr. Rupp said. "Such colors will not be outlandish. The colors adopted for men's ties, shirts, etc., were thought queer when first arrived, but people think differently now."

Commerce Chamber Directors Elected

Twelve directors who will serve on the board of the Chamber of Commerce for the next three years were chosen at the election held by members yesterday. More than 2,000 votes were recorded on the four voting machines used in the election.

The following directors were elected from a field of 24 candidates: Dr. Thomas S. Baker, Norman F. Brown, B. J. Cassady, Frank J. Chesterman, James W. Cree, Jr., George S. Davison, F. R. Dave, Frank J. Harris, Harrison Nesbit, James Rae, president of the Chamber, Walter Rosenbaum and A. B. Shepherd.

The twentieth semi-annual convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the Central conference, Pittsburgh Synod, United Lutheran Church, was being held today in St. Luke's Lutheran Church, St. Luke's Square, North Side. RUSSIA FACES LOCUST PERIL

By LEONARDO BACON.
Science Editor Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Will an insect this summer put the Soviet regime to a more critical test than all the human adversaries of Bolshevism have been able to impose?

This question may not be as wild and rhetorical as it looks at first glance, for it looks as though 1930 is to be a big locust year in the old world.

The farther east you go in Russia the lower the rainfall, the smaller the average wheat yield per acre, the greater the danger of famine. It was in the Volga country that the distress was greatest in 1923, and it is there that the locusts would be the greatest scourge if they should come now.

The present regime in Russia is committed to stand or fall by the success or failure of the five-year economic revolution which it is now endeavoring to shorten to four years. A good crop this summer, keeping the semi-rebellious peasants content for another year, might well seat Stalin more firmly in Moscow than the czars ever sat in Petrograd. A failure bringing another famine could easily start another revolution that would make the one of 1917 seem pale by comparison.

Great Stores Today Are Living Museums for the Future

Few of us who frequent a museum realize that the antique and ancient implements of the chase or the fireside, treasured now in glass cases, were once merely articles of everyday existence, like our own chairs and vases and automobiles.

It is hard to realize, for example, that that beautiful Aztec vase, with its marvelous coloring and intricate design, was once but a water pitcher; that the bowl whose shape is such a treat to the eye, was once a humble grinding-vessel for grain.

The scarcely civilized peoples who made these beautiful objects had little else to do, you may say; and at least they had no mass production to take things out of the hands of the craftsman and put them into the maw of the machine. Yet what can absolve us from realizing to the fullest the far greater opportunities for creating beauty that lie everywhere about us today?

The rise of the individual craftsman, a movement already felt, and which this store has eagerly and persistently fostered (notably in our International Exposition of Arts and Industries of 1927) is certain to bring greater and greater beauty into the things of everyday life. Those who select merchandise for us are enjoined to keep constantly before them the ideal of enduring beauty—the museum pieces of the future.

SHORT SKIRTS WIN BRITISH

LONDON, May 9.—(AP.)—Ellen Wilkinson, member of Parliament, last night took up the battle for short skirts at a meeting of 250 women clerks and typists to discuss the length of skirts. The knee-length skirt won, for a vote after the meeting showed only one woman held out for the dress that reaches the ankle.

Miss Wilkinson said she regarded the introduction of long evening skirts as "a cloud on our female horizon," and declared long skirts were not practicable—especially for women employed in offices and doing other work. She said:

"What we want in the twentieth century is to avoid extremes in our dress. The modern woman wants a dress which comes an inch or two below the knee and covers the knees when the wearer is sitting.

"It's all very well to say 'have short skirts for day and long skirts for evening,' but you know very well that once the long evening dress come in the long day dress will follow."

Lady Duff Gordon, noted dress designer, said she was convinced the short skirt would never go out of fashion for day wear. A woman of 40 often looks smarter in short skirts than her daughter of 18, she said, and for that reason the short skirt would be hard to dislodge.

She also said she was convinced trousers would be the next development for women.

The only voice lifted for the long dress came from the one man present, G. S. Sandilands, an art critic.

PILOT, 2 CHUMS DIE IN CRASH

DOWNINGTON, Pa., May 9.—(AP.)—A 27-year-old airplane pilot and his two friends were killed near here last night when the pilot attempted to make a dead-stick landing after the plane's motor had died.

The plane with Carman Van Leer, of Glen Loch, at the controls, went into a dive at 1,000 feet over the farm of J. Lewis Downing, a mile north of Downington. Norman Donnelly, 20, West Chester, and Robert Stanford, 27, Frazer, were in the front seat.

As the plane struck the ground and crumpled into a twisted mass it burst into flames. Gasoline from the ripped tanks saturated the clothing of the two occupants of the front seat and their bodies were severely burned.

Van Leer conducted a private air field at his home.

CHURCH DRIVE NETS $229,796

Workers in the drive of the Methodist Episcopal Church Union for $300,000 to further its welfare work, reported at a dinner in the Chamber of Commerce last night that they had raised $229,796. The dinner was attended by representatives of 165 of the 257 churches in the conference which are supporting the appeal.

Speakers were John W. Vickerman, lay general chairman; M. L. Benedum, honorary chairman; Dr. Sanford W. Corcoran, superintendent of the church union; R. E. Beddow and the Rev. Dr. B. R. McKnight, pastor of the Uniontown Methodist Episcopal Church.

SECOND PASTOR GIVEN FINE

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—(AP.)—Alleged interference with the Superior Court for a second time in less than a week brought a pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church South here to trial with the result that the Rev. B. E. Wall was fined $1. The fine was suspended.

Last Monday the Rev. R. P. Shuler, pastor of the church, was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail for his utterances over a radio concerning the procedure of the Superior Courts in connection with Julian Petroleum stock swindle case.

The Rev. Mr. Wall, the associate pastor, was cited for violation of court rules in writing a letter to Superior Court Judge Walton Wood, in which he discussed the case of William Russell, charged with grand theft. The associate pastor was found guilty by Judge Clair S. Tappan, who sentenced the Rev. Mr. Shuler.

Judge Tappan said the Rev. Mr. Wall acted with good intention, but nevertheless was guilty of interference with the court.

Venango Man Free On Arson Charge

ADMITS GUILT, DIES IN CHAIR

CHICAGO, May 9.—(INS.)—August Vogel, convicted of murdering Lyle Perrenoud because the latter's car scraped fenders with his own, died early today in the electric chair.

Shortly after a last minute confession in which he declared that he deserved his fate, Vogel was half-carried into the execution chamber. He was in a state of collapse.

Two applications of current were necessary and at 1:12 a. m. he was pronounced dead by a corps of twelve physicians.

In his statement to the warden, Vogel said the shooting of Perrenoud was not a "whim killing" as it was charged at his trial, but a planned robbery which went wrong.

The last appeal of his attorneys to the Supreme Court for a writ of supersedeas was denied.

William Lenhardt, convicted Cleveland gunman who was to have been electrocuted with Vogel, received a stay of execution on a writ granted by the Supreme Court.

MILAN CHEERS TOSCANINI

MILAN, Italy, May 9.—(AP.)—Arturo Toscanini last night stepped forth upon the stage of his beloved theater La Scala amid a tumult of applause and cheering to lead the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra in its first concert in his native land.

The auditorium seating over 6,000 was filled far beyond its normal capacity hours before the maestro, long considered Milan's own, appeared. From all upper Italy music lovers had come to welcome Toscanini back to hear the overseas orchestra trained by his magic hand.

Guinea Pigs Test Paralyzing 'Jake'

TOPEKA, May 9.—(AP.)—Aided by a dozen guinea pigs, members of the Kansas Medical Society, in session here, have obtained some first hand information on "Jamaica ginger paralysis."

Injections of "jake" by Dr. E. R. Millis, Kansas City, Kan., who conducted the experiments, produced varying degrees of paralysis in 10 of the pigs. Alcohol injected into two others merely stimulated them into a state of inebriation. Dr. Millis suggested lack of aging was responsible for ill-effects from Jamaica ginger.

VETERAN POLES FETE WILLYS

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP.)—John N. Willys, newly appointed United States ambassador to Poland, was guest of honor last night at a dinner given by the Polish Army Veterans' Association of America on board the steamship Pennland, in dock here.

Mr. Willys said he would present his credentials to the Polish president on May 24.

He deplored news from Warsaw to the effect that there is danger of trouble between Poland and Russia, holding that such publicity "does not make for stability and confidence here, where Poland is seeking credit."

Market Wrecked By $140,000 Fire

CATHOLIC UNION WINS $46,800

The Greek Catholic Union of Munhall a beneficial society was awarded a verdict of $46,800 against the American Surety Company of New York and George Kondor, former treasurer of the Catholic Union, by a jury in Federal Court. The case was heard before Judge R. M. Gibson.

It was in an action to recover interest on $100,000 which had been transferred to the United States Trust Company of Johnstown, from the Peoples State Bank, of Johnstown, that the latter institution became financially involved in 1924. Under an agreement the trust company took over the affairs of the Peoples State Bank on condition it would not be liable for interest on the Catholic Union funds for four years.

Kondor who was president and the largest stockholder of the defunct bank was under $100,000 bond, given by the American Surety Company as treasurer of the Catholic Union, and was named defendant with the surety company in a suit to recover interest on the money lost through the transfer of the union's funds. The plaintiff was represented by attorneys Ralph C. Davis and T. S. Brown.

The Mount Sinai Hospital of New York receives a $100,000 endowment and the Home for the Friendless, the Jewish Federation and St. Patrick's Catholic Orphan Asylum, all at Scranton, were left $5,000 each.

Other relatives receive the rest of the estate, the value of which was not given.

ILLINOIS TALKS TAX REFORM

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 9.—(AP.)—Lawmakers of Illinois, who will meet here Monday in extraordinary session, will be asked to change the general framework of the tax system that has served this state since it was a frontier land with Fort Dearborn guarding the northern entrance through Lake Michigan.

Advocates of tax reform who have made intensive studies of Illinois tax conditions in preparation for the special session have pointed out that, while Illinois has grown to a great industrial and agricultural commonwealth, it still depends on revenue derived under the system prevalent when the state was a community of trappers.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, in calling the General Assembly together, stressed this anachronism. Although he left the way open for consideration of various financial matters, the Governor called attention to the importance of amending the revenue sections of the Constitution, which was adopted 81 years ago.

Prevalence of the antiquated taxing system of the state is responsible in a large degree for financial difficulties retarding improvements in Cook County (Chicago) and other urban parts of the state, Gov. Emmerson believes, as do other governmental authorities.

CONVICT DRIVER IN GIRL'S DEATH

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 9.—(AP.)—Francis Schriver, 29, Cumberland paperhanger, was convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death here recently of Miss Evelyn Decker, 18-year-old business school student, killed in an automobile accident. The verdict was returned by a jury in the Allegany County Circuit Court after 15 minutes' deliberation.

Miss Decker was killed as an automobile in which she was riding with Schriver sideswiped a car operated by Eugene Weber and then crashed into the car of Elwood Weber, his brother.

It was the fifth manslaughter case to be heard during the present session of the court. There were two other convictions and two acquittals.

Clarksburg Wins Episcopal Meet

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., May 9.—(AP.)—Clarksburg was chosen by the council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Diocese of West Virginia, for its 1931 convention. Selection of the next meeting place was announced at the conclusion of a two day conference here.

Gold Star Mother Will Visit France

Rockefeller Boy, Friends Start Magazine

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP.)—Nelson A. Rockefeller, a grandson of John D., Walter P. Chrysler, Jr., Francis H. Horn, of Toledo, and Alan Bolte, of Greenwich, Conn., have founded at Dartmouth College a magazine called The Five Arts.

In discussing its purpose Rockefeller and Chrysler said it was their belief that colleges allowed too little time for creative work and that their magazine was founded to give that work an outlet. The first issue carried contributions from other Dartmouth students, including poems, articles and sketches.

U. S. WATCHING STEEL MERGER

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP.)—Representative Seiberling (Rep.), of Ohio, said that a delegation of House members headed by himself and Representative La Guardia, (Rep.), of New York, had received assurances from Attorney General Mitchell that the Justice Department was closely watching the proposed merger of the Youngstown Steel and Tube Company with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Seiberling said the delegation, which included Representatives Eaton, of New Jersey, and Murphy, of Ohio, Republicans, "pointed out the possibility of violations of the anti-trust laws in the proposed merger, as well as furnished information on the competitive contract basis of the Bethlehem Corporation."

"Attorney General Mitchell assured us," Seiberling said, "that the Justice Department was watching the proposed merger under both the Clayton and Sherman anti-trust laws."

MEXICAN RAIL UNION DEFIED

MEXICO CITY, May 9.—(AP.)—The National Railways management defied the efforts of union conductors, engineers, brakemen and firemen to obtain signature of a collective labor contract.

Javier Sanchez Mejorada, chairman informed the union men that the board had decided not to sign the contract until a law requiring such a signature was enacted. Such a law has been pending in Congress since the Portes Gil administration, but no early action appears likely.

The men were indicted when members of the county commissioners and E. They had charged misappropriation of funds and irregularities in tax assessments.

HAD RHEUMATISM TEN YEARS: NEW KONJOLA ENDS IT

Pittsburgh Lady Also Freed of Stomach Trouble—Praises Modern Medicine.

Daily Konjola, the new and different medicine, is winning new fame and friends in Pittsburgh and wherever introduced. There is but one reason for such astounding success and that is—Konjola Makes Good.

MRS. ELIZABETH HAMILTON

And Konjola makes good in those stubborn cases that have defied and resisted all other medicines tried. Learn how this remarkable medicine goes to the root and source of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Call on the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, and get all the facts about this super-remedy.

Daily many men and women call on the Konjola Man to tell of the benefits derived through the use of Konjola. Many state that one bottle of Konjola brought relief, but it is recommended that six or eight bottles be taken to obtain the best results. Life teaches us no finer lesson than that it is wise to profit from the experiences of others. Take, as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton, 8 Hanway avenue, Bellevue Station, Pittsburgh. Now read what Mrs. Hamilton said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"For ten years I suffered from a dreadful case of rheumatism. The aches and pains were almost unbearable and as time passed my left hand became more and more numb. Then my stomach became disordered and soon I lost all desire for food. My tongue was heavily coated and the combination of all these miseries prevented me from sleeping soundly.

"Then I heard about Konjola and decided to give it a trial. That was a wise decision, for Konjola went right to work and soon made a wonderful improvement in my condition. By the time I finished eight bottles I felt like a different person. The rheumatism was completely driven from my body. Then my digestion was restored and now I eat what I please without the least distress. I sleep soundly and the coating on my tongue has disappeared. In fact, I was better than for many years."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such hazardous ingredients its seeming wonders to work.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. FREE SAMPLES GIVEN by the Konjola Man. Konjola is sold also at all Dow stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

DEADLOCK OVER PANTAGES PLEA

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—(AP.)—The withdrawal from the Alexander Pantages case of Apellate Judge John F. Tyler, sitting pro tem on the Supreme bench, was followed by the announcement of Chief Justice William N. Waste that the Supreme Court is divided three to three on the wealthy theater magnate's appeal for release from the Los Angeles County jail pending petition for the new trial.

Judge Waste disclosed attorneys for both sides had been asked to agree to stipulate on the selection of another jurist to replace Judge Tyler.

Judge Tyler disqualified himself because his brother, Attorney Russell P. Tyler, was associated with the Pantages defense.

Pantages, convicted of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, contends further incarceration will endanger his life and with his appeal submitted affidavits from physicians purporting to show he is suffering from a chronic heart ailment. Pantages also declared that civil suits aggregating $1,700,000 are pending against him and he is unable to conduct an adequate defense while in jail.

Toronto, O., Now Classed as City

MARTINS FERRY, O., May 9.—Census reports show that a second city has been established in Jefferson County. Toronto now has 7,041 population. Ten years ago it had 4,684—just 316 short of the necessary 5,000 required for a city.

Man's Arm Broken As Truck Wrecks

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., May 9.—Grover Bollman, 40, of Ragersville, escaped with a broken arm and scalp wounds when his truck climbed 30 feet on the girder of the Tuscarawas River Bridge and then dropped on the bridge floor.

Hoover Gives Up San Francisco Offices

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—(AP.)—Herbert Hoover, who recently moved to Washington to accept a position with the government, has given up his offices here, it was revealed.

California's first citizen has for many years had his name on the door of one of the offices in the suite of Attorney T. T. C. Gregory, but the other day Gregory's suite was rearranged and when opened today the name of "Herbert Hoover" no longer adorned the door's glass panel.

MEXICAN LAND GRANTS FIXED

MEXICO CITY, May 9.—(AP.)—A decree made public by President Ortiz Rubio provides that any moderately-fixed Mexican citizen over 18 years of age has the right to obtain a parcel of government land free.

The applicant must not possess more than 5,000 pesos (about $2,350) in capital. He first must rent the land for five years and work it himself. He may raise anything except products used to make alcoholic liquor.

FIVE CHILDREN SAVED FROM FLAMES

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

If everything goes right, or wrong, that London company which will insure anything or bet on anything will soon have a Pittsburgh office. This will be a distinct contribution, if not an indistinct contribution, to the city's unconventional activities. If you and the family are planning to picnic on little Tessie's birthday, you can insure a good time for everybody by betting this agency that rain will fall in torrents on Tessie's birthday. If the sun shines, you have to go to the picnic, if rain falls, you can collect from the company. Every cloud has a silver lining, we always say.

We advise the Britishers to obtain a thorough history of the city's background before they open their doors, else they will find themselves on the losing end. Already we have in mind a parlay: we'll parlay that within one month after the agency opens, there is (1) a faculty squabble at Pitt which reaches Page One; (2) a charge of something or other by Commissioner McGovern against Commissioners Armstrong and Babcock; (3) another conference on the Town Hall.

"If," asked the patrolman,

"a car was going 45 miles an hour, how would you pass it?"

"I'd go fifty."

He's still riding street cars.

Sir: Here is a little occurrence in my career that will probably bring that sneer of superiority to your columning face. After visiting three bookstores in an effort to obtain a printed copy of the Declaration of Independence, I got it at last in a 25-cent booklet entitled "101 Famous Poems, with Prose Supplement."

I was reading the Dec. to Jess Boyle aloud, with my own remarks to emphasize certain parts of it. It was the first time since childhood that Jess had heard it. My blatant rendition attracted others, all employes of the County Commissioners' office. Several gathered around.

One remarked, "he gone goofy and has got hold of some radical literature." Nobody, of the group of five, knew what it was.

When I finished all but the last paragraph I stopped, and from the dirty looks I was getting I knew that they were thinking I had gone Bolshevik.

When I announced that what I had just read was the Declaration of Independence I could have sold five copies of it.

A few years ago Young Eppy, after a spell of publicity, announced he had severed his association with the chance-taking element. And so far as we can see, he has kept his promise, albeit he is sorely missed. Eppy was the outstanding figure of the group that yelled its bets in the grandstand section at Forbes Field. Always he was against the majority of that practical mob, but never could they go too high for Eppy. There was great glee when they had Eppy "on the run" a few seasons ago and there were reports that, despite evident prosperity, he would have to return to prize-fighting, but Eppy came back with a vengeance—a vengeance which endured for 31 consecutive days. Soon after, he decided that Tunney would take the championship from Dempsey, and this decision was a happy one.

Eppy has no illusions about the betting gentry. More than once he rasped: "A gambler, as soon as you turn, 'd stick you in the back."

Art In Industry

The largest tabloid colorgravure section ever published by any Pittsburgh newspaper will be a part of next Sunday's Sun-Telegraph, supplementing the regular eight-page colorgravure section, the tabloid is a photographic presentation of the new first floor of Kaufmann's store.

It is a 24-page advertisement that tells an inspiring story, pictorially reproduced in natural colors and monotone.

Included are some of the famous Boardman Robinson murals. "Art in Industry" is the keynote of the tabloid which depicts the influences of art in modern-day commerce. The architect presents his story as do the producers.

A few of the page headings are "Power and Light," "Glass Glorified," "Metal Magic," "Winged Stairways," "Modern Display," "The Saga of Steel," "Fire and Water," "Miles of Wire," "Pure Cool and Healthful Air," and "Final Steps."

Be sure to look for and read this modern story of Art in Industry as presented in the latest medium of perfect Art reproduction—Sun-Telegraph Colorgravure—next Sunday, May 11.

GIRL UNAFRAID

Tom Invites Ardeth to Week-End Party

CHAPTER XXVII.

On a day when rain lashed Grant avenue and machines slid cautiously by the glass paneled front door of The Caprice, Tom Corbett entered the shop.

From the smokerie came the voices of Cecile and Jeanette and the insolent caress of Cyril Underhill's drawl. Tom scowled and carefully avoided the open doorway. He disliked the smokerie.

Walking over to Ardeth, and speaking in a cautiously low voice, he regarded his gray felt hat, stained black and shapeless by moisture.

"Raining cats and dogs. Good thing, though. Rain here means snow up in the mountains. I heard from a fellow who lives in the small town near my cabin up there. Says they had a fine fall last week." His brown eyes went a little shyly to the girl. "Mary say anything to you yet?"

Her astonished gaze met his squarely. "Mary? Mary Eastwood? No. About what?"

Tom scratched his head like a bashful youngster. "Pshaw. Put my foot in it again, didn't I? Well, she will—. You see, Mary's going to chaperone a bunch I've invited up to my mountain cabin for a snow party. You're included. Mary said she was going to speak to you."

When the girl opened her lips to speak Tom's words flowed a little faster.

"Going to refuse, aren't you? Got to be a habit, hasn't it, turning me down?" He grinned, but there was something hurt and wistful in his eyes. "Save your breath this time; he's coming, too. Oh, don't try to look so innocent and surprised. You know I mean old Ken."

Plans Made

Everything Fixed for Her Attendance

"Why—I—I didn't say—"

Tom's grin was a trifle thin. "Sure. I invited him to get you up there."

Ardeth felt her cheeks burn. "Oh, of course! So popular I am!" she tried to jeer. "Anyway, in spite of your deep scheming, I can't go. Jeanette needs me. Someone has to be here in the shop."

"I've talked that all over with Jeanette," returned Tom. "See—I have you in a corner. It's just a week-end party. Most of us are leaving Friday. But you can come up with Fred Eastwood on Saturday. How does that suit you?"

Her eyes were dancing and he read her delight in the deepened rose of her cheeks. Something flamed in the man's eyes.

"You're a darling!" he said fervently, then turned scarlet and pretended to be examining a chiffon scarf sewn with seed pearls as a customer came in.

When Mary Eastwood came into the shop later in the day she came directly to the girl behind the case.

A Surprise

Told About Tom Liking Her

"Tom told me he spoke to you. He really has a jolly little cabin and we're going to rough it. Get our own meals, you know. No servants. Fred and I will be chaperones. Phyllis Hawkins and Maida Duvant are the other girls. Ken Gleason and Bill Lane—and you and Tom—that's all."

Then, in her own direct way, Mary broke off to eye the girl before her, curiously.

"You clever little devil—do you know what you're doing? Here, Ardeth, don't you pull that baby stare on me! You've got one of the most eligible men in the city wild about you. I've never seen old Tom like this before about a girl."

"Oh—that's imagination," Ardeth began to stammer. She refused to meet the other's eyes.

"Don't be coy!" said Mary Eastwood severely. "And don't fence with me! I know what it is to work—and to be poor too. I hope you're not going to be a fool, Ardeth."

"Why—what do you mean?"

The wide amber eyes came up to rest on Mary's steady dark gaze and there was a glint of fear in the girl's look.

Mary shrugged. Her voice was kindly. "You know what I mean. I'm afraid those cards are stacked, Ardeth. No! Don't ask me anything further; I've talked too much as it is! Let's talk about clothes. Dress warmly; you'll need hiking things if you're going to have any fun in the snow."

Her last words were lost on the girl. Ardeth was watching Mary Eastwood with a wistfulness which hurt the other.

"You speak in enigmas, Lady Sphinx. And I never was good at guessing riddles . . ."

"Some day you'll have the answer to that riddle, Ardeth. When you do—come to me, for I like you, child. If I'm wrong, I'll help you rejoice. If I'm right, I'll try to comfort you. No! Not another word. We understand each other. And—I do not gossip, Ardeth Carroll!"

Cards Stacked

Thinks About Remark Mary Made

The warm, hearty voice held a badgered note as though Mary Eastwood were in a panic for saying so much.

The memory of this was a bitter secret in Ardeth's heart. That night, lying in her small dark room high above the city Ardeth's lips moved noisily in the dark.

"I'm afraid those cards are stacked . . . if I'm right, I'll comfort you . . ."

Ah, she understood — dear Mary Eastwood! Perhaps—before her marriage, she, too, had known this ache of uncertainty. Perhaps she, too, had fought phantom fears before she landed her big brown Fred safe in the net of matrimony.

A wry little smile touched Ardeth's lips in the dark. Women . . . They spoke of the new freedom. Called them the fearless generation. Yet underneath, it had always been the same. Each intent only on getting the man she loved. . .

Ken laughed when he heard of the proposed party. "Wily old Tom!" there was laughing jealousy in his voice. "Going to get you up there even if he has to put up with me! Dogone it! Wish I could drive you up. If I hadn't promised Mary to take her and the girls up Friday I'd wait over a day."

Jeanette's Spite

Happy Because Cecile Is Not Invited

Ardeth never ceased to wonder that Jeanette permitted her to stay away from the shop on Saturday. It was not natural for Jeanette to be big-hearted without cause.

The truth lay in Jeanette's hidden spite for Cecile. Cecile was not invited on this party. It would irritate her to learn that a mere no-body like Ardeth Carroll was invited on a house party which also included Ken Gleason. If a thing caused Cecile irritation, that were sufficient reason for Jeanette carrying it through. She was sweetly gracious to Ardeth.

A joyful dream to be leaving in the middle of the morning! Sitting beside good-natured, rather silent Fred Eastwood, snuggled under the warm lap-robe—for the day was chilly. Her shiny new suitcase back there in the tonneau, holding new winter sport clothes — a week of hectic noon hours had gone to their selection.

A long ride—with Ken awaiting her at the other end. As though—Ardeth's heart gave a glad lunge within her — as though they were already married.

Lose Pound-a-Week Menu

DIET NO. 11

To reduce one pound a week a series of safe and sane diets has been prepared by Dr. A. I. Ringer, consultant on metabolism for the Medical Information Bureau of the New York Academy of Medicine. They are appearing daily in the Sun-Telegraph. Here is the eleventh day's diet for tomorrow:

BREAKFAST

One dish of stewed prunes
Two scrambled eggs
Thin slice of bread
Coffee, one cup

LUNCH

Moderate portion of boiled codfish
Cucumber salad, with lemon juice
Radishes
Thin slice of bread
Coffee, one cup

DINNER

One plate of vegetable soup
Moderate portion of roast leg of lamb
Beet greens salad, without dressing
Swiss chard
Scalloped potatoes, small portion
Tea, one cup

Diet Hints

The average table d'hote dinner is a curse to mankind. That's the opinion of Dr. A. I. Ringer, consultant on metabolism for the Medical Information Bureau of the New York Academy of Medicine.

The usual restaurant dinner, Dr. Ringer says, contains just about three times as much food as the normal individual needs. When the food is placed before the diner it requires a great deal of self-control to refrain from eating all of it.

Daily reducing diets, appearing in the Sun-Telegraph, completely omit the butter, cream and desserts included in the average table d'hote dinner. They contain plenty of fresh and cooked vegetables. Meat and fish are recommended in moderate portions. One thin slice of bread or one potato may be included in each lunch and dinner.

N. BRADDOCK FAMILIES RESCUED

Firemen Carry Victims from Burning Buildings; Loss Set at $3,000 by Chief

Five children were rescued by firemen when flames damaged two three-story buildings in 1532-34 Oak street, North Braddock, last night. The loss was estimated at $3,000 by Fire Chief John Nebel. East Pittsburgh firemen assisted in extinguishing the flames.

Fireman Joseph Aiello, of the North Braddock fire department, was cut by glass and taken to the Braddock General Hospital.

Three sleeping children of Mrs. Charles Guest, occupants of the first floor at 1534 Oak street, were awakened when firemen entered their rooms. They are George, 10; Wilbur, 13, and Margaret, 14. They were carried to the street by firemen, who also assisted Mrs. Guest to safety. Firemen also saved Norval, 7, and Johanna, 5, children of Mrs. Freda Long, occupants of the first floor at 1532 Oak street. Mrs. Long was absent.

The second floor at 1532 Oak street was occupied by Mrs. Marie Ward and five children, but none was at home when the fire was discovered. The other floors of the buildings were vacant, firemen said.

The fire started in the third floor at 1534 Oak street and spread to the adjoining structure. The flames were confined to the upper floors of the buildings, but the lower floors were damaged by smoke and water. The fire was blamed on defective wiring by Chief Nebel.

TECH CAMPUS FETE OPENS

Fireworks, classical dancers, a brief tableaux and thousands of onlookers were parts that, blending together, made the opening carnival of Carnegie Tech's annual Campus Week last night.

Isobel Sheppard, elected the most popular girl, was crowned queen of the campus. A retinue comprising runners-up, dancers, Miss Gladys Abbaticchio, a sorceress, a prince and a conqueror added to the gayety of the court.

The pageant which led up to the coronation was based on "The Sleeping Beauty" myth, with Miss Kathryn Seybold directing. An orchestra from the school of music played for the festival. The two attendants to the queen were Isabel Warner and Virginia Morgan. Twelve others who aided were Blanche Bray, Katherine McMillin, Tressie McCann, Sally Franklin, Rosemary Barr, Charlotte Ball, Dorothy Bower, Catherine Boyd, Cora Lee Henk, Margaret Keeney, Ann Myers and Ann McKee.

A country fair today and a costume ball tonight, presentation of a play, "The Show Off," tonight in the Davis Theater are included in the program.

Famous Artist to Paint Four Hunt Children

Antonio Ortiz Echague, known in Pittsburgh through the Carnegie Internationals for his distinguished portraits of children, has been commissioned by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hunt to paint a group portrait of their sons, Mortimer, Torrance, Richard and Roy. Senor Echague has a rare ability to render the charm of childhood in a style universally decorative.

The portrait of the Hunt children is his first American work, although he has painted former Ambassador and Mrs. Ogden H. Hammond in Madrid. His portraits of King Alfonso and other members of the Spanish nobility have been shown on the continent.

Senor Echague has been awarded the highest honors in the official exhibitions at Madrid, Munich and Paris. The French government acquired one of his paintings for the Luxembourg. He is likewise represented in the museums of Buenos Aires and of Indianapolis.

BEVERLY HILLS, May. 9.

Did you read that Beverly Hills census for the past year or so. Every little buffalo wallow that was afflicted with a chamber of commerce has claimed that they was "the fastest growing town in the U. S."

From 674 prolific souls (of which I happen to have been one), in 1920, we now have 17,428, a gain of 2,500 per cent, and not a graveyard in the town and the jail is empty. And, incidentally, I never was able to get in this census. I use every known influence, but they never come to see us. There must have been thousands of others here just as unimportant, so if they had gotten all of us, why we would have been bigger than New York. Yours, WILL.

TIEUP FEARED DURING P. R. R. BUILDING

Committee Also Hears of Liberty Tubes Danger; Marsh Fears for Motorists

The Better Traffic Committee, at a special meeting, recommended to City Council the construction of a temporary surface traffic circle at Liberty avenue and Eleventh street, to relieve the traffic congestion resulting from the closing of Liberty avenue during the building of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The plan approved by the committee is known as Plan "Z."

The committee's recommendation is being forwarded to council and Mayor Charles H. Kline. The circle plan was approved yesterday afternoon at the special meeting called by Chairman Frank Duggan. The committee states that it is in favor of the city acquiring the necessary land to put the plan into effect.

PLAN 'T' REJECTED

Plan "T" was looked on as being undesirable since practically every engineering analysis of the different plans had shown that Plan "T" would be unworkable. Plan "T" calls for a straight surface intersection at Eleventh and Grant streets, and Penn and Liberty avenues.

The danger from asphyxiating gases in the Liberty Tubes and the unparalleled traffic toll of 65 deaths for the first four months of this year also were discussed.

The problem of safety and of traffic control in the tubes was referred to the various sub-committees and to the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council. Chairman Duggan suggested a meeting of the safety council, the sub-committees and the county commissioners at which time steps could be taken to relieve the hazard.

The total receipts at 50 industrial cities for April were $3,524,346.04 as against $3,453,918.40 for the same month of 1929, an increase of $70,427.64. The Pittsburgh increase ranked fourth among the selected cities, the list being topped by Des Moines, Ia., with an 22.59 per cent increase.

WOMEN TO PUSH ANTI-DRY FIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(INS.)—A group of women opposed to the prohibition law will gather at a dinner tonight to discuss ways and means of getting behind one definite plan of action in electing anti-drys at the coming election.

"This is a great political question, and before any constructive legislation can be passed politicians must be convinced that they can be elected on an anti-prohibition platform," Miss M. Louise Gross, chairman of the Women's Moderation Union, said today.

"This can be made possible only by strong organizations in congressional districts, because the first relief must come from Congress."

UNINJURED IN WINDOW CRASH

A few minutes after Mildred Marshall, 22, left her desk alongside a window in the Cant novelty shop in the Garrison Building, Wood street, the window was smashed in many pieces.

How it was smashed nobody seems to know. Miss Marshall narrowly escaped injury. In the street below the window she found a broken saltshaker which she believes was hurled against the window.

Miss Marshall presented the shaker to the Keystone Athletic Club across the street. The club's name was lettered on it, but there was nothing to show that it had been tossed from there.

MUSEUM AIDES SHOOT GATORS

Two more of Carnegie Museum's scientific staff are southward bound today.

H. J. Clements, preparator, and Charles Agostini, assistant, started at 4 o'clock this morning for alligator swamps of the Florida Everglades, to shoot crocodiles, alligators and lizards for the Museum's first reptile group.

Last week Ottmar and Mrs. Von Fuehrer left to get a royal palm group. The four will probably meet in the southern trip somewhere, for Fuehrer will also paint the reptile group's background.

Specially gauged rifles will be used to shoot the denizens of the swamps, which are vulnerable only if shot through the eye. It will be the first alligator hunt for Clements, although he returned just a few months ago from Brazil and Venezuela, where he spent more than a year gathering birds and mammals for the Museum.

URGES RAZING OF OLD SHACKS

A present surplus of dwellings is Pittsburgh's opportunity to raise its housing standards by removing structures that are eyesores and fire hazards, directors of the Pittsburgh Housing Association were told at their dinner last night in the University Club.

A decrease in population in some city sectors, the directors were told, makes such a procedure possible. Old houses in certain sections could be demolished and occupants moved into the more presentable buildings, it was said.

A motion picture, entitled "A Tour of Pittsburgh," illustrated points brought out in the discussion.

Methods of dwelling house management and the enforcement of legal requirements also were mentioned. M. W. Acheson, Jr., president of the association, was in charge.

MRS. PINCHOT TALKS ON TRIP

An audience of 800 persons in North Side Carnegie Music Hall last night heard Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the former governor, describe the Pinchot expedition to the South Seas. The lecture was illustrated by moving pictures. Mrs. Pinchot told of many rare types of animals and plant life brought back and placed in the National Museum, Washington, one of the sponsors of the expedition.

Following the lecture an informal reception was held for Mrs. Pinchot. Mrs. W. C. Bletcher, president of the North Side Civic Association, presided.

Wife Kept from Funeral, Asks Divorce

Her husband attempted to prevent her from attending a funeral and handled her so roughly she had to jump out of a second-story window, Mrs. Mary A. McDonough, 805 Sixth street, North Braddock, testified in her divorce suit against John L. McDonough.

He also objected to her going in swimming, and on one occasion, after she had enjoyed her swim, she informed Judge Frank P. Patterson, who heard the case, that "he took a crack at me." They separated in 1928. McDonough, she said, had been employed as an engineer for the Edgar Thomson Steel Works. Mrs. McDonough is the mother of three children.

The Camera Question Box

Should Henry Ford be complimented or condemned for insisting that no man can be employed in his plants, whose breath indicates he has been drinking, regardless of whether or not his indulgence is otherwise noticeable?

RALPH R. TREUER, student, East Liberty: Henry Ford, even though he has millions, has no right to infringe on anyone's personal liberty. He has no right to inquire what is being done in anyone's home. As long as the employe produces that's all that is necessary.

Ralph R. Treuer

B. JOHNSON, North Side: It is unconstitutional, in my opinion, for anyone to try to pull off such a thing, even though we have prohibition. Everyone has the right to exercise his own free will in the matter of drinking. As long as an employe produces—whether he has the smell of liquor on his breath or not—that's all Ford should be interested in.

B. Johnson

ANNA PABLICK, student, Duquesne: Henry Ford is right. If a man has been drinking, well he just can't do his work right. Liquor kills a man's working power. That's why Ford is interested. He wants results. By this method, he is sure of getting them.

Miss Pablick

ALICE WILLIAMS, undergraduate, Duquesne University: I think Henry Ford should be commended. He probably realizes liquor does not promote efficiency in his organization. Therefore, he wants to get rid of all men who indulge. His first interest is production. He ought to get it by such procedure.

Miss Williams

CECELIA GRIMES, Wilkinsburg: Ford is considered a colossus in solving problems of labor. He has made a comprehensive study of the effects of liquor on his workmen. He has found, evidently, that liquor on a man's breath is not conducive to good workmanship, even though outward effects are not apparent.

Miss Grimes

K. KOVALCHICK, California, Pa.: Henry Ford should be more interested in production than in the activities of his workmen in their drinking sessions. It appears as if he is assuming the role of lord and master over the men who work for him. He is entirely wrong in taking such an attitude.

SALESMAN HELD IN STOCK FRAUD

Charged with fraudulent conversion in connection with the sale of industrial stock to a number of McKeesport residents, Knute Gisslow, of Third avenue, was being held in the county jail today following a grand jury indictment yesterday. The stocks were never delivered, the buyers say.

After complaints had been filed by Nels and Carl Bjork, brothers of McKeesport, that Gisslow had received more than $300 from them for stock in the Crookston Safety Razor Corporation, of Delaware, I. L. Gillespie, of the Department of Public Safety, conferred with District Attorney Andrew Park, who ordered Gisslow's arrest. A few hours later he was indicted by the grand jury, then in session.

It is expected, according to the detectives, that several more alleged victims, who contributed nearly $10,000 to Gisslow, will make complaints within the next few days.

Gisslow has no license to sell securities in Pennsylvania, detectives said. The sales were made last February, the Bjork brothers reported. When they failed to receive their certificates they made complaints and then filed informations against Gisslow.

Opossum's Fowl Deeds End in Woodpile

An opossum, believed to have been responsible for the killing of many chickens in East Pittsburgh during the last few weeks, was killed by Patrolman Samuel Whitman after a chase down Linden avenue early today. Whitman, with Lieut. David Bennett and Patrolman John Halluska, cornered the animal in a woodpile in the rear of a grocery. Police have received many reports of chickens being killed by some prowler, believed for a time to be a dog.

DENIED CLAIM AGAINST P. R. R.

A. N. Snee, of Oakmont, who sued the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for $50,000 damages for a fractured skull, lost his case in court yesterday, on the ground of contributory negligence.

Attorney S. W. Pringle, representing the railroad company in the case tried before Judge Samuel H. Gardner, asked the court for a directed verdict in the case in view of the testimony of witnesses and admissions of Snee himself, regarding the distance the approaching train could be seen.

The accident occurred at Oakmont, April 12, 1929. Snee being hurt and two women killed, Mrs. Charles H. Lewis and Mrs. Edward G. Harvey. Snee was taking them home in his automobile from an Eastern Star meeting. It was testified that the approaching train could be seen for a considerable distance, the railroad claiming that Snee did not take the necessary precaution in crossing the tracks.

GIVES SELF UP IN JURY FIXING

Harry (Kid) Angel, 32, fourth person sought in the investigation of jury tampering, gave himself up today and was charged with embracery by District Attorney Andrew T. Park. He gained freedom on $2,000 bond for hearing before Alderman Flanigan.

Angel is one of those accused of trying to influence two jurywomen selected to hear a damage case against Mrs. Charles Faulkner, wife of the North Side police inspector. The case was based on an auto accident.

Others charged with embracery are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hamovitz, of Webster avenue, and Frank Nathan.

With Angel's arrest county detectives continued their search for the policeman and the plainclothesman, believed to report to the North Side station, who approached a juror, Mrs. Elizabeth Austin.

As a means of reducing if not eliminating jury tampering Judge Frank P. Patterson will ask the bench to exclude from counsel table, while jurors are being selected, all but the attorneys.

4 YOUTHS HELD IN ROBBERIES

Four youths, in Morals Court, today, admitted robbing several stores and offices in the North Side recently and were held.

They were captured last night in Kroger's store, 1913 Beaver avenue.

Police testified they confessed entering the building of the United Bronze Casting Company, Beaver avenue and Branchport street, three times and stealing brass, bronze and copper castings valued at $2,100, which they sold to two junk dealers for $30. Police said they would arrest the dealers.

They also admitted looting the Sterling grocery, 2235 California avenue. They had 150 keys, detectives said.

They gave their names as Anthony Bannis, 18, of 2214 Gironde street, alleged ringleader; Joseph Muticka, 16, of 2213 Roller street; Mattis Vukovich, 16, of 1436 Warner street, and William Brennen, 17, of 3416 California avenue.

CHICAGO OPENS WAR ON BREW

CHICAGO, May 9.—(AP.)—The first major blow against the sale of equipment that might be used for making intoxicants was struck in Chicago yesterday when eight prohibition agents raided a Madison street store just outside of the loop.

The establishment raided is the property of Joseph Grein, president of the Chicago Malt Products Association. The raid was ordered by Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley and was considered a direct aftermath of the Supreme Court decision of Tuesday upholding the seizure and forfeiture of kegs, barrels, bottle cappers and other bottle paraphernalia that is sold for making beer and other intoxicating beverages.

Soon after the decision had been made by the Supreme Court, Yellowley announced plans for a city-wide drive against establishments selling such paraphernalia.

Stock of the store, one of the largest of its kind in Chicago, is valued at about $75,000. The store displayed in its windows malts of a dozen varieties, kegs, capping machines, steins, cordials and glass jugs containing liquids representing wines. Wine fermenters were placed in the tops of these containers in a realistic manner, although the contents were never seen to ferment.

School Board Leans To Home Teachers

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 9.—As a result of agitation for the employment of more Connellsville girls as teachers, the Board of Education declined to accept three recommendations of Superintendent Bela B. Smith and named a trio of young women who had applied individually.

Of 14 new teachers for the next term, seven are Connellsville residents. Three did not meet the standards of the school head and he refused to recommend them. The board elected them.

WANTS TO TALK FROM GALLOWS

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., May 9.—(AP.)—Condemned to die tonight for the killing of Justice of the Peace H. C. Inskeep at Romney, Walter Crabtree, 35, waited in the death house of the state penitentiary today for the decision of Gov. Conley on a petition for commutation of sentence or reprieve.

Apparently believing there was no hope for executive clemency, Crabtree asked Warden A. C. Scroggins for permission to speak from the gallows to the witnesses of the execution.

Inskeep, Ben E. Miller, county jailer, and Edgar Woolford were slain last December 18. The state charged Crabtree shot them down.

Death of Child Laid to Rum, Man Held

MT. VERNON, Ill., May 9.—(AP.)—A coroner's jury at McLeansboro returned a verdict that the death of Orville Eugene Redmon, 6, of near Aden, Ill., was due to a drink of liquor and ordered Richard Arnett, who is alleged to have given the whisky to the child, held without bond to await the action of a grand jury.

Evidence at the inquest was to the effect that the child was taken by his parents on a fishing party at which there was considerable drinking. Arnett is alleged to have given him a large drink of liquor, from which he became ill and died the next morning.

CHANGES MADE TO ZEPPELIN

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, May 9.—(AP.)—Although the great dirigible Graf Zeppelin has weathered many a storm and is no longer a new vessel, it will take off on its first flight to South America May 18 more perfectly equipped than it has ever been before.

Not only did the officers and crew gain invaluable experience in navigating and running the airship during the round-the-world flight of 1929, but this experience has resulted in a number of improvements.

Thus the horizontal rudder has been enlarged considerably and reinforced. This means that the dirigible can rise or drop much more easily than hitherto. Up to now, if the officers wished to drop from 1,500 metess to 300 meters or rise similarly, they had to sacrifice considerable gas or ballast, and the maneuver required time. The test flights of this year have shown that changes in altitude can be easily and quickly accomplished with the new rudder at the loss of almost no ballast or gas.

Another decided improvement is the attachment of a second gondola besides that for the passengers, this gondola serving as the central station for all electrical apparatus. The new gondola contains two auxiliary motors and a dynamo and supplies the current needed for lighting, cooking and other purposes.

The world flight has further shown just what parts of the outer hull are subjected to special strain. At these points the material has been reinforced. The five motors have been overhauled.

FOREIGN TRADE OUTLOOK GOOD

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(INS.)—Despite the half-billion dollar loss in exports and imports the first quarter of 1930, reports received from foreign countries seem to give reason for real optimism, W. L. Cooper, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, said today in discussing the outlook for American international trade.

"Interest rates have been lowered throughout the world. This reduction applied to all classes of rates, but was most strikingly illustrated by the progressive lowering of the official discount rates in the leading industrial centers," Cooper said.

"There now seems no reason to anticipate a return of the stifling charges of last summer. Already the stimulus of easier money is felt in construction, trade and a revival of international borrowing for productive purposes. The flotation in our markets of $329,000,000 of foreign loans during the first quarter of 1930 gives promise of quickening business in countries receiving this additional capital."

TEXAN DEFENDS TICKET RIGHT

AUSTIN, Tex., May 9.—(AP.)—Counsel for former Gov. James E. Ferguson asked the State Supreme Court to force the state Democratic committee to place his name upon the primary ballot as a candidate for governor.

Ocie Speer, of Waco, stated in his argument that the amnesty bill passed by the Legislature in 1925 had restored to Ferguson the right to hold political office in the state taken from him when a previous Legislature impeached him and forced him from office.

Speer argued that the action of a more recent Legislature in repealing the amnesty bill had not retaken his political rights from Ferguson.

Six years ago when Ferguson attempted to run for governor he became so involved in litigation involving his right to a place on the ballot that his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, finally entered the race and subsequently was elected.

OFFERS KISS, TAKES POISON

"You might as well take a good kiss, because it is the last you will ever get."

Mrs. Pluma Masterson, 28, told that to her husband, Ernest L. Masterson, of 1514 Third avenue, Arnold, police said, just before she swallowed poison. She is in Citizens General Hospital, New Kensington, where it was said today she would likely recover.

Masterson early today told Motorcycle Patrolman George Frickanesce, of the Arnold police, that he and his wife had had a petty quarrel and that he snatched a bottle from her grasp before she could drink all its contents.

Mrs. Masterson is the mother of three children by a former marriage. Helen, 9; Lottie, 6, and Thomas Weaver, 3.

AFTERNOON ENSEMBLE THAT IS BOTH PRETTY AND CHIC

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, MAY 9.—We have all been made pretty well aware of the importance of pretty clothes this year. But just the same, it behoves us not to loose sight of that most desirable attribute, that is a home in all lands, but is not readily definable or describable. We refer of course to chic, a word that not only defies explanation, but also translation. Since most of us have become fashion wise and have learned to express our personality through the medium of our clothes, we have acquired the most desirable knack of chic — the ability to look smart whatever the hour or the occasion, in garments that harmonize and are worn with carefully planned and appropriate accessories. This used to be the treasured attribute of women with both money and time to spend on their extensive wardrobes, but now it is the proud possession of the ordinary little business girl and the average woman. All of us seemed to have discovered the benefit of choosing our clothes with care and then donning them and forgetting all about them. For the clothes conscious woman is never conscious of her clothes, and therein we think lies the nearest definition of chic.

WE HAVE had sketched two views of an afternoon ensemble that is both pretty and chic. It is a Louiseboulangen model and is considered one of her successes. Crisp taffeta in dark blue with matching blue coin dots in satin is the medium employed for this costume. A puffed, draped collar of the material attached to the dress is worn outside the coat which is sleeveless; the embroidery on the two panels at the front is formed by soutache stitching.

THE DRESS which completes the ensemble just described is also shown. The draped collar mentioned above ties with crisp flaring ends, and the skirt, which is circular, has a side fastening. The narrow belt fastens at the side with a buckle.

East Liberty Branch of the Y. W. C. A. is having a luncheon tomorrow for Miss Ruth F. Woodsmall, who is to be a guest at the Y over the week-end. Miss Woodsmall has been connected with the national organization for more than 11 years, the last nine of which she has been executive of the work in the Near East. She has just recently returned to this country after studying Moslem women for two years under a fellowship from the Rockefeller Foundation. She talked at the recent national convention in Detroit on the "Changing Status of Women in the East," and brought a vivid first-hand picture of the social and economic changes taking place in the far parts of the world. She will be in Pittsburgh for just two days, as she is returning to Europe to attend the June meeting of the World's Committee of the Young Women's Christian Association in Geneva.

JOINT NANKING DRIVE IMPENDS

PEIPING, May 9.—(INS)—Gen. Yen Hsi-Shan returned to Tai-Yuan-Fu from Cheng Chow after a conference with his ally, Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang, and announced today that the Northern forces under joint command would immediately launch a drive on Nanking, seat of the Chinese Nationalist government.

The foreign affairs commissioner of the Northern rebel government declared that there had been no engagement between the Northern and Nationalist forces with the exception of a bombing raid on Cheng Chow by a Nationalist bombing plane.

It was thought that force would be used to prevent the British customs commissioner from remitting Tien Tsin customs collections to Nanking.

LONDON, May 9.—(INS)—Severe fighting along the Lung Hai railroad west of Suchow Fu was reported in dispatches from Nanking, China today.

Nationalist government troops, under the personal leadership of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, had recaptured two towns from rebel Northern troops and casualties were reported to be 7,000.

Suspect in Killing Arrested in Indiana

BECKLEY, W. Va., May 9.—(AP.)—Raleigh County officers last night said that Kent Fleming, 30, had been arrested in Evansville, Ind., in connection with the death of Benjamin Moss, 42, whose body was found near here on May 1. Moss had been strangled with his necktie, Fleming, county officers said, had told Evansville police he would waive extradition.

Marathon Walker Says Students Annoy Him

Jack Miller, 20, of Boston, Mass., is marathoning around the band stand in West Park. He began his walk yesterday at 1 p. m. and says he will walk for 65 days with 15-minute rests every hour for rest. Miller has been in other marathons over the country.

He claims Allegheny high school pupils worry him while he walks. The students, according to Stephen Barthick, his promoter, gather in groups along Miller's path and hinder him.

He has already worn out a pair of shoes.

NAVY FLIERS GO HOME FROM N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP.)—A roaring farewell was given New York today by the Navy air fleet of 139 planes as it headed back for its floating landing fields at Norfolk, Va.

Taking off from Curtiss Field, Valley Stream, N. Y., in mid-morning, the fleet maneuvered over the city.

Flying in groups of nine at about 2,000 feet, they roared down Manhattan.

Coming here Wednesday from the aircraft carriers Lexington, Saratoga and Langley, based at Norfolk, the air fleet gave the city its finest aerial show in history. The planes made a tactical attack yesterday on several New England cities, returning to Curtiss Field for the night.

RIGHTS TO RICH PLOT IN PERIL

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 9.—(AP.)—Mineral rights on a two-acre plot, recently filed by Forrest Parrott, an auto dealer in the heart of the rich Oklahoma City oil field, and homesteaded by the discoverer, may go to the government instead of to Parrott.

Parrott filed on the two acres after study of the faulty maps of the oil field and musty records in the Record of Deeds office. A report of his find leaked out yesterday.

Further study was discouraging to the homesteader. However, the land involved is believed to have been reported as valuable for deposits of oil and gas by the director of the United States Geological Survey within the meaning of the Act of July 17, 1914.

If this is true, the automobile man must file his claim, with reservation by the United States of oil and gas deposits, before homestead will be approved.

Parrott found that the tract was lost when early day map makers left out the plot in mapping up adjoining property into lots.

Oil Tanker on Reef; Holes Torn in Hull

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—(INS)—The tanker Richfield, owned by the Richfield Oil Company, was being pounded by heavy seas today off Point Reyes where the ship is held fast on a reef. Her $150,000 cargo of gasoline leaked into the sea through holes torn in her hull.

Tugs failed to move the vessel yesterday.

The contest is open to everyone—men and women, boys and girls—no matter where they live, with the exception of employes of the Sun-Telegraph. You do not have to purchase a copy of the Sun-Telegraph to enter this contest. The files of the newspaper are available at the Sun-Telegraph Branch Office, Fifth avenue and Market street, where any person can copy or trace the puzzle.

(6) All answers must be addressed to the PIRATEPUZ Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and must be postmarked not later than midnight of the day following the publication of the PIRATEPUZ for which the answer is submitted. Contestants are requested to place the number of the puzzle on the low outside left-hand corner of the envelope.

Doctor Learns That Whey Has Unusual Food Value

Watery part of milk, the "left over" from cheese making, was formerly discarded. Recently it has been found to contain minerals and salts which are valuable in body building.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City and United States Senator from New York.

Science is ever bringing to light something of value to the human race. Things which have to do with health are being found. One of the most recent discovgries is the great food value of the whey of milk.

"Whey" is that watery part of the milk which remains after the removal of the curds in cheese making. This has long been discarded as waste. But it has been found to contain food elements of greatest value to the promotion of health.

In a general way it has been known that whey contained certain food elements. But not until experiments were made by Dr. Lloyd K. Riggs, of Rutgers University College of Pharmacy, was it known to what extent whey is valuable as a nutrient.

Dr. Riggs claims that a mixture of whey powder and cheese, forms a composition something like milk. In much more concentrated form it supplies the same elements.

There are many persons who do not like milk, or who are tolerant of it. This combination might be valuable to the expectant or nursing mother. It may be an acceptable food for one who cannot drink sufficient milk and who is in need of taking body-building material.

The whey contains valuable minerals, necessary in building the bones and teeth, and for tissue repair. The minerals found in whey include lime, phosphorus, potash and magnesium.

These minerals are valuable in the prevention and cure of rickets and other bone diseases. Many persons are deficient in these food elements.

It may be that in the use of whey there will be supplied a sufficient quantity of such food elements in a compact form. If so, they may be more readily taken than by consuming the large quantities of milk necesary to supply them. It is claimed that it would take 16 times as much milk to gain the needed food elements as are found in a quantity of whey powder. While the mineral salts in question are present in many vegetables, scientists have found that the lime of milk is more easily assimilated than when it comes from vegetable foods.

Dr. Riggs has explained how these mineral elements must be present in the body before Vitamin D, which has been called the "sunshine vitamin," can be effective. These mineral salts, with Vitamin D, form the combination which builds up the cells of the body, particulary the bone cells.

We cannot have health unless we include in the diet sufficient protein foods. All the milk products are invaluable, including cheese, for those who can digest it. Every one who can should include milk and milk products in the diet, for it is a perfect food.

Two loins of pork containing the ribs will serve the family nicely. Trim the rib ends evenly and dredge the meat well with flour to which you have added salt and pepper. The meat is then placed in a baking pan with the ribs ends down and the pork trimmings are added.

Baste the roast with the drippings about every 15 minutes during the two hours required for baking in a hot oven. By that time the meat should be tender. Remove it to a hot platter and garnish the rib ends with frilled paper to add a festive touch. Arrange with a border of small baked apples and top with a generous bouquet of crisp parsley.

Sweet potatoes are always a most gracious accompaniment to roast pork and are especially delicious if you serve them as baked puffs.

In the benign promise that hovers over the land in the first early days of Spring the thoughts of the lady of the house gravitate naturally toward entertaining. Spring revives one's interest in the dozen or so social obligations that are usually hanging over one's head. When the day is perfect it doesn't seem like a heavy drain on the human system to give an afternoon tea and so wipe out with a gracious hand all those outstanding social debts.

You might make your Afternoon Tea an even more delightful affair by serving Toasted Cocoanut Squares. They're wonderfully easy to make and twice as good as anything you've ever tasted.

Cut a loaf of white bread into two-inch squares about an inch and a half thick. Dip each square in condensed milk, drain slightly, then dip in cocoanut the canned cocoanut does beautifully—until the bread is totally covered.

Bake in a moderate oven of 325 degrees, for 25 minutes. That's a clever way to make them, and you'll like them!

One of my favorite accompaniments for afternoon tea is angel cake, and the more angel cake my hostess urges on me, the more content I am with life.

Here's a new cake recipe for you! If you follow it faithfully it will make the most marvelous Cocoanut Jelly Balls you ever tasted.

These are the ingredients: ¾ cup sifted fine flour, a teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, a tablespoon butter, ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 egg unbeaten; ½ cup shredded cocoanut; ¾ cup milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla; cup tart jelly, 1 cup shredded cocoanut.

Sift the flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat till light; then add ½ cup cocoanut. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in greased muffin tins in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

Beat the jelly with a fork until of the right consistency to spread. When the cakes are cool spread the top and sides with jelly and roll in cocoanut.

FUDGE COOKIES—are a delicious dessert and so easy to make. Melt 2 squares of chocolate over a low flame, add ½ cup butter and cool; add a cup of sugar, ¾ cup flour to which ¼ teaspoon of baking powder and a few grains of salt have been added. Beat in 2 eggs, lastly add a cup of nutmeats and a teaspoon of vanilla. Bake in a moderate oven.

Like potatoes, bills and the poor, bananas we have always with us! They are ever-present in our modern markets.

Bananas are rich in food elements, and, cooked or raw, they make a wholesome food and a welcome addition to the diet.

BANANA SALAD—Peel, scrape and cut 3 very ripe bananas in halves crosswise. Sprinkle with lemon juice and roll in chopped nut meats. Dip into a cream salad dressing and lay carefully on a lettuce leaf. Use a few chopped nuts as a garnish.

BANANA MOUSSE — Heat ¾ cup of evaporated milk to the scalding point in the top of a double boiler. Set in a pan of cold water to cool. Then chill the milk in a bowl surrounded by chipped ice and salt. Peel 3 well-ripened bananas (choose the deep yellow ones), mash, forced with brown spots, and remove the inside pulp by scraping with the back of a knife.

Mash the bananas with a wooden spoon, then force quickly through a potato ricer or a coarse strainer. Do it quickly, otherwise the bananas will discolor. You should have 1 cup of pulp. Add ¼ cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons sugar and a few grains of salt to the pulp. Stir thoroughly to dissolve the sugar and salt. Then put in the ice box 10 or 15 minutes. Whip the milk until stiff. With a wooden spoon fold bananas mixture lightly but thoroughly into the whipped milk until well blended. Turn immediately into ice cold freezing pan and freeze from 3 to 8 hours in the refrigerator.

PRUNE CREAM—Wash a pound of prunes and soak them over night in cold water to cover. Bring them to the boiling point, boil until tender, then remove the stones. Soak 2 tablespoons gelatine in ½ cup cold water. Add enough boiling water to the hot prune liquid to make 2 cups. When the gelatin is dissolved add to the prunes together with the prune liquid, the juice of 1 lemon and the grated rind of ½ lemon and ½ orange. Then add 1 cup sugar and set aside to cool. When the mixture begins to harden fold in 1 cup whipped cream and ½ cup chopped nuts. Pour in a mold and set in the refrigerator to harden.

INDIVIDUAL LAMB PIES—Use 2 cups of left-over cooked lamb chopped or diced. Brown in 2 tablespoons butter with 1 small onion chopped. Add 1 cup diced potatoes, ¼ cup carrots, ½ cup green peas, then add 2 cups of lamb stock or gravy, salt and pepper to taste. Cook 10 minutes or until meat is thoroughly heated. Pour the mixture into individual baking dishes or casseroles.

Cover the tops with pastry or biscuit dough and bake in a hot oven until dough is well done and light brown in color, about 20 to 25 minutes at 450 degrees. Biscuit dough will take somewhat longer to bake than pastry. Serve pies in the same dishes in which they are baked.

SHEPHERD'S PIE—Chop or cut left-over lamb into small cubes or thin slices. Season with salt, pepper, minced onion and celery salt. Place meat in a deep earthen dish or casserole and add enough gravy or browned sauce to cover it. Set casserole in a moderate oven for 15 minutes or until meat is thoroughly heated. Remove dish from the oven and spread over the top of the meat a 2 or 3-inch layer of hot rice or mashed potatoes. Set dish in oven again and bake for 15 minutes or until potatoes are light brown. Garnish top with a few sprigs of paprika and minced parsley. Serve pie in the same dish in which it is baked. This is a good way to use not only the left-over lamb but also left-over rice.

BAKED LAMB HASH WITH PEAS—Melt 2 tablespoons fat, add 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 cup cubed potatoes, 1 cup cooked peas, salt and pepper and left-over lamb stock or gravy. Mix well, then add 2 cups cooked lamb, chopped. Cook 2 minutes and spread hash in a shallow baking dish, well greased, and bake in a moderate oven for 40 or 45 minutes. Garnish with slices of tomato and serve.

* * *

VEGETABLE SALAD — (Using left-over cooked vegetables)—One cup diced cooked peas, ½ cup diced green beans, ½ cup diced carrots, 1 tablespoon chopped onions, 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ½ cup salad dressing.

Mix and chill ingredients and serve on lettuce.

SUGAR COOKIES—One cup fat, half butter and half lard, 2 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon extract, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 teaspoons nutmeg, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, 3 tablespoons cream, 4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar.

Cream fat until soft. Add sugar, extracts, nutmeg, salt, eggs and cream and beat 3 minutes. Add other ingredients and mix just enough to hold them together. Drop portions from end of spoon onto greased baking sheets. Space 3 inches. Flatten down with broad side of knife. Bake 12 minutes in moderate oven.

CHERRY DESSERT—(Using leftover canned red cherries)—One-half cup sugar, ⅛ cup flour, 1 cup red cherries and juice, 1 cup water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter.

Blend sugar and flour. Add other ingredients. Mix well. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Pour into glass dishes. Cool and chill. A few red cherries can be reserved and used for garnishing, if desired.

Other leftover fruits can be used in place of the cherries.

HAM EN CASSEROLE—Cut 1 pound ham into 6 pieces and place in a casserole. Pare and slice 2 tart apples and add to the meat. Now comes a layer of 3 sweet potatoes which have been parboiled, peeled and sliced. Add 1 tablespoon butter and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons brown sugar. Add enough milk to cover. Bake

THE slightest irritation . . . caused by harsh toilet tissues . . . may develop into serious rectal trouble.

Surgeons who operate daily on cases of this kind say that rectal ailments are astonishingly prevalent.

580 physicians and 223 hospitals recently sounded this warning to American housewives: "Watch out for inferior toilet tissue. It can cause serious injury."

For complete safety in this bathroom essential they specified these qualities: softness, absorbency, chemical purity.

Today you can buy three toilet tissues that are specially processed to satisfy these medical requirements—ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue and Waldorf.

Millions of tiny "thirsty fibres" make Scott Tissues highly absorbent. Without this extreme absorbency, thorough cleansing is impossible.

Scott Tissues are chemically safe—neither alkaline nor acid in reaction. Soft as old linen—actually cloth-like—yet they are strong and firm in texture.

The sheets tear in perfect squares. The rolls are designed to fit the modern built-in fixtures.

Protect your family. Always ask for either ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue or Waldorf.

NOTE: ScotTissue and Waldorf are the two largest selling brands in the world . . . Sani-Tissue is the new popular priced white toilet tissue embodying the famous thirsty fibre qualities.

CARDS THOUGHT MURDER ALIBI

MUSKOGEE, Okla., May 9 (AP).—An effort by unnamed persons to establish an alibi today was believed by police to have been responsible for the finding of personal cards of George Smith, Connecticut capitalist, who with his brother David was slain under mysterious circumstances here two weeks ago.

Police indicated the cards together with several small photographs might have been left on a ledge of a downtown store window in an effort to establish an alibi. They declined to indicate the person or persons they believed to be seeking the alibi.

The Smiths were shot and killed in a Muskogee hotel. P. G. Seeley and John Wike, their automobile traveling companions and personal friends, declared the victims were killed by two strange holdup men after a fight. Charges of murder filed against Seeley and Wike were dismissed after a preliminary hearing.

Bill Ballard, an Indian druggist near whose tribal home Tuska-Wike discovered the cards yesterday, He notified police.

PILGRIMS HEAR MASS IN RUINS

CARTHAGE, Tunisia, May 9 (AP).—A pontifical mass on the ruins of the ancient Basilica Majorum, where St. Augustine five times preached a panegyric on the martyred saints was today's chief event of the thirteenth Eucharistic Congress now in progress here.

So taxed have the facilities of the little town of Carthage become by the influx of thousands of visitors from all over the world that traffic has become a real problem. The Eucharistic crowds have completely swamped the Tunis and Carthage transport facilities the throng being especially great after an impressive ceremony yesterday in the old amphitheater where thousands of Christians once were thrown to wild beasts.

It was learned today that several American notables here including Monsignors F. A. Burke and J. K. McGlachey of Boston and E. J. Egan of Trenton did not get to attend the opening services Wednesday because Senegalese soldiers holding back the crowds interpreted too literally an order not to let anybody by.

CANNON FIGHTS FOR POLITICS

DALLAS, Tex., May 9.—(AP)—Decision on an appeal by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., for the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to engage actively in politics in future campaigns today faced the quadrennial General Conference of the organization.

Challenging criticism of his activities against the liquor traffic Bishop Cannon, as chairman of the Board of Temperance and Social Reform, yesterday said he openly opposed Alfred E. Smith's election to the presidency. He explained that he took his stand "not as chairman of your Board of Temperance and Social Reform, but as an independent citizen with a record of 40 years' active anti-liquor warfare."

Citing that the General Conference had gone on record as opposing liquor in every legitimate fashion, Bishop Cannon reported that the board had taken no part in the campaign and that no funds of the church had been used.

Blind Italian Warns France to Beware

ROME, May 9.—(INS)—Diplomatic circles here today awaited with interest French reaction to the challenge sounded by the blind parliamentary leader, Carlo Delcroix, yesterday in the chamber of deputies. Delcroix warned that Italy would be compelled to establish solidarity with France's enemies unless France changed her present hostile attitude toward Italy. The chamber cheered Delcroix's speech loudly.

Mussolini Receives Air League Head

ROME, May 9.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini today received Col. Clifford Harmon, American president of the International League of Aviators, together with Italian aviation officials.

The premier presented Italo Balbo, minister of aeronautics, and Capt. Arturo Ferrarin with medals of honor awarded them by the International League.

Reopen Embassy In Afghanistan

PESHAWAR, India, May 9.—(AP.)—The British legation at Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, closed since February, 1929, will be reopened shortly.

The old British legation staff left Kasul by airplane shortly after Bacha Sakao usurped the throne and set up his own government. Later he was defeated by Nadir Khan and executed.

NOISE REDUCES GIRLS' WORK

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP.)—The American girl loses nearly 10 per cent of her efficiency in a noisy office. The sturdier male appears just about as susceptible but scientists have not tested him as fully.

These findings were reported to the American Acoustical Society today at a symposium on noise. John S. Parkinson, of Johns-Manville, gave reports of two concerns that the efficiency of their clerks increased respectively 10.4 per cent and 8 per cent by reducing the noise in their offices.

The noises were of the ordinary office variety, including street sounds and typewriters.

SLAYING BARES DUAL LIFE

CHICAGO, May 9.—(AP.)—The mutilated body of a "giant gangster" found slain early Wednesday was identified today by Mrs. Betty Anthony, of 615 Earl street, Toledo, O., as that of her husband, Harry 28.

Mrs. Anthony said he had come to Chicago five weeks ago seeking work. Anthony was 6 feet 4 inches tall.

A hotel clerk previously had identified the body as that of a Harry Marshman, who had been living with a woman registered as his wife.

Police believe a former sweetheart of the woman may have killed Anthony or that he was slain for invasion of the domain of some liquor gang.

Store, Mine Offices Destroyed by Fire

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 9.—(AP.)—Fire yesterday destroyed a store building and the offices of the Hughes Coal Company at the Hughes mine near Gypsy, causing damage estimated at $10,000 by fire officials. ONE MAN KILLED IN STORM

HASTINGS, Neb., May 9.—A wind storm of tornadic fury swept Hastings last night. One man was killed, several were injured slightly and the property damage may total $100,000.

The storm struck while a dedicatory ceremony was taking place at the new Shrine temple.

Many buildings were blown down or demolished.

Lerco, York and Harvard were other Nebraska towns reporting damage from severe wind and hail storms.

BARLOW CLAIM TABLED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP.)—The Joseph E. Barlow land claim of $9,000,000 against the Cuban government, which has troubled State Department officials during the past two administrations and the Cuban government for the past 12 years, was definitely tabled in a State Department report.

It followed submission of a lengthy discussion of the case by Harry F. Guggenheim, American ambassador to Cuba, who flew to Washington recently to discuss Barlow's affairs and those of Charles Harrah and Walter Fletcher Smith, with Joseph P. Cotton, under-secretary of state.

Ambassador Guggenheim said he concurred in the general view of his two predecessors that Barlow had not exhausted his legal remedies in Cuba and could not be said to have suffered a denial of justice in the Cuban courts.

Constables Face Removal for Rum

SHARON, Pa., May 9.—(AP.)—Three constables alleged to have been found in clubs when they were recently raided were asked to resign today by District Attorney Leo H. McKay. The District Attorney warned the men that if they did not quit he would ask the court to remove them.

The specific charge which McKay said he would place against the constables is neglect of duty. The men are Constables Frank Brennan, Sharon; William Douglas, Clarksville, and Tony Morocco, Farrell.

BOISE, Idaho, May 9.—(AP.)—Tear gas weapons, of a type not yet determined, and billy clubs will be handed out soon to Idaho state highway patrolmen to replace pistols they were deprived of recently, Fred E. Lukens, secretary of state, announced.

Exact number of casualties is not stated, but Iran repeats other newspapers' estimates of 2,000 dead.

Senora Romero, who lives in Santa Rosalia, Lower California, has given birth to 18 children, all of the same marriage and all living. Other mothers were found who had borne more children, but in those cases it was found that either all of them were not living or they were not of a single marriage.

KANE PITCURES GO TO BOSTON

BOSTON, Mass., May 8.—Patrons of art will pay homage at the Harvard contemporary exhibit next week to the work of John Kane, a 70-year-old Pittsburgh house painter whose genius was discovered in the twilight of his life.

Five of his paintings, including "Old Clinton Furnace and "Turtle Creek Valley Toward Pittsburgh," prize winners at the International Exhibits at Carnegie Institute, will be hung in the Harvard Exposition at Harvard Co-operative Building, May 16.

Kane first came to public attention when his painting, "Scenes from the Scottish Highlands," was accepted by the American Commission of Selections for the twenty-sixth International in 1927.

Six of his paintings were accepted for the eighteenth American Exhibition of Associated Artists of Pittsburgh in 1928 at which he was awarded second prize.

At the same exhibit last year he was awarded the Carnegie Institute prize for the best group admitted.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been overstimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

Contagious Foot Disease Attacks Millions—Watch Out

You May Have It

An Intense Itching and Burning Under and Between the Toes Often Spreads to Soles of Feet—Skin Breaks and Blisters

Stop Infection Before It Spreads

Look at your feet tonight and especially under and between toes. The United States Public Health Service assert in a recent bulletin that at least one-half of all adults suffer from it at times.

And bear in mind it is no disease to trifle with for many of its victims have been disabled for weeks.

Usually the skin cracks—it blisters—when the blister breaks there is often an oozing of liquid.

If not caught in time the disease usually spreads along the sole and sides of the foot—the skin reddens and may peel off.

CAUTION: The disease is infectious—someone in your own home may have it—(find out tonight). Beware of bathmats, either at home or in hotels—use a newspaper—it's safer. Wear your own slippers and walk as little as possible in your bare feet.

TREATMENT: After bathing the feet apply Moone's Emerald Oil generously, not only under and between the toes but over the bottom and sides of foot. This powerful oil soothes and penetrates—stops the itching and checks the growth of the germs.

Pharmacists everywhere in America dispense Moone's Emerald Oil—a bottle lasts a long time.

77 RUNS, 109 HITS, IN FOUR GAMES

THE FINAL SLUGGING spree in which Freddie Lindstrom, with five hits for a total of 11 bases, led his Giant mates to a 13-to-10 victory over the Pirates in 10 innings at Forbes Field yesterday topped off one of the wildest four-day batting orgies chronicled in any modern season.

Freddie Lindstrom

Instead of the four real baseball battles that were in prospect when the series opened on Monday, here's what we got: In four games the two clubs scored a total of 77 runs, an average of more than 19 to a game; they made a total of 109 hits, an average of more than 27 to a game; the Giants made 41 runs and 59 hits in 163 times at bat for a club batting average of .362; the Pirates made 36 runs and 50 hits in 151 times at bat for a club batting average of .331.

Of the 109 hits made by the two clubs, no fewer than 40, or almost two-fifth, were long ones. There were 11 home runs, 10 triples and 19 doubles. That means 72 extra bases, so that the 109 hits totaled 181 bases.

ALL TOLD. A total of 90 players participated, 55 for Pittsburgh and 45 for New York, an average of more than 22 to a game; 22 pitchers were pressed into service, 12 by the Pirates, and 10 by the Giants, an average of more than five to a game. The playing time averaged more than four hours to a game. And that's supposed to be major league baseball.

It smacks more of the kind played at the butchers' annual picnic, and is the strongest evidence produced this spring that the clamor for a less lively ball has had no other effect than to bring out a sphere that has even more rabbit in it than the type used in any previous year. It may be "as fair for one side as the other," as has been contended, but it isn't the grade of baseball play that patrons desire and have a right to expect in the big leagues. When fans start leaving the park in the fifth or sixth inning it's time for the magnates and ball manufacturers to stop and think.

IN VIEW OF the fact that the Bucs scored 36 runs in the Giant series and yet lost three out of four games, Jewel Ens may question the value of a powerful attack when there is a lack of fairly effective pitching to go along with it.

Bill McKechnie

But at the same time Bill McKechnie is in a position to point out that high-class pitching is of no avail if there is no hitting to back it up. In the last two games at Cincinnati the Boston pitchers held the Reds to three runs and yet lost both contests.

THOSE PITCHERS' BATTLES in Cincinnati probably will be seized upon by the big league defenders of the lively ball as evidence that the rabbit doesn't show when the hurlers are right, but games of that sort are rare exceptions nowadays, too rare to break down the evidence that points the other way. The daily developments have got to be reckoned as a whole, and there is no getting around what they indicate. On Wednesday, 101 hits were made in the National League alone and 168 in the two leagues. Yesterday 133 hits were made in seven games in the two loops. Not all of it can be laid to poor pitching. Surely there are more than three or four hurlers in form each day with the season almost a month old.

THOUGH IT WAS in an extra inning that Freddie Lindstrom pounded out his fifth hit yesterday, he cannot be denied the distinction of being the first major league player this year to make five hits in a game on two occasions. He did it first in the opening half of a double-header in Philadelphia on April 26.

No American League player has yet made five hits in a game. Only Harvey Hendrick and Lefty O'Doul, besides Lindstrom, have done it in the National. Twenty-one others in the National and 13 in the American have made four hits in a game. Lindstrom's total of 11 bases yesterday, on a homer, a triple, a double and two singles, fell one short of the mark set on May 2 at New York by Bud Clancy, of the White Sox, who made 12 bases—two homers, a triple and a single.

NO DOUBT IT will be a pretty difficult matter to convince the average American League hitter that there is anything wrong with Lefty Grove, but the fire-ball star of the Athletics declares that a blood blister on the index finger of his left hand has been bothering him and affecting his pitching for 10 years. He will have an operation performed on the finger in the hope of curing the ailment.

Lefty Grove

Grove says that he may go for a month without being bothered by the blister, but that it may then form suddenly and keep him from getting by three innings, the pain when he grips the ball being severe. A similar blister also forms on the second finger at times.

THE TROUBLE IS similar to that which affected the hurling of Steve Swetonic, of the Pirates, for a time last year. Grove says he has tried without success every so-called remedy of which he ever heard, and that he now intends to place himself in the hands of a doctor recommended by Tom Shibe, one of the officials of the A's. Batters in the American League who have been swinging vainly at Grove's smoke ball since he broke in probably are wondering what chance they'll have when Lefty falls into what he considers his natural stride.

THE VALUE OF the Preakness stakes, the first of the rich 3-year-old turf specials run in this country each year, and which has its annual renewal this afternoon at Pimlico, has increased tremendously since the pari-mutuel betting system was legalized in Maryland in 1917. Prior to that, the Preakness, which was run for the first time in 1879, was worth less than $2,000 to the winner in 12

HIGHLAND OPENS CLUB

The Highland Country Club officials inaugurated its season today. Golf in the afternoon, to be followed be a big turn at the festival board and on the dance floor this evening, will mark the big event.

ROOKIES GRACE MANY LINEUPS AT START

The Middle Atlantic League will open today, beginning its fifth season of organized baseball and the season opening finds widespread optimism throughout the circuit that the season of 1930 will be more successful than any other through which the league has battled, sometimes with its back to the wall and never with any great surplus in the loop coffers.

The league that has sent many good performers to higher class circuits, and several stars to the major leagues, faces the season's opener with a lower salary limit, more rookies on each ball club, and greater enthusiasm than ever before.

DEVELOP STARS

Since its organization in 1925, the Middle Atlantic League has developed some great ball players, among them Denny Southern, with the Philadelphia Nationals, Chief Hogsett, star southpaw hurler of the Detroit Tigers, and Joe Cronin, of the Washington Senators. All told, the league has sent to higher rating circuits some 70-odd performers since it has been established on a firm footing.

This year's managerial burden will be bourne by eight competent baseball pilots, some of them experienced in minor league baseball, and some of them new to the grind, but confident and capable.

Eddie Dyer will be back at the St. Louis Cardinal farm club, Scottdale; Wilbur Good, an experienced manager and a capable leader will be at Johnstown; Greasy Neale, former big league performer, and a former coach of the Cardinals, will handle the reins at Clarksburg. Hooker Joe Phillips will be at Cumberland, Del Gainer at Fairmont, John Pasquella at Jeannette, and Bob Prysock is back for another fling in this loop, piloting Wheeling.

WORRY ABOUT ROOKIES

The new rookie rule this season has made a shortage of ex-big leaguers in the different training camps, and there is a great deal of worry felt around the league regarding the possibilities of some of the rookies who will be asked to come through and plug gaps

FANNING BEE

The Pirates tied the score by tallying two runs against the Giants in the ninth inning at Forbes Field yesterday and had a chance to win in that frame instead of losing in the tenth. However, P. Waner and Suhr failed in the inning, as shown in the two top pictures above. Bottom photo shows Bartell pulling up at third base on his triple that sent home Comorosky and Traynor with the tieing runs in the inning.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE MOTHER OF A CIVIL WAR SOLDIER IS STILL ALIVE—Mrs. Samantha R. Clinton McCollum, who enlisted in Company H, Eighteenth Illinois Cavalry, in February, 1864. A complete story of Mrs. Button is contained in an article appearing in the June 6, 1928, edition of the Chicago Daily Herald. Mrs. Button still lives in McHenry, Ill., where she has resided since 1840. THE STURGEON HAS NO BONES OR TEETH—The skeleton of the sturgeon is cartilaginous. There is a complete subsence in it. Isinglass is obtained from the dried swimming bladder of the fish, which is highly gelatinous. Caviar is the roe of the sturgeon. This fish lives to be very old. ARTHUR TUCK WON A TRACK MEET BY HIMSELF—Tuck entered the Oregon State High School of track meet at Eugene, Ore., representing Redmond Union High School, in 1919. He won firsts in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 120-yard high hurdles, discus, shot put, high jump and javelin and placed second in the broad jump. In 1920, he represented the U. TOMORROW—TRIED AND ACQUITTED AFTER SUFFERING MARTYRDOM.

11 TO START IN PREAKNESS

BALTIMORE, May 9.—(AP.)—Barring last minute scratches, 10 of the cream of the country's 3-year-old thoroughbreds will race today for the $50,000 added money awaiting the winner of the fortieth renewal of the Preakness, feature event of the Pimlico spring season.

But 11 of the 78 nominations by 46 interests were placed on the official entry list yesterday, which for the first time in years is without a representative of the stable of Harry Payne Whitney, three times winner of the historic stake.

Of the 11, Gallant Fox, the Belair stud's son of Sir Gallahad III and Marguerite, rules the favorite by virtue of his record as a 2-year-old, his victory over a number of Preakness eligibles earlier in the season, and the fact that he will be ridden by Earle Sande, best known of American jockeys. Sande also is to ride the Belair hope in the Kentucky Derby May 17, if Gallant Fox should be sent to Louisville.

Despite the heavy play on Gallant Fox, Crack Brigade, Thomas M. Cassidy's entry, with Jockey G. Ellis up; the Audley Farm's Woodcraft, with a victory over several Preakness hopes scored Monday, to be ridden by a jockey yet to be named, and Armageddon and Michigan Boy are receiving heavy backing.

Armageddon, the Walter M. Jeffords entry, is scheduled to have Jockey J. Eaby up and Michigan Boy, the John L. Pontius hope, is listed for a mount by J. Shelton.

Other entries and their jockeys are the Seagram Stable's Sweet Sentiment, F. Coltiletti; the Walter J. Salmon entry, Snowflake, A. Robertson, and Swinfield L. Schaefer.

The Salmon stable will be seeking its fourth victory in the event.

The winner will receive $52,950, as compared with the $53,325 won last year by Salmon's Dr. Freeland, when 11 also went to the post.

Malone, Jailed In Night Club Row, Freed

CHICAGO, May 9.—(INS.)—Pat Malone, pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, spent an hour in a police cell today following a row over an unpaid night club bill for $35.40, but was spared further embarrassment because the judge before whom he was arraigned was a loyal Cub fan.

When Malone appeared before Judge Joseph L. McCarthy, the judge declared that as a true Cub rooter he could not send a member of the team's pitching staff to jail. He called a conference in his chambers, and Pat paid the bill. Pat also apologized to Herman Griffin, manager of the Frolics Cafe, who had made the complaint, and walked out of court a free man.

Fair Isle Annexes Newmarket Feature

NEWMARKET, Eng., May 9.—(AP.)—Fair Isle, owned by Lord Derby, who now is visiting in the United States, today won the 1,000 Guineas stakes.

Fair Isle is by Pharlaris, from Scapa Flow.

Anthony De Rothschild's Torcherie was second and C. Wadia's Sister Clover was third. Nineteen ran.

Fair Isle won by a short head. There was a neck between second and third.

The betting was 7 to 4, 10 to 1 and 10 to 1. The stakes were 1,000 guineas with extras and the distance one mile.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUGS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

Well, folks, you'll pardon me if I say I was down last night. I had a dinner date and was all set for another free meal, but I felt so tough over that game, I called it off and went with a couple of other young players to a beanery, where we munched some food and didn't talk to each other.

It was one of them games that leave you that way. Some fellas can shake off a game like that when they leave the clubhouse, but I guess I was cut out for a hard loser. I was second-guessin' everything all night and almost got in a couple of jams in Oakland for talking sassy to cops and other people.

Maybe some of you folks at the field missed the thing that really lost us the game. A corn-fed rustler playin' leftfield for the Giants and who answers to the name o' Fred Leach is the bird I mean. If you was watchin' close you saw Leach keep Dick from gettin' a homer in the ninth with two down that woulda won the game for the Pirates.

LEACH SAVES GAME

Dick's hard drive took a high bound over Andy Reese's head and started for the flagpole. Leach cut across lots like a guy goin' to a fire and he was able to get the ball in time to hold Bartell on third base. Reese couldn't have got to the ball in time to keep Dick from making the circuit. So I was second-guessin' stuff like this all night and I'll bet I was talkin' in my sleep about the game.

Jule felt pretty bad about it, too. Our pitchers are goin' terrible and Jule tries to make up

Possessed of long, hard hitters, good pitchers and with a fair defense otherwise, the Robins, in Pittsburgh for a series with the Pirates, may turn out to be the surprise party of the National League.

Weeks ago the critics had their fling as regards the race predictions and the consensus showed Uncle Robbie relegated to a second-division berth. With the Cubs, Pirates, Giants and Cardinals in the circuit, the prophecy may come true, yet the Brooklyn team has many supporters who feel it will furnish much of the summer's fireworks.

WRECKING CREW

In Herman, Hendrick, Bissonette, Wright, Frederick, Bressler and Flowers, Uncle Robbie sports one of the strongest wrecking crews of the game. Moreover, he is said to have added more power in the acquisition of Catcher Lopez, who is getting many favorable notices.

Glenn Wright's return to form not only was hailed with delight in the Flatbush, but throughout the National League, for Wright is highly regarded by the men of his own calling as well as by his many friends off the field. Glenn's arm apparently has been restored to power and his bat is a big factor in the wrecking section of the Brooklyn lineup.

HOW THEY DID IT

The Giants made it three out of four in the series when they defeated the Pirates, 13-10, in 10 innings at Forbes Field yesterday. Above are the high spots in the victory. At the top, Lindstrom is scoring on his home run over Comorosky's head in the sixth inning. Center shows the "break" of the battle, Grantham's low throw to first trying for a double play on Jackson's grounder in the tenth inning. Terry scoring the winning run on the play. By TOM BIRKS

Two games will be played in the Commercial and Industrial League this evening. Reliance Life will swing into action at Carrick Park, a new ground, with the Mine Safety Appliance Company aggregation providing the opposition. Seeing that the East Enders are two-time champions, the Insurance boys, led by George Miller, may be in for an hectic evening.

The other game in the circuit will find Joseph Horne clashing with Carnegie Steel at Etna Furnace. This game should also be worth while.

The local fight in the West Penn will be staged this evening when Universal and North Bessemer clash at Universal. With these clubs so close together it is only natural that plenty of good natured rivalry will be on tap. Universal got away to a good start, but the Aces, of Homestead, managed to stop Derr's club in the first game. Derr will be out to even up matters this evening.

SHOEMEN MEET P. V.

Book Shoe clashes with Pleasant Valley this evening in the City League. This will be the opening league game at home for the champions, and Dunsky expects to have a little flag raising ceremony prior to the start of the game.

In the Steel City League Dom Mazzie meets the Clover Club at Lawrenceville; Hale Club travels to Lincoln Place, and the East Liberty Crimsons meet the Young Men's Star Circle at Sullivan Field.

Stowe meets Dormont in a non-league game at Dormont.

It would appear that many real battles will be on tap this evening for the fans to become enthused over. Most of the leagues promise real fights right down to the finish.

ROSIES, STEELERS MEET

In the Commercial League, Rosenbaums take on the Crucible Steelers. Edgewood meets the Homestead Aces in the Greater Pittsburgh League and Verona plays Reliance Life.

St. Philips tackles the Methodists in the Crafton-Ingram Church League, and heading the independent card, the Homestead Grays play the Jimmy Smiths; J. L. Thomas meets Homewood and Ingomar entertains Brown's Stars.

A brace of tie games featured the contests in the West Penn League last evening, Verona and Homewood deadlocking at 1-1 and Wilmerding and Universal at 4-all.

In the City League, Book Shoe walloped St. John's, 7 to 2, and W. O. W. took a fall out of J. L. Thomas, 13 to 4. Immaculate Heart won over Fineview Traders, 11 to 3, and North Side defeated Ingomar in the North Side League.

Reliance Life earned a 2-2 tie with Hornes; Mine Safety defeated Carnegie Steel, 5-2, and Reick-McJunkin walloped Dravo, 21-2, in C. and I. League fracases.

DAN HEEPS BEATEN

Timely hitting won a 5 to 3 verdict for the Jenkins Club over the Dan Heeps in the Greater Pittsburgh League, while St. Philips slugged the ball to turn back the Methodists, 10 to 3, in the Crafton-Ingram Church circuit.

Other games resulted in a 14 to 0 victory for Hilltop over St. Elizabeth in the Steel City League; for Kokinos Cards by 6 to 1 over Monty Motors in the Ohio Valley loop and for Lincoln Civics over Etna by 6 to 1 in the Central League.

Hardened grease caused the yacht to stick.

BRITONS TO COMPETE

The announcement by Avery Brundage that the pick of the athletic stars from the British Dominions, who will compete in Canada this summer, will stop off on the way home and compete in Chicago late in August is worthy of mention.

Knute Rockne

Competing against these will be the stars of the National A. A. U. championships to be held the week previous at Pittsburgh. As these will include many of our best college athletes who go to make these A. A. U. championships possible, the class of competition should be of the very best.

Track athletics is a fine sport and is very popular everywhere except in the United States. Meets like this should go a long way toward stimulating the game in this country.

It should be a fine thing for the great city of Chicago, particularly if the possibilities of the event are properly appreciated.

more games this year. Watson Clark, star southpaw, is another who ought to win consistently.

Luque, Dudley, Morrison and Elliott are all pitchers of big-league rating who should help to bolster the sharpshooting division.

GIANTS WIN IN TENTH

The Giants said a farewell to Pittsburgh last night after winning a remarkable 10-inning battle with the Pirates. The score was 13 to 10.

Fighting from behind nearly all the way, the Buccos forced a deadlock in the ninth with two out when Dick Bartell tripled to center. Fast fielding on the part of Leftfielder Leach saved the game for McGraw at that big moment. Leach retrieved the drive that bounded over Reese's head.

A low throw by Grantham on a double-play attempt opened the way for the winning run in the tenth. Larry French was on the mound at the time. Grantham threw low to Suhr, who failed to stop the ball and Terry scored from second.

The lively ball panic was marked by homers by Lindstrom, Jackson and Grantham. Fred Lindstrom had five hits while Adam Comorosky came through with four.

Percy Jones made his Forbes Field debut, but was shelled off the slab in the second round. Spencer, Stoner and French followed him to the hill. Fitzsimmons and Walker pitched for the Giants.

Former Skate Star Taken by Death

MINNEAPOLIS, May 9.—(AP.)—John C. Karlsen, 55, of Minneapolis, veteran athlete, who once claimed the world's 25-mile ice skating marathon record, dropped dead at his home here yesterday. Heart disease was the cause.

In February, 1916, when he was 41 years old, Karlsen won a 25-mile skating marathon on Lake of the Isles here, in 1 hour 30 minutes 15 seconds, a new world mark. The former record was 1:31:29, set by J. P. Donaghue at Stamford, Conn., 23 years earlier.

During 30 years of amateur skating competition in this country and in Norway, Karlsen established many records for various distances. In addition he had appeared in marathon running races and bicycle races at Madison Square Garden, New York City.

Carnegie High Wins Spring Grid Tilt

With a substitute halfback scoring the lone touchdown in the second period, Carnegie High School's football team defeated Coraopolis High in a spring game at Carnegie yesterday, 8 to 0.

SMITH THIRD IN BRITISH PRO PLAY

BULLETIN.

SOUTHPORT, England, May 9.—(AP.)—Horton Smith scored a 71 in the final 18 holes of the 72-hole competition for the Northern professional golf championship today for an aggregate of 289.

SOUTHPORT, England, May 9.—(INS.)—Favored by better weather, Archie Compston swept to the forefront of the British professional golf championship today by turning in a 70 on his third round for an aggregate score of 214. Henry Cotton, brilliant young British pro, forged up to second place with a magnificent 68 for an aggregate of 215.

Horton Smith, the only American entered, had to play in the teeth of a gale, and his 72 gave him an aggregate of 218. The storm had subsided by the time Cotton and Compston got out on the course.

Smith's round was considered excellent in view of the miserable playing conditions, the day being marked by a gale of wind and rain.

One of Smith's best shots was an iron on the eighth, where he scored an eagle 3. He had a birdie at the ninth. His card:

Red Cagle Decides To Quit Service

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP.)—Christian K. (Red) Cagle, captain of the Army's 1929 football team and an all-America halfback for the past two seasons, has decided definitely to resign from the service after graduating from West Point this June, it was learned today.

Cagle has made no announcement of his plans, but it was understood at West Point he would obtain a summer coaching position and be connected next fall with a prominent college as a football coach.

Some time ago it was reported Cagle had agreed to terms to coach at Mississippi A. & M. This was not confirmed, however. Another unverified report today connected the Army redhead's name with a job at Yale.

Hatch Made Coach At Junior College

The athletic council of the University of Pittsburgh approved the appointment of Joseph C. Hatch as coach of basketball and track at Johnstown Junior College. This is the first step taken in developing a broad athletic program outlined for the three junior colleges at Johnstown, Erie and Uniontown.

Hatch is a graduate of Arnold College, New Haven, Conn., and has been affiliated with physical education for the past five years. At present he is assistant coach of high school athletics, supervisor of physical education in the Johnstow Senior High School as well as track coach for the Junior College of the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown, since 1927.

The new mentor is 26 years old.

INJURED W. VA. WESLEYAN STAR DIES

BUCHANNON, W. Va., May 9.—(AP.)—Tragedy beset West Virginia Wesleyan's track and field activities in the death of the team's star distance runner, Melville Marshall, 18, of Buckhannon, from injuries suffered April 14 when he was struck accidentally on the head with a discus during practice.

All Wesleyan athletic engagements, including participation of the track team tomorrow in an intercollegiate track and field meet at Morgantown, were cancelled for this week out of respect for Marshall.

Marshall, a sophomore, was struck behind the right ear and his skull fractured by the discus which caromed off his shoulder following a misdirected throw by a teammate.

NO. 36.
WALTER JOHNSTONE
Butler Country Club.

The Royal and Ancient course at St. Andrews, Scotland, said to be the capital in the world of golf, may have been more or less surprised one day in the year 1909 when 8-year-old Walter Johnstone presented himself for caddie duty. Little did it think that only a few years later this same little boy would be one of the finest of the professionals in Walter Johnstone Western Pennsylvania, on this side of the big water. After becoming attached to the game, as all good Scotchmen should, Johnstone served his apprenticeship as a clubmaker and assistant pro under the very famous Tom Morris. After thoroughly learning his trade, Walter came to Canada in 1921, where he stayed for two years as assistant professional at the Hunt and Golf Club at Ottawa. Coming to the United States in 1922, Johnstone became assistant pro to Dave McCormick, and spent four years at the St. Clair Country Club. His first pro job was that in which he spent a year at the Ambridge Country Club, which he left to go to Butler, succeeding George Underwood there. Walter has been at Butler four seasons. Always high in tournament play, Walter set a record of 65 at the Kittanning Country Club last year, and a new record of 69 on the new 18-hole par 72 course at Butler. During the winter, he is co-pro with McCormick at a resort club in Vero Beach, Fla.

Art (the Peerless) Powers Attends a Banquet and Scores a Real Hit!

"Pal Jack:

You know it never ocurred to me until today to tell you about the swell time I had at Jewel's banquet the other night! Oh boy, what a time I had . . . I wore my new "Plus-Six" Tux and almost stole the show from Jewel. There was a whole flock of millionares there and a lot of fans . . . and they all said I was the best dressed hallplayer they ever seen put feet under a table. I would have had more fun if they didn't give me so many table tools . . . I kept watching one bird to see what he was using, and hear all the time he was watching another guy! And all three of us was wrong! Well, so long, I feel better now that them Giants has gone.

Your pal, ART."

FIELDS, THOMPSON AWAIT BELL

WELTERS MEET IN DETROIT TONIGHT

DETROIT, May 9 (AP)—Jackie Fields, world welterweight champion, and Young Thompson, sharpshooting Negro, headline a 15-round battle in a reference to decide the challenger's title tonight.

It will be the first time in years that a Negro will have an opportunity to win the title. It also will be Fields' first defense of the crown he won in Chicago last year by decision after a fifteen-round fight.

CHAMP FAVORITE

Fields, who has fought over Thompson in 10 bouting engagements including a top heavy decision to enable him to get the verdict, is a 3-to-1 favorite to get the verdict. They were betting as much as 2 to 1 on Fields despite Thompson's impressive showing in his battle with Jimmy McLarnin. If Thompson has the same stuff he flashed against McLarnin, there may be an upset tonight. He may be good enough to give the champion a desperate encounter over the 15-round route. Thompson, a wave a fast finisher, says Fields displays signs of weakening in the latter fet rounds have been fought due to the slugging pace he sets.

Fields, however, is confident of victory. He is determined to win by a knockout if possible. Thompson, the first Negro to get a chance at the championship since Joe Walcott the Barbadoes demon won it by knocking out Rube Ferns back in 1901 is just as determined to stop Fields.

THOMPSON CONFIDENT

Thompson points out he knocked out Dundee in two rounds at the time the Baltimore Italian was champion, a feat Fields was unable to accomplish.

One thing is certain, the match will not wind up in a draw. Elmer (Slim) McClelland, the referee said he would not give a draw verdict no matter how close the battle may be.

JOPLIN LOSES MONEY

Although the Joplin Club drew the great est total attendance of any team in the Western Association last season, there was a deficit of $3,000, according to Owner William Forshaw.

Sport Vignettes

Arrangements are being sought to get in the corners for the Primo Carnera boxes George Godfrey in Philadelphia June 23 after what happened to Leon Chevalier when he was beating the Primo in California recently.

Eddie Farr, former University of Pennsylvania star who in these days will establish a dental practice has served under four managers in two years and now he's with the St. Louis Cardinals, scrubbing around in the infield. He thinks he could make good as a regular if given a chance. Jonny Mostyn who is the idea of the Braves who for was going we in 1927 than put him back and traded him along with George Pipgras to the Cardinals for Hoffman. The Cards have used him at short, second, third and even first base but only in a utility role.

He would say he also that he doesn't belong on the Red Sox side of the office. A Paul Eddie was one of the best players Lineage Braves.

Walter Maranville, the midget Pirate star, had won 11 games in a row for the Red and Blue and is a candidate among the college players. He dropped a close game to North Carolina last spring and then Blanford the mound with six successive wins. So far this season he has lost one and relieved in five more. Umpire Bill Klem has Manush also is a basketball star at football. Max Schmeling is in good standing with the New York Athletic Commission, which distinguishes him from the average European heavyweight. Most of them are footloose anywhere.

Twenty-one-year-old Johnny Doeg of Santa Monica, who will be one of the singles players on the United States Davis Cup team made up entirely of new blood, is a strapping fellow standing more than six feet tall. He was born in La Colorado Mexico. He played football for two seasons in high school before devoting all of his attention to tennis. If the Boston Red Sox had not suffered seven of their 12 defeats by a margin of one run, they now would be leading the American League with 15 victories and only five defeats. Now that they have traded Pitcher Charley Ruffing to the Yankees for Outfielder Cedric Durst, a lot of Pittsburgh fans would like to see the Sox swap Bill Regan of Brooklyn, a rocking second baseman, to a wrestling team where he could have no equal. Some of the boys here have a share in the Cleveland Indians, even though they've always been in the habit of supporting a losing team in preference to a winning one. The National A. A. U. wrestling championships are to be held here in Madison Square Garden, New York, the last week in April. Jack Wentz, who was the all-America quarterback at Pittsburgh in 1921, has just left the service of Lasle and Smith as the result of a brain injury suffered in an automobile accident last year and is suing for $15,000 damages from the man with whom he was riding when the crash occurred in California. He says coffee and tea taste like hot water and all vegetables taste alike to him.

New York Millionaires Go to Nihleen

"Though a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."
Ralph Waldo Emerson

Actual Photograph of Exclusive Custom Model Purchased by us from Anton Nihleen of New York for $50

NOW as far as we know, Anton Nihleen never wrote a book, preached a sermon, or made a mouse-trap, but a good many New York Millionaires have beaten a path to the door of his little shop at 30 West 47th Street, because they think he is the greatest shoe maker in the world.

We went to Nihleen because it is our policy to Reproduce the best Styles made by the best bootmakers in the World.

We paid $50 for the Original, and if you can afford the luxury of owning a $50 pair of hand made shoes, we think they are worth the price. But there are a million of us who can't afford to pay the millionaire's price, who would like to know where they can get an exact Style Reproduction of Nihleen's millionaire's model for $6.60.

The distinctive features of Nihleen's new model are a narrow receding custom toe, with broad comfortable tread, swagger swing extension sole, and a new high heel.

The Upper Leather in the Original is Gallun's Bark Tanned Calfskin and in the Regal Reproduction we are using this same tannage.

Last, Upper Leather, Pattern, Design and every Style Detail is exactly the same.

Our Volume makes this Value possible. We make about 1,000 pairs to Nihleen's 1 pair—and every pair looks like Nihleen's Original.

POPULARITY IN A SPORTSMAN rests first of all on fair play; in a cigarette on better taste.

CHESTERFIELD'S POPULARITY is fairly won with finer tobaccos, blended and cross-blended to give greater delicacy and richer fragrance.

IT TAKES TIME and is costly to make cigarettes the Chesterfield way, but no other way arrives so surely, so completely at what you want most . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

Section IV
Monaca at Aliquippa.

With both section leaders, Schenley and Oliver, idle, the City League scholastic baseball campaign will resume action today, one game being on tap in Section I and two in Section II.

While the City League card is only about half full, the W. P. I. A. L. will take further steps towards crowning a 1930 champion by playing out a full program, featured by the North Braddock-Edgewood clash in Section II.

In the City League, lowly Vocational, still seeking a league triumph, takes on Westinghouse in the only contest slated for Section I. Westinghouse gave the champion Schenley team a stiff ball game last week, and is favored to take Vocational today.

CARRICK, ALLEGHENY PLAY

In Section II, Carrick meets Allegheny on the North Side and Langley, in the throes of a bad slump, battles South Hills on the latter's diamond. Langley has dropped four games in a row, something entirely foreign to the usually up and coming Corliss Station crew.

The Junior division has action booked for two sections. In Section I, Gladstone meets Arsenal and Liberty engages Baxter. In Section II, Latimer travels to Herron Hill for the only game on the books.

Section I of the W. P. I. A. L., offers McKeesport and Turtle Creek in a battle on Foxy Miller's school's lot. Turtle Creek still has a chance to cop the honors in the section, but must turn back the Tubers this afternoon.

SCOTT FACES TEST

In Section II, Johnny Reed's fast-traveling Scott High nine, defending league champion, faces Edgewood at Edgewood, favored to win, but not without a struggle. Wilkinsburg and Rankin, both of which have been beaten by Scott, meet at Rankin.

In Section III, McKees Rocks plays at Mt. Lebanon and Crafton faces Dormont. Section IV brings Aliquippa and Monaca together at Monaca.

Yesterday, in a Section I game, Peabody won a hard-fought 4-to-3 victory over Ralston, the winning run crossing the plate in the seventh inning. Masters held Ralston to five safe hits, two of which were struck by Armstrong. The box score:

WASHINGTON, May 9.—I see where a fan in Iowa petitioned a Federal judge to have all ball players officially declared crazy. That's O K with me. I make a soft living in baseball acting cuckoo and Griff would fire me the minute I showed signs of having sense. Babe Ruth is crazy to sock homers for $80,000 a year when he could clean up driving a hack or moving pianos and Hornsby is nuts to play second base for 40 grand when there are plenty of milk routes open. There is only one daffy ball player in the big leagues and that is Art Shires. He is crazy about himself.

STOGIES DROP TWO CATCHERS

WHEELING, May 9.—On the eve of the opening of the Middle Atlantic League race, Manager Bob Prysock, of the Wheeling Stogies, released two catchers. He sent Emil Gall to Ontario, in the Canadian League, and Carl Reinhart to Raleigh, N. C., in the Sally League.

These catchers had made a quintet with the Hemsley brothers, Doug and Joe, and Charlie Getts. Prysock had already released Tony Gingerella, and the back-stopping staff is now trimmed down to three receivers, Getts, and the Hemsley brothers.

Today's game, with the Charleroi club, will find Paul Easton, former Windsor southpaw, opposing Lefty Joe Drugmond at Charleroi. Getts will be behind the bat in the opener.

COOLIDGE LAUDS SETTLER AIMS

WATERTOWN, Mass., May 9 —(AP.)—Calvin Coolidge, guest of Watertown, ancestral home of the Coolidges in America, and speaker at the tercentenary celebration of its founding, urged a study of the ideals and philosophy of the early settlers and a better understanding of, and faith in one another.

The town to which John and Mary Coolidge and their little child came from England in 1630 turned out to do honor to their more illustrious descendant who has occupied the highest offices that the State of Massachusetts and the United States can bestow. This old town cherishes in its ancient, moss-grown cemetery the ashes of the first ancestors of the Coolidge family in America.

Speaking from the platform of the crowded auditorium of the Watertown High School, his first public address in New England since his retirement from the presidency, Coolidge said in part:

"There were a number of reasons why I wanted to come here this afternoon. It is an honor in itself to come here with Gov. Allen.

"I wanted to come because the earliest ancestor who bore my family name in America was an original settler of this town. John and Mary Coolidge lived about 60 years in this locality after their coming here.

"During my service at the statehouse often I came to these graves and found consolation there, remembering that if I had some difficulties they were very small as compared to those they had undergone."

2 HELD IN HOAX ON TREASURE

MEXICO CITY, May 9.—(AP.)—Frederico Mirelles and Ignacio Morales have been detained here on a charge of attempting to swindle H. Wood, of Los Angeles, Cal., by obtaining funds to seek buried treasure in the State of Guerrero.

The men are alleged to have obtained Wood's promise of financial backing to seek treasure said to be a million pesos (about $500,000) and buried by a former revolutionary chief at a hacienda in the Zihuatanejo region of Guerrero.

Wood came to Mexico City and found that Morales already had gone to the ranch. He accompanied Mirelles with an escort of soldiers to the ranch which is in the heart of a low tropical district. Once there the two Mexicans were reported to have admitted the whole scheme was a hoax. The soldiers brought them back to Mexico City under arrest.

PLANES CRASH IN AIR, 2 DIE

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., May 9.—(AP.)—Lieut.-Col. Pha Amara, of the Siamese Air Corps, was killed; Lieut. Robert J. Brown, Jr., Army Air Corps, was injured fatally, and Capt. Percy G. Black, Eighth Field Artillery, was injured in a crash at Langley Field late yesterday.

All three men were students in the Air Corps Tactical School, and were returning from an exhibition flight given for the benefit of the members of the executive council of the American Bankers' Association, now in session at Old Point Comfort. When about to land and at an altitude of 200 feet, the seaplane piloted by Amara and an observation land plane occupied by Brown and Black locked wings and crashed.

Brown's home was in Framingham, Mass., and he leaves a wife and three children. Amara served in the World War and was decorated by the French government. He had been a member of the Siamese Air Corps for 16 years, and came to Langley Field last fall.

Chicago Reaches 3 Million Class

CHICAGO, May 9.—(AP.)—The Herald and Examiner, after checking up "nearly complete census returns," says today that the 1930 census will reveal Chicago as a city of more than 3,350,000 population. This is nearly 100,000 in excess of the Association of Commerce's pre-census estimate.

If the figure is found accurate, it represents an increase of more than 648,000 over the 1920 census and is the largest gain for a 10-year period in the city's history.

A few days ago the bride's sister, Mrs. George Easley, of New Kensington, found the record of the marriage among files in the rectory of St. Joseph's R. C. Church. The Rev. Father Hertzog had officiated at the wedding.

Mrs. Easley invited her sister to luncheon at the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh where Mrs. Clever found 14 guests assembled. Announcement of the wedding was then made.

AUSTRIAN DEBT PACT SIGNED

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(INS.)—Secretary Mellon announced that an agreement for the settlement of the relief indebtedness of the government of Austria to the United States had been executed.

The part was signed by Mellon and the Austrian minister. The agreement provides that Austria will pay the sum of $33,428,500 in 25 equal installments of $1,337,140, beginning January 1, 1943.

The date of the initial payment was extended to that year under the authority of the Lodge resolution of April 6, 1922, in order that the United States might cooperate with other relief creditor governments in permitting the flotation of the Austrian reconstruction loan of 1923.

The Austrian Legation issued a statement expressing the appreciation of that country "for the friendly spirit of helpfulness shown by the United States in concluding this arrangement which will make a most favorable impression upon the public opinion of Austria."

Radox Brings Foot Comfort To America

Nothing Like It Ever Sold by Druggists Before

Corns—Callouses—Burning Feet

Now you can buy Radox in America at any up-to-date drug store. Mayflower Drug Stores are selling dozens of packages a day.

Three or four baths according to directions and your corns and callouses are gone, your tired, burning, aching feet are changed to strong, vigorous ones, and bear this in mind—

If Radox doesn't do as advertised—money back.

Getting a corn out needs only a few Radox foot baths. In the last few years millions of packets of Radox have been sold to corn sufferers. Here is a typical letter:

"My wife had a very bad corn for several years on the ball of the foot, and four smaller ones on the toes, also hard skin which was very painful. After a few soakings in a Radox foot bath the hard skin began to peel off, and the corns came right out after a week. It is a pleasure for her to walk now." E. S. 1st November, 1929.

Radox contains four different Salts. One banishes odor, one is antiseptic, one softens the water, and one releases oxygen which carries the softening salts to the roots of corns which are thus loosened so that they can be lifted out bodily. Only Radox contains this fourfold combination.

About Stars That Study And a 'Gorilla' That Gets $50 Per Day

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, May 9.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES: Robert Ellis (actor) attends the Hollywood High School every eve. Um, Bob is taking French, German and Spanish.

Hal (actor and realtor) Cooley attended Metropolitan College—which pears to be the night branch of the University of Southern California. Hal studied public speaking and joined the Kappa Alpha. Same fraternity that Commander Byrd belongs to.

Patsy Ruth Miller

Patsy Ruth Miller is studying voice from Mrs. Paul Solan.

Ina Claire (Mrs. Jack Gilbert) is teaching Lilyan Tashman how to dance some Spanish steps. Lil wanted to show off in front of Louis (novelist) Bromfield and regretfully reports she suffered an undignified fall in the attempt.

Dorothy Mackaill and Evelyn Brent are studying French.

"APE" GETS HIS $50

There's a picture being screened these days, yclept "Ingagi," and therein lies one grand yarn.

"Ingagi" was shot in Africa a few years ago. The cameraman never returned. He died of tropical fever. But his partner brought the film back to America, tried to cut it into sales shape and finally let it go as a bad job.

Along came a chap named Nat Spitzer. He heard of the film. Looked at it. Reckoned it had the earmarks of entertainment. Got two men to go in with him. Retook part of the picture to build the story. He did it in Hollywood. To photograph the gorilla, he engaged a man to play the part. The little company didn't have much in the way of finances, so the "ape emoter" was offered a cut on the profits. He refused. He insisted he get his regular salary—$50 a day. He got it.

PUT IN THE SOUND

The picture was assembled. Sound effects put in. It looked pretty good to the hopeful producers, but they weren't counting any financial eggs yet. They took "Ingagi" (which is a beautiful title) to San Francisco, engaged a theater and offered the gorilla thriller to a world that knew nothing about it.

The film clicked. During the first week of its San Francisco run, it is said to have taken in $37,000 at the box office. Yep, cleaned up.

Universal is reported as having offered the producers $250,000 for the California releasing rights alone. They refused the offer. The picture is now running locally and showing its heels to competitors. I think it has enjoyed nation wide release now, and is clicking wherever it appears.

Carmel Myers sat next to Jerome Kern. (W. K. song writer—or is it lyric ditto?) at a dinner. She started on the subject of vitality, mentioning Ernst Lubitsch and Sigmund Romberg as ideal examples. Kern gazed at her somberly. He's a very quiet man. White haired. In his early fifties. He gazed at Carmel for a few minutes and suddenly, without explanation, shoved his chair back and galloped the length of the room and back five times. He sat down, silent, took off his glasses, stared at Carmel, and calmly broke them in half! There, my friends, is vitality . . .

Pittsburgh has had no more charming singer during this season than the Countess Olga Medalgo Albani, mezzo - soprano, who gave the second program for the Urban recitals in the William Penn Hotel yesterday morning.

J. Fred Lissfelt

There was a fine audience, and it reminded me of the appearance of famous singers at the English court during Victoria's reign. The queen sent her son Edward to inquire of the singers if she could provide anything for them. "Yes," said the spokesman, "some applause, please." The prince returned a second time to offer aid. "Yes," repeated the singer, "some applause." "But they have applauded," said the prince. "Ah, I thought they were shelling peas," answered the surprised artist. And the Countess Albani must have felt we were a bit stingy yesterday morning.

Her program for pleasant entertainment was very good, and we should like to hear her again where the acoustics are finer, and when she is not recovering from a cold. Having sung such good music as the Mozart aria and the Sibella and Debussy songs we feel sure of a fine musical nature that could give us very excellent songs. Only the Mozart lay without her voice, for its beauties are far more evident in high soprano. Countess Albani's style is most gracious, and she sings without utmost refinement of diction, no matter in what language.

For her Spanish songs she appeared in native costume, which she did not need at all to aid her beauty. Earl Mitchell played accompaniments on a piano that sounded like a muffled xylophone.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Man About Town

Although we originally scribbled it for Collitchumor, one of the better mags, we have been yenning to revive it here. Chiefly because we fear that the locals concerned are not magazine fiends. At any rate, please permit us to reprint it, and then consider yourself kissed.

People who put on their bibs and tuckers when going places, do so, of course, because they have manners. Dressing up is all right when milady is in the lorgnette-juggling mood, or when she has a new frock she wants other femmes to envy. But dressing up to frequent the sucker rendezvous where "dressing" is compulsory is strictly the whooey, as we used to say in the old country, and the Man About Town who takes such ultimatums from people (with whom he wouldn't associate outside of a night club), rates your contempt.

Take the case of Dr. Keating, one of New York's better physicians, who administers to the sick and injured at all hours of the day and night. Keating seeks his diversion in the night clubs when he can find the time, and is listed high among the huge spenders.

We were in mufti, as we usually are, in the corridor of one of the so-called fun places. It was the opening night of the new floor show. We had just checked our "Worth & Worth" and "Ben Rocke" with the hat check bandits when Dr. Keating and two companions ankled in breathlessly. After swapping salutations with the captain, Dr. Keating was taken aside and told:

"Doctor, it pains me more than you know to have to tell you that you cannot come in tonight. You are not dressed and tonight it is strictly formal."

"I'm being kidded," the doc replied. "Surely you don't mean it?"

"But I do mean it, doctor," said the suave lackey. "Orders from the boss."

"You mean to tell me," said the doctor, "that I cannot come in here tonight because I am not dolled up, after all the money I've spent here? You told me yourself that I am one of the few customers whose checks never bounce back."

"I'm so sorry," lied the little captain with the dialect, who rents his own dinner attire.

Dr. Keating became exasperated and with good cause. He was embarrassed no little before his lady and gentlemen companions. "Well," he welled, "you can all go to hell, and, believe me, I'll never come in here again." Then he took his departure.

Keating, a humanitarian if ever there was one, is not allowed to mingle with people because he isn't in the correct uniform! And the people, mind you, in the place last night consisted of the town's better known crooks, gunmen, Ladies of the Pavement, forgers, thieves, bootleggers and other illicit citizens!

Over near the piano sat a man who was lucky enough to be acquitted by a coroner's jury after a married woman had been found strangled in his apartment. At the next table sat a woman who was in the chorus of a Ziegfeld show last season, and who is now playing a small role in a big hit because her "man" has that much influence. If you asked us, she is strictly a "keptive," and even if you didn't ask us.

Your wife, daughter or "heart" would have been as safe with any of the managers as she would be with a white slaver. Three of the waiters are ex-convicts. Other attaches and patrons had been convicted of this and that, and the star opening there that night still is on the front pages as a notorious husband-burglar! Oh, yes, another illicit who was permitted to come in was New York's most terrible newspeeper columnist.

But Dr. Keating was barred because he wasn't "dressed."

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

COMMODORE PERRY'S BRILLIANT victory over the British in the famous Lake Erie naval battle of February, 1813, will be depicted for KDKA listeners at 8 o'clock tonight in the Freedom sketch.

The battle will be a studio fight to the finish with Joseph W. Williams furnishing realism. The roar of big guns on the Perry flagship, the crashing of oak, the cries of the wounded and the victory yell will be vividly portrayed. Williams has enough wood in the studio to start a lumber yard—enough to send the British man of war to the depths with a grand smash.

Helen Kane

In an airplane 3,000 feet over New York, Graham McNamee will sketch interesting events in Colonial history. KDKA at 8:30.

Helen Kane will boop-boop-a-doop for KQV listeners at 6:15 o'clock in a special warner program that will include Dick Powell and Madeline Ward.

The Elgin program is a new KDKA feature at 11 which will feature Godfrey Ludlow, violinist, and the Armchair Quartet.

Ever since she played here a few years ago in "New Moon," Countess Olga Albani, the beautiful NBC Spanish soprano, has had a desire to live in Pittsburgh, she admitted yesterday, after giving a concert in the Wilt m Penn Hotel.

She was pleased with the excellent view of our city from the new KDKA studios. A birdie told us some business was transacted for Countess Albani and the Westinghouse Salute which comes here sometime in June.

The Countess will sing "I Want Someone" on the Kodak program tonight at 10:30 through KDKA.

Babe Ruth will delineate on the making of home runs, WABC at 7 o'clock tonight.

Opposition to America's adherence to the World Court will be discussed over WABC at 6 o'clock by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick.

Ketelby's melodious "In a Persian Market" is on the Armour program, KDKA at 9:30.

Jessica Dragonette's army of admirers will be close to the WCAE wave when she sings Ponce's "Estrellita" and Lehar's "Melody of Love."

Jessica and Virginia Harmon go strong for Lehar music—and they know how to sing it.

The Kentucky Derby will be broadcast in England via KDKA short waves.

Cuba, with an estimated population of 3,250,000, is Uncle Sam's second best customer for medicinals. The United Kingdom alone outranks Cuba in this field.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

Chickie Plans to End Her Life by Drowning

CHAPTER LXXXI.

Chickie opened her eyes, shivering, a white thing of death in her hands. It was a letter. The word "Married" grew large, charred on the paper. She stared at it dumbly, bent forward and read it, then held the sheet upright and read it again. A wild, sobbing laugh tore from her throat.

She stood up, swaying—driving her hands against the weight of anguish that was now her heart—

Steps went down the hall, paused at her door. The knob twisted—Jennie calling. After a moment Chickie said: "Coming—just a second—"

She went into the closet—hiding—winding herself in an old dress that hung in the far corner. It was a blue dress he liked. He said it made her eyes such glowing stars of joy. Let him look in her pretty eyes. As long as he looked, he'd love.

She had clung to bonny things like that—believed them—dropped on her knees worshiping the glory of his uplifted face.

But she wasn't thinking now. Pulses beat—grew loud like thumping hearts, grew wild within her. She tried to hide from them.

Suddenly she put her finger on her lips—on the spot where his hand touched. She pressed it against her teeth—hard.

Then she stole across the room, picked up the letter, spread it out on the bed and with dry, fevered eyes drank anew its distillate of pain.

He was so sure it hadn't mattered much to her, never dreamed that at the end she cared. Why, she hadn't called him back! Hadn't even answered his letter!

And this thing that had happened was frightful to him. She could see that. It was ghastly. Yes—he remembered things—too many. They were crucifixion.

Married to Ila

He could never escape them.

In a muddled rambling way—never mentioning a name but leaving her to guess—he told that he and Ila Moore became engaged at the end of the tour, a month ago. It might seem hasty to her—but they'd known each other many years—they had been deep friends. And so much happened on the trip—so crowded was their life that the past seemed many years removed.

Their marriage had been planned for the following spring. But on the homeward journey her mother became ill. Her mother was now dying. So they were married at once because she wished it.

Did Chickie suppose he had the faintest idea of the tragedy that had overtaken her? Did she suppose he ever counted or feared such an outcome? Now that it was so, did she fancy that he was going free? That he wouldn't suffer? Oh—he would—

"But, Chickie, listen—don't let us make it any worse—don't make the blunder more awful. It has to be met—we can only do this if we look at it coolly. We've got to! I'll be waiting at 8 o'clock for you. Then we'll arrange it all—Chickie, the worst is really over—in a way it is— It will be easier now—it can be made easy for you—"

She came to that and smiled in terror. The worst was really over! No—but it would be. She knew that—knew it now. Her pulse, thudding like hearts gone wild, whispered it, thundered to her thought the thing that she must do. Like a little girl frightened of the awful dark, she shrank from it.

The Bridal Set

She said to herself slowly and with drawn lips—"Die—going to die." She looked about the room as though she had never seen it before. The heavy thump-thump at her throat made her breath heave. She said again, but more faintly, "Die—"

And she kneeled at the bureau, took the bridal set from its tissues—from the pads of lavender Jennie had made. She touched the soft fabric, touched the tiny pink and blue flowers. She shut her eyes.

A voice reminded. "We'll arrange it all. The worst is really over. Come at eight!"

But her arms were limp. She kneeled a long while—her eyes closed.

Then, sitting on a chair because she had not strength to stand, she changed her clothes; put on the beautiful silken things. She pressed the palms of her hands together. They were moist and cold; they trembled because of the moaning at her ears.

She tied and untied the pretty ribbons. She looked at her fingers as though they belonged to another. Suddenly there was a tear and another on the pink crepe. She wiped them gently. She said quietly, "Don't cry. No—don't cry at all!"

Finally she was ready. Jennie was tapping at the door. "Chickie, dear—why, your dinner is cold—"

"Oh—oh, mother, darling—I'm dining out tonight. Did you forget?" And she added gayly: "You should see me, Jennie, darling—how beautiful I look!"

She was staring at her image, smiling at it. She went close to the mirror, her open hands against the glass drinking the terror from her eyes, fighting the heat that brought such faintness to her brain.

Oh—her eyes were gray and beautiful above the tender thing that was her chin. There was a flush of red staining her throat; no color marked the pearl white of her face. She said dimly: "Well—" and moved from the bureau—

And with a little swift rush ran to those two waiting in the living room. She stood behind Jonathan's chair. The trembling went from her hands into her veins.

Is Terror-Stricken

It seemed to her that she was falling—in a moment with a little soft cry she would sink in the great, kind arms; she would sink against his knees—oh, she would wind her hands about him—make him hold her there—he would—

She laughed. "Jonathan—Jonathan, dearest—" Her cheek was soft on his. She patted it; twined the old straggly mustache—

Then she kissed her mother. Then she said lightly: "Little Jennie—so sweet she is!" And tears of gladness ran to Jennie's eyes.

At the door she called back—"I won't be in till late, perhaps—sleep, ole dears!"

Something in that caught her heart as though it tore and bled. She ran back to her room—looking for her purse. And kissed them both again and fixed the old, loved faces in her mind.

She rode down to the water front. Once when the days were sweet they had gone to a wharf on the bay to see the shipping.

A longshoreman talking with Barry said the tide was swift and deep. What dropped there was never found. An Italian had stumbled from the pier. A friend saw the body fall. It was never seen again.

That was the way. No one would know. Drop into the heavy waters. Not even God could tell!

She lowered her head, hurrying through the street. Dim lights glimmered like the eyes of ancient owls. The terror within her made her knees weak.

Desperation

She came to the pier. She walked to the edge and looked down at the eddying waters. She swayed and darted back, appalled. "No—God—oh, no—"

The lights of the island twinkled like far, tiny stars. She crept back and hid against a pile of lumber. She said to herself: "I can't—oh, God—God"——

Then she said: "Yes—now—quick——" and started to run, and couldn't.

She sat down. She wiped the moisture from her neck. She measured the distance to the waters. Ten feet at the landing there—At her side was a great horizontal beam. It stretched between vertical shafts. It was nearer to the water. It would be easy to wrap her hands about that—let herself down softly—let herself down easily.

She knelt. She slipped her hands under and they were wedged against the planks. She could do it! From here—Yes.

"No—no—go back—" The water was so dark—it looked so cold—

The wind sank cold about her—sank like the hand of death. She felt her life going—felt herself already dead. Suddenly she gripped the beam. She let herself down. Her feet were in the water. The wind loosened her hair. Now—let go! only a moment—

Household Hints

Varnish on the hands should be removed with methylated spirit; paint or tar by rubbing in butter or lard.

* * *

Grass stains may be removed from washing materials by rubbing the spots with fresh lard. Then wash in the usual way.

Before washing ebony back brushes, rub the wood thoroughly with vaseline. This will prevent whatever cleaning agent is used from spoiling the wood.

Cracking up is one of the disastrous habits fudge has if it is not cut a precisely the proper moment. It need not to be a total loss to the attractive candy dish however, if a knife is dipped into warm water and used to block off the squares. Of course, the water drips should be shaken off before the knife reaches the candy pan, so that the sweet will not become sticky damp. It is the heat that smooths off the rough edges.

Stage Stars of Another Day Still Hold Charm for Us, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

THE OTHER DAY I went to look at a very fine collection of old theatrical pictures. It was most interesting.

As I looked at them I could not help regretting that these favorites had not the motion picture and talkies to record their charm and talent when they were in the flower of their fame.

In spite of the outlandish clothes then in style, and the comic hats perched too high and overloaded with gewgaws, and lacking marcel waves and other enchanting artifices now so widely resorted to—how lovely they were!

Yet the day had its advantages. Careers lasted longer. The names and faces of those favorites are still familiar to many who never even saw them.

Will our screen favorites be remembered so long?

Madge Prepares to Tell Father of "Fortune Box" Secret

Marion had not obeyed my injunction to wire a single word "yes" or "no" to me in answer to my telegram. I saw that as I looked at the telegraph blank with its pasted strips of typed paper. But for a relieved second I did not read the rest of the message. The welcome word "Yes" flashed out at me, and turning away from the operator for fear my telltale face should betray my unusual interest in the message, I sat down at the desk outside, and bending over the message, read it over.

"Yes, dearest, of course. Do whatever you think best. Am writing. Only 11 more days of school. Then Christmas vacation! Hurrah! Love! Marion."

"Did you wish to send an answer?" the operator asked.

"No," I returned. "I did intend to, but on second thought I have decided it isn't necessary."

With the shamefaced thought that my father's injunction against speed had been specifically for that one journey of mine, and did not technically apply to the present one, I sent my car along the road at a speed that satisfied my love of motion and brought me to the farmhouse at an hour but little later than the telephoning of the message would have registered. I looked at my watch with satisfaction. My father would have time to hear my story of Marion's secret, and, if he wished, to go once more over the evidence left at The Larches before reporting his discovery there to the police and to Mr. Halset, the real estate agent.

I stole quietly into the house with lively misgivings as to the status of the domestic imbroglio I had left. But from the kitchen I heard the sounds of lively, cheerful chatter in which I distinguished the voices not only of Katie and Mrs. Ticer, but of Sam and Jerry Ticer and our faithful Jim as well. The Ticer men evidently had arrived in obedience to the letter left for them at Mother Graham's suggestion and were having their lunch in amity with Katie, Jim and Mrs. Ticer.

I went upstairs and found Mother Graham and Junior engaged in one of their favorite pastimes, a game of checkers. For the present, at least, the domestic currents were running smoothly, and I went on to my father's room with the relieved feeling that I could give my whole attention to the really threatening problems confronting us, without being distracted by petty domestic details—and discords.

"Well! Darling!" he said fondly—but indeed there is never a time when his tones and words to me are not filled with affection. It is always as if he were trying to atone for that mad wicked hour of his young manhood when he deserted my mother and me—a tiny four-year-old—and fled with the woman whose utter worthlessness he discovered within a year.

She had been a trusted friend of my mother's, that woman, and years after my mother's death, indeed some time after my father ended his long quest for me, I was thrown with her and was enabled to free my father from her demands upon him.

I shivered a little as I always do at any remembrance of that nightmare or of the years when I did not know whether or not the father I could not remember was alive or dead. It is the one blot upon the beautiful comradeship which is ours, the lingering penalty from that long ago sin.

But I must not let my father suspect my feeling. I spoke briskly in answer to his query.

"I have the answer to the telegram, Father," I said, "and I can tell you now what it is that I believe those burglars were hunting."

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

Dangerous Moods

Sometimes I feel sorry for men.

Every mortal one of them lives in the consuming fear that marriage will be thrust upon him, that love will strike him in the dark and that he will stumble into the matrimental bonds when he isn't looking—as an absent-minded man stumbles into a coal hole.

And that's the way it usually happens.

But if a man only understood himself, he would know that there are certain moods when he is immune to marriage—when a bachelor is as safe and sane and free from danger as—well, as a married man.

For instance, no man need be afraid of falling in love when he is wrapped up in his work, absorbed by ambition, and filled with his business schemes.

The man who is joyously BUSY from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. hasn't an emotion or a thought left for any woman.

* * *

No man need tremble at the thought of marrying when he is particularly happy and contented, when his digestion is working, when his business is going right and when his friends are plentiful.

He doesn't need anybody, then, to help him pity himself.

No man need worry for fear he may fall in love with any one woman when he is already half in love with several.

No man need fear that he will take the fatal leap as long as he is perfectly COMFORTABLE—so long as he has a home and a mother or a valet to feed him and coddle him.

He doesn't need anybody to help him love himself.

* * *

But, by this same token, let him WATCH HIS STEP when he is lonely!

When he is suffering from a bitter disappointment and is feeling abused.

When he has just broken off a little heart-affair and is feeling bored and distrait and disillusioned.

When he is ill and weak and has no fight left in him.

When time hangs heavy on his hands and his friends and amusements have begun to bore him.

When somebody has given him a blow to his vanity.

Then, ah, then, is he steering straight for the cliffs—and no amount of shouting can stop him.

For those are the marrying moods! And not all the advice, and all the philosophy, and all the determination in the world can prevent him from snatching at the first little bit of femininity that catches his eye—and tying himself for life!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Get Up and Go After Health

This article is being written in Atlantic City. It is a bright, sunshiny day, but pretty cool. Yesterday was even brighter, but not hot by any means.

DR. COPELAND

The attractive Boardwalk is crowded with visitors. Nobody stays in the house. The novelty of the walk, the attractive shop windows, the wheel chairs, the restless throng — all these offer inducement to join the procession.

I saw many pale faces and puny children. Anxious parents are hoping that the sunshine and pure air will promote health. Thousands go there for health reasons. Tired business men and worn-out housewives find rest and strength at this delightful spot.

There is the "herd instinct" in many of us. It is difficult to do anything alone. In company with others we can accomplish everything.

A bathing beach, a ball field, an excursion on the river, or this famous Boardwalk, will take us eagerly into the air. We walk miles with the crowd, when without the stimulus of competition we wouldn't go a block.

It takes bravery or a disciplined mind to do things alone. It is far easier to follow the beaten path. That is why many go to Europe and few to Hudson's Bay.

Yesterday I saw a newspaper dispatch from Florida. It quoted one of America's great men: "If Thomas A. Edison were told he could have any one thing in the material, mental or spiritual worlds, he would chose good health, he told newspaper reporters."

Within certain limitations we can acquire and keep good health. It is ours for the taking. But to have it we can't sit down and fold our hands. We must get up and go after it.

That is why we need places like Atlantic City and interests that take us into the open. Exercise in the sunshine is worth everything. Every day you spend in the open is like putting money in the bank. Every such day is actually a deposit in the bank of health.

If you store up health you will have reserves of strength and energy to call upon when you face unpleasant experiences in life. If you can't find friends to do things with you, must go by yourself. That is the way to get health. Mr. Edison prices above all other things.

Answers to Health Queries

J. B. Q.—What would you advise for acne, blackheads and pimples?

A.—Correct your diet, by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food and avoid constipation.

I. K. Q.—How can I gain weight?

2.—How can I increase my height?

3.—At what age will I stop growing?

A.—You will gain weight if you build up your general health. Take cod liver oil as a general tonic.

2.—There is no way that you can increase your height. It is hereditary in most cases.

3.—At the age of 21 you will reach your full growth.

F. M. B. Q.—What do you advise for removing superfluous hair?

A.—Until the use of the X-ray was discovered the only known and certain way of removing superfluous hair was by the use of the electric needle. When the needle is properly used there is little scarring of the skin, but it must be employed by an expert. On the whole it is safer than the X-ray and gives permanent relief.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Fork an Aid to the Spoon

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What is the proper way to eat stewed plums? Should they be eaten whole or should you cut them with your spoon in the sauce dish?

2. Is it proper to take a slice of bread from the dish on the table, break it in half, take one-half and put the other half back on the dish? J. I.

The correct way to eat stewed plums is with the dessert spoon held in the right hand and the dessert fork in the left. The fork is an aid to the spoon in separating the fruit from the pit, and the pit should not be put into the mouth. With the spoon eat a small mouthful of the fruit. Do not eat the plum all at once!

2. No! Take one piece and put it on your bread and butter plate. Don't return any portion of it to the plate on which it is served.

No Rules Governing Showers

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

In sending out wedding invitations, is it proper to say "the parents of the bride and groom—as Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Brown—request your presence at the wedding of our children" or just the parents of the bride?

2. Who is really expected to give showers for the bride, and are they given for her girl friends, or are young men included? Should showers be given as a surprise to the bride-to-be? ALICE.

It is the parents of the bride whose names appear on the wedding invitation, since they are the hosts of the occasion. This is the form:

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Elizabeth
to
Mr. John Worthyman.

2. There isn't a rule in the world about the giving of showers. The only theory that governs them is the rule of good taste—and that would be good taste for a party of any other kind—and the general idea that naturally would govern such parties.

Most important in this theory of giving showers is to keep in mind the bit of a shadow that often crosses the giving of showers—the accusation that too often they degenerate into "begging parties," too obviously given to "pass the hat." Naturally, therefore, if very close relatives of the bride-to-be plan these showers—well, we all know what this looks like. So we must, when planning a shower, get out all our best taste, polish it—and keep it polished.

Usually the gentlemen are not invited to a shower, but they may be asked in "afterward."

Usually the shower is not a surprise to the bride-to-be, but it may be, if you wish.

Be All Ready

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Should a girl have her coat on ready for the gentleman when going to a dance? MARIE.

She should be all ready, except her coat, and after they have chatted a minute or two, she should excuse herself and go put her coat on.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, May 10

While the financial prospects for this day are fortified under a benefic sway of Jupiter, and there may be some increase of business and a decided move in the direction of progress and fulfilled ambitions, yet some hazardous situation or complication may arise quite unexpectedly. This may be due to sudden change or to some sort of misunderstanding or misrepresentation, verbal or in writing. But affairs handled with discrimination or wariness should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of some progress and fulfilled ambitions, attended by expansion of business and finances, but there are some hazards through sudden change or through misunderstandings. With good judgment things may turn to good results.

A child born on this day should be capable and ambitious, but may be disposed to complicate things for itself by injudicious words or writings. It should have wisdom and discretion inculcated lest it make personal and business enemies.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

The bust is firm and round when chest muscles are strong. Women pay almost no attention to chest development, which is deplorable, since it brings along fine shoulders and a well-shaped back. All arm movements that pull hard upon the fibers will strengthen chest muscles. The lifted chest permits deeper breathing. Deep breathing brings glints into pretty eyes and luscious coloring to the cheeks.

The expression of the face has an effect upon the flexible muscles and soft tissues. Faces are always in the making. The mouth is especially susceptible. A dour mug gets that way in time. The corners of the mouth never droop if there is high courage and strength of character. Smile up and step lively.

Unsweetened lemon water taken before breakfast is a priceless beauty medicine for the woman who has a sallow skin and dull, tired eyes. All the citrus fruits are good; they are intestinal cleansers. Orange juice is recommended by dentists, who say that it is a tooth builder. There are diets for all conditions these days, except hangnails. (No, smarty, we aren't serious. Have to spoof the beauty customers now and then.)

A Bird in a Cage

WHO WOULD wish for a bird in a cage, denied
The forests so thick and the plains so wide?
It is out of the depths of the woodland green
Or up from the meadows' emerald sheen
That the joyous song of the birds should float
To the sky's vast arch from each golden throat.
A bird's wide wings, to be strong, must be Bound by no bars, but always free.

No bird in a cage can ever know
The tides of rapture that strongly flow
Through the notes of the wild bird, winging on
Into the opalescent dawn,
Or calling at dusk to his mate afar
Under a single silver star.
A bird's brave heart, to be glad, must go
Like the winds of heaven that freely blow.

Ford Reduction Plant Planned, Buffalo States

By B. C. FORBES

BUFFALO, May 9. — Henry Ford is negotiating for an 80-acre site here for an automobile reduction plant, according to local information.

Do you know what "an automobile reduction plant" is? It is a melting pot for "junkers," meaning junked cars.

The Ford people figure that Buffalo, situated on the eastern end of the greatest chain of inland lakes in the world, and having ideal railway ramifications as well as a barge canal to the greatest market on earth for automobiles, is the logical point for a gigantic plant of this kind. Cars which have survived their transportation usefulness could be collected at various points all along the Great Lakes, tapping both Canada and the United States; could be brought by rail from a wide area and from New York by the barge canal at an extremely low rate.

After the melting process, the material would either be sent to Detroit to be utilized at the Ford main works or it might be decided to build a manufacturing plant here. The site in mind would have immediate access both to Lake Erie and the barge canal.

Buffalonians naturally are elated over this prospect. It would afford one more striking proof that Buffalo possesses certain industrial advantages not enjoyed anywhere else, particularly in respect to strategic location and transportation facilities, alike by steamship, barge and rail.

DURING THE FIRST four months of this year Buffalo's flour business has exceeded that of Minneapolis, one is assured, by a million barrels. The April gain here over April of last year reached 44 per cent. Buffalo figures upon producing more than 12,000,000 barrels this year.

The Hecker-Jones-Jewel Milling Company are moving their flour mills from New York to Buffalo. This will mark the end of flour production on the Atlantic seaboard.

Buffalo supplies cheaper storage than New York for wheat; it affords certain transportation economies, and, being in the Niagara belt, can and does furnish an unlimited amount of power at extraordinarily low cost.

IT WAS THE POWER derivable from falling water which brought the first flour mill to Buffalo over a century ago. During the present century Niagara's power has been harnessed on a scale unapproached anywhere else in the world. On both sides of the raging river are other mammoth power plants, and enthusiasts present pictures of future power developments which tax the imagination—pictures of transmission lines of a length and carrying-power heretofore unattempted, lines which are visioned as destined to supply far-flung Eastern areas, including New York, with power at a cost which will gladden the hearts of manufacturers and strengthen the whole territory's ability to compete in wider markets at home and abroad.

BUFFALO IS SERVED directly by the New York Central, Erie, Lackawanna, Lehigh, Pennsylvania and shortly will be tapped by the B. & O. through the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh. It is served also by the Canadian National, Canadian Pacific, Wabash, Pere Marquette and Nickel Plate.

Some 24,000 men are employed handling traffic in and around the lake district.

The barge canal to New York is attracting more attention, and you are told that very big developments are pending, planned mostly by several of America's gigantic corporations.

THE POSSIBILITIES OF AIR transportation early appealed to Buffalonians, with the result that this city lays claim to rank second for the whole country in aircraft production. Curtiss-Wright is moving into what is described as a $3,000,000 plant. Consolidated Aircraft, under Maj. R. H. Fleet, has made a record for itself.

The official parachute makers for 38 countries are located here, the Irving Air Chute Company. Waite recently reported a $750,000 order from the Russian government. This novel business is expanding enormously, with prospects of future expansion on an unprecedented scale.

THE WRITER WITNESSED another "industry" in full blast along the Canadian side of the river. Here were trucks openly unloading countless cases of whisky as well as barrels containing liquor. Cases were being ripped open and the contents put into sacks—for what reason I don't know. Boats loaded with booze were lazily drifting along the Canadian side of the river, awaiting a curtain of darkness to enable them to cross with their forbidden cargoes.

As we crossed back into United States territory the customs inspectors asked one man to step out of his car and when he did he was an extraordinary sight; his enormous overcoat was so packed with bottles that he looked like a balloon. I was told that his car could be confiscated, that being the penalty for anyone attempting to smuggle in as many as a dozen bottles. Under that quantity the penalty is confiscation of the liquor and a fine of $5 per bottle.

American Tobacco To Open New Plant Soon

RICHMOND, May 9.—Manufacturing operations will begin on May 26 in the new six-story cigaret factory erected here by American Tobacco Company. The new power plant east of the cigaret factory will be ready for operation by July 1.

Completion of the new building will call for a gradual increase in the number of employes, but there will be no immediate addition to the 1,200 tobacco workers now employed in the present factory. The new plant has a capacity of 100,000,000 cigarets a day, compared with 42,000,000 in the present plant and production will be brought up to capacity gradually.

O. K. WHEELING MOLD MERGER

WHEELING, W. Va., May 9.—Stockholders of the Wheeling Mold and Foundry Company ratified the proposal of the board of directors to have the corporation join the merger as proposed by Cochran-Scott & Co., Chicago, which will affiliate the Wheeling company with the Duquesne Steel Foundry Company, Pittsburgh, and the Hubbard Steel Foundry Company, Chicago. The new company will be known as the Continental Foundry Company. The stockholders of Wheeling Mold will receive $50 in cash and one share of stock in the new company for each share of common stock now held by them.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was slow today at the wholesale produce markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The poultry markets were fair, demand fair, supply good, with slight changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets remained good, supply adequate, without changes in quotations.

Car lot supplies were nominal with 258 cars on track. Arrivals included 7 cars of apples, 2 bean, 1 broccoli, 23 apples, 1 cauliflowers, 3 carrots, 11 celery, 5 cucumbers, 3 grapefruits, 1 cantaloupes, 3 lemons, 9 lettuce, 4 onions, 7 oranges, 1 peas, 43 potatoes, 1 radishes, 6 pineapples, 4 spinach, 8 strawberries, 4 sweet potatoes, 7 tomatoes and 1 turnips.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 9.—The listed bond market displayed firmness today, but suffered from the dullness which often times is shown near the end of the week. Domestic investment issues, especially the high grade rails, continued their upward trend on comparatively small sales.

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Stocks Irregular — Local Market Quiet

STOCK TRADING QUIET, PRICES IRREGULAR

Strength Shown in Some Quarters With Movements As Whole Rather Vague

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP.)—The stock market's response to the lopping of $200,000,000 of the brokerage loan total was somewhat disappointing to irreconcilably bullish quarters today, but the list showed quiet strength here and there, particularly in the food and farm implement shares, although price movements were on the whole vague and irregular. Trading was the quietest in several weeks, and brokerage circles are now inclined to look for a period of speculative calm, with prices drifting on the currents of business trends.

The reduction in loans was in keeping with the more optimistic estimates. It reduced by about 20 per cent the gain in loans against security collateral from December 24 to April 30 and indicated clearly a fairly thorough shaking out of over extended speculative positions during the recent reaction. Call money continued to command 3 per cent, and offerings at lower levels in the outside market were fewer. Lenders evidently are not over anxious to place funds at such low levels, if any other employment can be found.

NEWS VARIED

Business and corporate news as varied. Survey of conditions in the steel industry, as presented by leading executives at the semi-annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute, were reassuring. Business conditions were generally described as on the mend. President Farrell of U. S. Steel indicated, that all things considered, conditions are "very good."

Mr. Farrll's expressed opinion that "the bloom is off the merger business," however, was not encouraging to stock market interests having a predilection for such developments. Wall street estimates indicating that U. S. Steel's monthly unfilled tonnage figures, to be published tomorrow, would show a substantial decline, were an adverse psychological factor in the market for a time, although such a showing would be seasonable at this time.

Senator Couzen's statement in Washington that the department of justice would test the legality of Radio Corporation's acquisition of the radio businesses of Westinghouse and General Electric caused some bear selling. Reports from the radio industry were generally more favorable, however, the management of Grigsby Grunow, in announcing price advances, expressing the belief that price cutting is at an end.

CASE BUOYANT

Sponsors of the food shares kept to favorable raw material prices for these companies, and reports of large sales have helped the farm implements. J. I. Case was again a buoyant feature, several of the amusement and utility issues were in demand. Loews reached a new 1930 peak, and American Tobacco B, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse, and Corn Products made substantial headway.

U. S. Steel sold up a couple of points after absorbing further selling, and several of the utilities made similar gains. During the morning, a rise a, the opening attracted considerable hangover liquidation, but this soon dried up. A bear drive against some of the aviation shares around midday was short lived.

FARM EQUALITY TO BRING NEW PROSPERITY

Eradication of Present Ills Needful, Says Price, Leader in Wheat Raising

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, May 9.

America will enjoy real prosperity when and if the economic equality of the farmer is established, according to Hickman Price of Amarillo, Tex., one of the largest wheat growers in the world.

Now that the business men through the Chamber of Commerce of the United States have aired their views on the utility of the Federal Farm Board, I sought the reaction of an intelligent dirt farmer.

Mr. Price said:

"The United States has not enjoyed the prosperity which is coming to it. Once the farm member of the national family recovers from its ills, the nation as a whole will participate in the good things of life which are now generally unknown. The industrial and commercial two-thirds of America have burdened by the agricultural incompetent and sickly one-third. When the farming population does its part, measures up to its opportunities and comes into full growth, commercial and industrial America will bountifully partake of a stability and measure of prosperity never realized nor appreciated before. The one vital outstanding development affecting all America, to take place in the next few years, is the progress which will come in agriculture as it emerges from age-old traditions and modernizes itself."

50-CENT WHEAT

Asked concerning the price outlook for wheat, Mr. Price very frankly said:

"The price of wheat, for the next few years, is likely to range between 50 cents and $1. The important factor is putting wheat production upon a stable basis so the grower can produce wheat to sell profitably at 50 cents a bushel. Until he accomplishes this the wheat grower has not measured up to his responsibilities nor opportunities."

Mr. Price strikes out along new lines. He believes that Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, whose views were presented in an interview in this column yesterday, is fundamentally wrong in asking the farmers to curtail production. Mr. Price thinks the farmers should instead be taught how to cut costs of production.

Referring to new tendencies in the southwest Mr. Price added:

"Rapid strides in wheat production are taking place in Northwest Texas. This is for the very good reason that nowhere in the world is it possible to grow wheat as cheaply as it can be produced in the southern reaches of the great plains.

"Virgin soils, climate, transportation facilities and ease of extensive operation are developing Northwest Texas into America's bread basket.

BEES GREAT GROWTH

"Two and one half million acres constitute the 1930 Texas Panhandle wheat crop. This is about one-fifth of what it will become soon.

"At first it appears that this vast new wheat acreage, developed largely by modern mechanized methods, will create a surplus with resulting lower prices.

"The important consideration though is that wheat growers in the older states cannot compete with southwest producers. Their soil is depleted, or the topography does not lend itself to new mechanized agriculture. These are but two of many reasons why successful wheat growers of the old order will be forced otherwise to use their acres.

"The shrinkage of the spring wheat belt of the northwest, and the soft wheat acreage in the Pacific northwest, as well as in parts of the hard winter wheat areas of Kansas and Nebraska, will largely offset increased use of new fields in North Texas."

WALL STREET HEARS

That J. I. Case's first quarter earnings were approximately $11 a share and that a 10-for-1 split-up will be announced within a week or so.

That Kennecott directors meeting later in the month will reduce the dividend rate and that several other copper dividend reductions are in prospect, although some companies may continue current payments from surplus for a time.

That associated dry goods sales in May to date have been running about 3 per cent ahead of the like period of 1929.

That there has recently been accumulation of Montgomery Ward stock by strong interests who have not been interested in it for some time.

That Hershey Chocolate will shortly retire a block of its 6 per cent preferred stock.

Landslides, Craters Peril Potash Mines

BERLIN, May 9.—(AP.)—Great landslides today occurred in the Potash mines of Vienenburg near Brunswick. Many of the mines collapsed. Big craters are forming in the ground, some of them 120 feet in diameter.

A railway embankment disappeared completely. A mine manager and three companions had a narrow escape when a car fell down into a crater. They extricated themselves with difficulty.

Stock Exchange Topics

Large Investment Trusts Reported More Active On Buying Side

Close observers of the situation in the money market are of the opinion that some of the larger investment trusts are becoming more active on the buying side of good stocks. Their portfolios according to recent reports had run off rather sharply just prior to and during the early stages of the current reactions. Now, however, there are indications of renewed buying on the part of these institutions. Money was a little firmer in loan yesterday with fairly heavy calling tending to deplete offerings in the outside market at concessions from the 3 per cent official rate. This calling incidentally was understood to have been largely for the account of several of the bigger trusts.

Cheap money as emphasized by the latest relaxation in basic interest rates as well as in the speculative money market, has not yet found much reflection in the stock market. But past performance has proven that seasoned investment stocks, whose dividends may be regarded as secure against reduction through any period of temporary slack in business, must sooner or later feel the impetus of easy money. Business, for the moment, is evidently not absorbing much new money, but investors are never satisfied with holding any appreciable volume of idle funds. The same holds true of institutions, and pending the call of industry for increased accommodation it is probable that good stocks will feel the favorable influence of at least temporary investment of the bulk of such idle funds as now exists.

If reports current in usually well-posted quarters are to be accepted on their face, bear operators have enjoyed more success from a standpoint of profits realized on the recent break than accrued to their efforts in the public markets of last fall. At any rate, one large operator who came into prominence as a factor on the bear side by reputed success of his market forays last October and November is credited with that accomplishment. Having wintered in Florida he is said to have cashed in heavily on the decline in the copper stocks especially. That his profits are larger in this instance than in the big decline may be ascribed to the fact that his working capital was proportionately larger.

The tremendous activity which has brought Radio-Keith Orpheum into the market limelight in recent weeks, and into the highest levels in its history is forcibly explained by a study of its earnings statement for the first quarter of this year. Net income of $1,607,622, equal to 67 cents a share on the class "A" stock, was almost equal to the entire earnings in 1929, when net profit totaled $1,669,564. The improvement in earning power reflects the integration of various units of the company's business. Its close affiliation with Radio Corporation, and the fact that a group of the most powerful operators in Wall street have combined in the backing of this growing organization, bring it to the fore as one of the select group of issues which will probably be well in the van of the next upturn in prices.

Talk of a persistent character is going the rounds that Eastman Kodak will culminate the celebration of its fiftieth anniversary by ordering the split-up of the common stock, with five new shares to be exchanged for each present share of stock. In its constant efforts to improve its diversified output it has made important and profitable inroads into the motion picture field.

Presumably in an effort to facilitate their covering operations the bear market launched a series of vicious drives at the market during the early part of yesterday. This selling was directed been in the speculative eye right along, including Steel common, General Electric, Westinghouse, Radio and Standard Oil of New Jersey. Some of the specialties such as Vanadium Steel and Allied Chemical also were subject to severe selling pressure of this sort. Early sellers, however, found the supply of stocks for covering purposes rather scant on the recent low levels and consequently were rendered quite nervous with the result that frequent and sharp rallies were in order.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Peter Trent sat on the swinging ladder, applying paint to Col. Nevins' summer home.

The spring grass was starry with dandelions, the tulip trees were budded and numerous robins were demonstrating a robin's idea of song.

There were also the [illegible] humor of Peter's white [illegible] drifting up against the [illegible].

Peter had been watching [illegible] of this. He was [illegible] the colonel's house [illegible] could afford to decorate [illegible] now and [illegible] to the [illegible].

He was humming a song to himself.

There was a pleasant [illegible] of activity in the house. [illegible] some of the servants arrived that morning to [illegible] the place for the colored [illegible] family.

A goof slammed [illegible] came out with an armful of draperies and put them down. The young woman went back and brought out a clothes [illegible] which she proceeded to pin on the poles in the latticed-in service yard.

Peter Trent stared down at her.

He noted with his eye for color that her [illegible] was pretty and that the very plain dress helped to make it attractive. Her cheeks were red and white hands [illegible] white arms she had.

She got up on a kitchen chair to fasten the line. Peter saw with a nautical eye that the girl was not spending. She had very slender and very shapely means of support.

A rooster chirped close at hand.

The odor of freshly turned soil from the garden was pleasant. The sun was warm and the breezes were soft [illegible] zephyrs.

Peter Trent had forgotten all of this suddenly.

Pretty Girl

"My gosh," he muttered, "what an eyeful that dame is."

The girl was having trouble adjusting the line.

Peter lowered himself to the ground and went over.

"Lemme help you fix that," he said.

"Don't bother," she answered.

"Bother you or me?"

The girl giggled.

"I mean I didn't want to take up your time."

He stood up in the chair, made a slip-knot and soon had the line in readiness.

"You're an awfully handy man," she said.

"You're an awfully pretty girl," Peter came right back.

"You got a line."

"So have you a clothes line."

The girl giggled again. Peter looked her over approvingly. She was tall and buxom. Like a great many undersized men, Peter was attracted by the Amazonian type of girl.

"You paintin' the old man's house all alone?" she asked.

"Sure."

"My, but you must be a strong smart man to do that."

"I have all the painting I can do. What's your job here?"

"See you again. I'll be a couple weeks here. Has I got a car—how about going to a movie over to the village tonight?"

"I'll bite. How about it?"

They both laughed. Peter told her his name. She said she was Pansy Britt.

They went to the movies that night.

When Peter started painting the next morning he believed that Romance had come to him in a great big way. It was a wonder that he didn't put the brown trim on the yellow walls, so distant from his work were his thoughts.

When Pansy wrote to a married sister in the city one paragraph would have interested Peter, it was:

"... And while he's sort of sawed-off, he's a steady, good trade, want a little house in the village and is just the easy lad to manage. I'm going to grab him while the grabbing is good."

Peter proposed before he had finished the painting job.

Pansy told him that it was sudden and she must have plenty of time to think it over. This frightened Peter. Several days passed and Peter said no more, which sort of frightened Pansy. So she told him she had thought it over.

Married

The Colonel Nevins family lost a capable laundress and Peter Trent secured a buxom wife.

A year passed.

Peter worked steadily and Pansy saved his money. She saved it a little too closely to please Peter. He liked to go out and play pool with his friends on a Saturday night. He liked a cigar every night after dinner. He had always been used to these things. He told Pansy about it after they had been married six months.

"It's a waste of money, Peter. You'll be better off to get your sleep," she said.

"I can sleep Sunday mornings and I need a little recreation and I like a cigar after dinner and so I'll keep out about three more dollars."

"You'll do nothing of the sort, Peter Trent," the buxom red-haired Pansy Trent declared. "You just attend to your house painting and I'll attend to everything else!"

"We won't quarrel," Peter said mildly. He eyed Pansy with secret surprise. He never thought she could be like this.

"You won't quarrel, Peter. You'll do as I say and be happy!"

Peter was undersized but he was spunky. He had never taken any lip from men much larger than he, and he had always managed to hold his own in a scrap. He decided that it was time to assert himself.

"No, I won't quarrel, Pansy," he said, sharply, "but I won't be

Strikes Husband

It took him so much by surprise that he was jolted back, stepped on a clothespin and down he stumbled.

A loud and coarse guffaw from the other side of the [illegible] Joe Hudson, the next door neighbor, had evidently witnessed the whole disgraceful affair.

Peter got up and blinked at his Pansy.

"You get up and strike me, you brute," she cried.

Pansy went into the house. Joe would be telling his cronies about it down at the poolroom. Pansy got up early and prepared Peter's breakfast.

Peter drank his coffee and left his breakfast. Pansy smiled grimly. Her sisters had told her all about this. He'd be hungry enough come night.

He was. And Pansy had an especially good dinner.

"How much longer on the schoolhouse job?" she asked.

Finished it.

She held out her hand. Peter hesitated. Pansy's lips tightened and her eyes gleamed cold. He handed over his money.

"Where next week," she asked.

Marden's stables."

Pansy handed him a dollar. He stared at it.

"For your smoking tobacco. That's near enough for you to come home to lunch."

He worked painting the stables. The apple trees were in bloom and birds were chirping. Peter recalled the spring day when he first saw Pansy. He wondered how any girl who looked so much like a plump angel as she did two years ago could turn into such a determined martinet of a wife.

Peter telephoned home that he would work until dark. This was a contract job and he had many jobs ahead. Pansy understood. She put on Peter's overalls and jumper and worked in the back yard vegetable garden. Then she started dinner and went down cellar to whitewash that still wearing the overalls and jumper. She didn't propose to soil any clothes. Pansy was not only efficient, but economical. Peter had more money already than he ever dreamed of possessing—only it was in the bank in Pansy's name.

Worm Turns

It was dark by the time Peter got home. He changed from his paint clothes to others out there instead of coming into the house in the smelly, greasy work clothes.

Joe Hodson climbed over the yard fence and went to the garage.

"Hey, Peter," Joe said, "Dutch Malone is giving an exhibition pool game tonight, we ought to go."

"No, I guess I better not, Joe."

"My gosh, of course you can get away from that [illegible] old battle ax of yours for one night."

"What?" Peter said, too astonished to believe his ears.

"Sneak out on that old battle-ax wife of yours."

"What do you mean by that, Joe Hodson? How dare you say that?"

"She is a battle-ax! Every time I hear Amos and Andy, and the Kingfish calls his wife the battle-ax, I think of your wife."

"Take back them words, Joe Hodson!" Peter was wild, all of a sudden.

Joe sneered. Peter socked him, he socked him down. Joe got up and rushed him and Peter knocked him flat again.

Pansy, from the open cellar window, heard all and saw some. She rushed up to help Peter.

Peter saw her coming in the dark. In overalls and jumper she looked like some husky man.

"Get out, you big bum and mind your own business!" Peter yelled at her. He wheeled and socked her. She went down in a heap.

Joe got up and managed to get over the fence, aided by Peter's toe.

"Oh, oh, Peter, dear!"

Peter stood frozen with horror. He had knocked his wife flat! He thought she was some buttinski man. She'd just about kill him, he thought.

Pansy got to her feet and put her arms about Peter.

"My hero, my darling—I'm proud of you, only don't ever hit your little Pansy like that again," she begged, kissing him.

Peter wasn't dumb. He didn't make the abject apology he had on the tip of his tongue. Instead he said, gruffly, "All right, go in and get dinner and the rest will depend on whether you try to be bossy again."

"Yes, Peter, dear, and I'll never boss you again," Pansy promised.

She kept her word and thus real Romance finally came to Peter.

Be Sure to Return Vote In Blue Law Referendum

The first results of the Sun-Telegraph post-card referendum on the retention, modification or repeal of the Pennsylvania Sunday observance law, known as the Blue Law, are being received.

The returns, as they develop, will be published daily, showing the trend of the ballot, which, it is hoped, will be in sufficient number to indicate the temper of the citizens on this important matter.

While the Sun-Telegraph has vigorously advocated changing the old law to permit innocent recreation on Sunday, it will refrain from urging voters to support its views, although it could properly do so, since its stand on the matter has been frequently stated in this department of the paper.

It does, however, urge all who receive cards to vote their preference, whether it be to keep the law in force, merely change it, or repeal it altogether. Every registered voter in the city will receive a card. All that is necessary is to mark one's preference and put the card in a mail box. That surely is a simple matter, an effort so slight that it can hardly be considered an inconvenience. It is a secret ballot, as no one can know who sends in the cards. All that can be ascertained is the sentiment of the people, whose individual identity remains hidden.

Vote!

If you think the law is all right as it is, don't fail to register your opinion. If you are for modification or repeal be sure to have your preference recorded. Prominent persons who, like the public at large, have varying private opinions about the old law, have indorsed this mail referendum as an excellent means of ascertaining the view of the whole community on the matter. Yet that can only be made known in an average way unless all who receive cards return the ballot.

The will of the people can be indicated in this ballot if they take the trouble to use the means at their disposal, as they should.

Certainly a determined effort to do something about the law will be made in the next Legislature. At such times legislators are importuned by interested groups to take a stand one way or another. The importance of the appellants usually is judged by law-makers, not so much by the merit of their case as by ability to pull wires or by showing of organized activity. The legislator is honestly bewildered, so "he lets well enough alone" and does nothing.

Let us now let Pittsburgh legislators know just how the whole city stands on this matter instead of having him base his ideas on the opinions of just a few people.

Vote!

All vote!

Republican Party Has Betrayed People's Trust

Practically all the great political economists of the United States have united in a public protest against the tariff for extortion which the Smoot-Hawley bill threatens to saddle on the American people and their best customers the world around.

These outstanding economists to the number of more than 1,000 representing every state in the union and the faculties of 200 colleges and universities, say exactly what the Hearst newspapers have repeatedly said—

That this tariff for extortion will not help the American farmer, but on the contrary will increase the cost of living to every American citizen including the farmer.

Almost simultaneously comes another impressive protest from the President of the Swiss Republic, coupled with a proposal of the Swiss council to put an embargo on American products, beginning with automobiles, and protests to the same effect are on their way from other customer nations.

Obviously the result of a tariff which is so high that it constitutes an embargo by our country against the products of foreign countries will result in embargoes by foreign countries against our own products, and consequently diminish our trade and our production, and as a result diminish employment.

Another result of this robber tariff which is going to make living so high in the United States, and expenses of every kind so high here, will be that the consequent cost of production will be increased here. Therefore WE WILL BE UNABLE TO COMPETE WITH FOREIGN GOODS EVEN IN THOSE FOREIGN MARKETS FROM WHICH WE ARE NOT EXCLUDED.

The whole effect of this outrageous tariff will be merely to benefit the big industrial barons by enabling them to charge more for their goods in our own country, out of which all competition has been excluded.

And the result of this exclusion will be to leave our industrial barons a monopoly of this field and enable them to limit production and limit employment, and to charge what they please for their products.

There has never been in the whole history of the United States such a base betrayal of the people, never such a complete repudiation of the principles on which a party was elected, as are embodied in this plundering tariff now nearing enactment.

The pledges of the Republican party and of the President to the farmers have been utterly abandoned; and instead of legislation which helps the farmers, the party with the approval of the President, is passing legislation which will oppress the farmer and add to his burdens, without in any way increasing his opportunities or reducing his costs.

The President and the party now in power have kept none of their promises except those made to the international bankers and the internationalists, and they will probably have to look for their support in the next election solely to the privileged interests and the campaign funds which they will supply.

The great Republican party, founded by Abraham Lincoln, has been sold down the river like one of the slaves that Lincoln liberated.

Oh! for another Lincoln to lift it out of the depths of its demoralization and disgrace.

If Figures Matter

What Change in Prohibition Law Would Mean.

Attorney General Palmer informs the Senate Judiciary Committee that:

"The number of federal prisoners has increased from 19,349 to 25,626 in the last nine months. Of this 6,277 increase, 4,284 have been boarded out in other than federal prisons. Of the 1,993 increase in prisoners housed in United States prisons, 1,811 are prohibition law violators."

These figures indicate clearly enough what will happen if prohibition laws are amended to send buyers to prison along with sellers. The government will have to buy up a lot of apartment buildings and private residences in the principal cities and put bars on the windows. At present the bars are in the basements.

How Does Your Nation Grow? -:- Drawn by Nelson Harding

Uncle Sammy, Uncle Sammy,
How does your nation grow?
More population,
With more education
And blessings that you bestow,
And jails overflowing
With numbers, still growing,
Of criminals all in a row?

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Hark, the Bugles Blow

The Treasury Department seems to have flopped in its tussle with the bootleggers. It flopped with an ease and dexterity born of long practice.

"Bugs" Baer

But why should the Department of Justice be burdened with this step-child of amendments?

Why not turn the job right over to the War Department and call out the militia, the Army, the Navy and all the surf-boards and bicycles?

War against the Bootlegchers would call for a bigger and better Merrimac to kiss every boat in the bay with its iron nose. And for a Monitor to tag the ones that get away.

What were three days at Gettysburg compared with 10 years in Chicago? The greatest strategist in history was Gen. Bob Lee, the most ruthless was Grant.

Yet neither of these boys would get anywhere against the rumhustlers unless they merged.

Farragut was pretty good in the Mississippi but they would lose him in the Hudson.

If the War Department took over the job we would be the first noncombatant interned. They'd know a man with a red nose was a spy.

Yet, we would like to see the war start on all fronts. We have always wanted to see our town on a battle map.

Strife and carnage would rage from our bottle-strewn streets to the grape ranches of California, from the booze caches of Louisiana to the filling stations of Michigan.

And don't think that Texas would be neutral.

And when a raiding squad turned over a still in Arkansas you would know that more vital fluids than blood can be spilled in times of strife.

When the War Department cornered the enemy's army in Arizona how would it stop its troops from fraternizing?

There would be armistices and false armistices and much trading of cigarets and tobacco for the finer things of life in quart bottles.

Maybe we had better not start this war. We have never lost one yet and it might be wise to keep our record clean.

COSMIC FACT FINDERS

By Archibald Henderson

The recently observed record of a "blotch of light" on a photographic plate, which demonstrated the existence of a long-suspected trans-Neptunian planet, forcibly brings to our attention the wonder of the telescope.

New discoveries of a less spectacular nature are constantly being made, which are duly recorded in the bulletins of the great astronomical observatories. It is only when some startling discovery blazes forth on the front page of our morning paper that our attention is sharply arrested and our minds turned to the wonders and marvels of observational astronomy.

The difficulties under which the astronomer works are scarcely realized by the man in the street. The observer often has to stand for hours at a time through the long night with his eye glued to the eye piece of his instrument, which, by a mechanical arrangement, is in uniform motion following the movement through inter-stellar space of the celestial object observed.

Moreover, immense care has to be exercised to prevent, as far as possible, the warping of the mirror. Consider, for example, the immense precision employed in the construction of one of these huge mirrors. No area can be much more than one-500,000th of an inch higher or lower than other portions of the mirror without affecting the quality of its definition.

When in use, since glass conducts heat very slowly, a thin film of glass at the surface and edges of the mirror becomes chilled, while the interior remains at a higher temperature. A very large mirror, such as that of the great new 200-inch telescope now under construction, may show a distorted figure for an entire night through.

The difficulty will be, in large measure overcome, in the case of this huge new telescope, by constructing the mirror out of fused silica or quartz, which expands or contracts very little with changes of temperature.

Great care has to be exercised in the location of one of these great cosmic fact-finders in order to secure the most desirable atmospheric conditions. As you look up at the heavens at night you often notice the so-called "twinkling" of the stars. This phenomenon is due to the fact that masses of air of different temperature and density are passing between us and the stare.

If we are looking at the star through a telescope these passing masses of air refract the light of the star by different amounts and there is a consequent quivering and blurring of the star's image. It is essential to locate the observatory where atmospheric conditions are very uniform without abrupt weather variations and where the average wind velocity is low.

Astronomy today is particularly concerning itself with a study of those extremely remote but fascinating objects, the spiral nebulae. There is a regular series of forms, believed by Shapley and others to be genetic in character, including spiral, elliptical and globular nebulae.

It is not known how many of these immense celestial configurations exist; but perhaps as many as a million are within reach of the 100-inch reflector on Mt. Wilson, and the great new telescope should bring into view several millions more.

The methods developed by Shapley for determining the luminosity of such huge bodies has led to a determination of many other facts about them—notably their dimensions and distances away from us. Consider, for example, one of the most remarkable and impressive of such bodies yet studied, the Andromeda nebula. It has been estimated to be distant about 870,000 light years or in miles, five followed by eighteen ciphers. Its dazzling brightness may be guessed at from the discovery that it is about a billion and a half times the light of the sun. In mass it is perhaps a billion times that of the sun.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

Lonely? Unhappy? Feel you are misunderstood? Sure that you have heavier burdens and harder temptations than anyone else?

The best thing that could happen to you, partner, would be to swap skins with the other fellow for a day.

Nine-tenths of your misery and cussedness arises from the fact that you think you and other humans are different. And because you think you're different you go around in a daze of loneliness and resentment, feeling that Fate is picking on you, and that no one can understand your sufferings.

If you could swap skins with the other fellow, with any other fellow, you'd discover your mistake in 60 seconds. For you would find that you and other humans are all of a piece, under your skins.

It doesn't matter what you are—or what he is—you're all of a piece. You may be plutocrat, poet or philosopher—he may be hobo, junkman, ditch digger, racketeer—never eless your makings are all the same.

You have no dream, no rebellion, no wonder, no fear, no tenderness, no ambition of inertia that does not also feel to some degree. Some faculties may be more highly developed in you than in him—some qualities may grip him harder than they do you—and your training and environment may seem to have set you poles apart, yet your makings are the same.

If you could be made to realize that—if by actually swapping skins with some other human you could prove this amazing truth to yourself—then your whole life would be changed. You would never again be as lonely—and you would never again be as snooty! Always you would feel that your experience was everybody's experience and that you were a part of everybody else. Just as you now feel that your mother and father and sisters and brothers are a part of you, so would you feel that all human beings were a part of you, and that you were a part of them.

Of course that wouldn't solve all your problems, but it would take the sting out of them. For it's easier to bear things if you know that others are bearing them, too. It's easier to face temptation and endure grief and suffer shame if you know that others are going through the same shadows and, somehow, making the grade.

If you could only swap skins! That's why great trouble sometimes works miracles. It strips us of comfort and confidence—reduces us to our original nakedness—makes us little children again, one with all the world, at home in any skin.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

There is a museum in Paris or somewheres where there is a lot of skeletons of animals. A Frenchman was showing some American friends through this here museum, and he was trying to impress the visitors with Napoleon. Every once in a while he would claim that something he was showing them was connected with Napoleon. So he come to a horse's skeleton, and he says, "Now, that there is the skeleton of the horse Napoleon rode in all his great victories! The horse's name was Pet, I believe, and he was almost as brave as his rider."

So the Americans didn't pay much attention, but one of them asked, "Say, what about that skeleton over there of a little animal? Right there, beside Pet. Looks like a calf or a colt or something."

"Ah, that, too, my friends, is connected with the history of the glorious Napoleon! That is, in fact, the skeleton of Pet when he was a colt, brave and true!"

Text for Today And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus. All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness.—II Tim. iii:15, 16.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

Though the stem may still evade us, we have enough of the branches to feel assured it is there. Every extinct species of man is in one way or another more ape-like and less human than any living race of men; in Pithecanthropus we have a true linking form between men and apes, only slightly, if at all, on the human side, while in Dryopithecus we have a true ape, some of whose characteristics are more human than those of any modern apes—a pier from the apeward end of the bridge, from not-man to man.

H. G. Wells

The evidence therefore is clear not only that man is closely akin to the apes, but that he is actually descended from an animal which, though undoubtedly different from any living gorilla, chimpanzee, orang-utan, or gibbon, would obviously have to be classified as an ape, which was covered with hair, provided with formidable teeth, had a brain not above half the size of ours, and spent most of its life on the ground or among the branches in the still prevalent but dwindling forests of the Pliocene.

Section 3. Man's Body: A Museum of Evolution.

Man's likeness to the apes shows us clearly enough in what direction to look for his evolutionary origin. But the proof that he has had an evolutionary origin and was not specially created—that rests on a much larger mass of evidence.

Our adult human bodies are among the best proofs of evolution, and the private development of each of us is an affidavit swearing to the evolutionary history of our race.

Weidersheim, the celebrated German anatomist, enumerated in the body of man no less than 180 organs which are vestigial—wholly or almost useless to us, though useful in other species of animals—each one of them a stumbling block to the believer in special creation. We may note one or two examples:

The body hair of men and women is purely vestigial; it no longer serve us to prevent us losing heat, and yet each of these tens of thousands of useless hairs possesses a useless muscle by which it can be, quite uselessly, raised.

For a fury creature to bristle up its hair when the weather grows cold is useful enough—more air is entangled in its coat and it loses less heat. In the same circumstances we also erect our futile little hairs, but the resultant goose flesh condition is of no value whatever—we have performed a vestigial action. Even the arrangement of the hairs on our body may recall the past.

The hairs on our upper arms point downward; those on our forearms run upward and toward our elbow; precisely the same arrangement occurs in the orang-utan, and it has plausibly been suggested that in this animal, which often sits with its arms clasped over its head, the arrangement may serve to shed rain off the body down the spouts of long hair projecting at the elbow.

But, whatever its significance in the apes, its existence in man is another proof of their kinship to him.

A few talented human beings can move their ears. Apart from being a minor social accomplishment, this has no value; but for a wild creature, like a rabbit or a zebra, whose safety may depend upon its power of detecting faint sounds and the direction from which they come, the power of moving its ear-trumpets is vitally important.

The human ear-mover is indulging in a vestigial action, but the ears of the rest of humanity are one step more vestigial, for the power of moving them has been lost. In spite of this, however, a whole set of muscles to move them is still present, though never called upon for action, since for some reason we are not able to control them.

This, by the way, is also true of the great apes, which have useless vestigial ear muscles. In tailed monkeys, on the other hand, the muscles are large and can be used, although they are not as strong or supple as those of, say, a dog.

Another interesting vestige in the ear is a little conical projection from the inturned margin of the ear, usually called "Darwin's point," since he showed that it was the remains of the tip of the pointed ear of lower forms, now folded downward and inward.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 9.—Thoughts while strolling; West Indians with bats on way to play cricket in Van Cortland Park, Harrison Fisher, the illustrator, a study in gray—gray hat, gray shirt, tie, suit and spats and gray hair. Dry cleaning agents who await mud-spattered riders at riding academies on rainy days.

Clothing shop advertises: "Three pants suits for bookkeepers." Over dressed matrons who price strawberries—and buy turnips. Stage mothers with their rapt air of "sacrifice." Winnie Shehan's chubby red cheeks. And extraordinarily long eyelashes. What's become of Bird Millman?

Roy W. Howard, a Gano, O. boy, who made good in the city. Fat men who wear dinky derbies. The melancholy splendor of a dying sun. And the sidewalk ticket speculators who gather at dusk like benevolent vultures. Herb Roth's bread shoulders. The boop-a-doop songs are heard no more.

That unwonted stir as twilight fades into dark. Girls who pass window mirrors sidewise for quick dabs of rouge. Grant Overton, the literary critic. Frank McIntyre, the actor who wanted to be a newspaperman. The scrape of fiddle strings in the cafes. Headwaiters who stand expectantly in doorways.

Chorus girls who pause before stage doors for a final drag at cigarets. Bold little bluffers, wisecracking around theatrical agencies all day hoping for a job. Then go home to cry themselves to sleep. Charles Dillingham leaving Dinty Moore's. Jack Osterman hurrying along. Eddie Hitchcock.

The cordons of police lining up for the 8:30 Broadway rush. Mounted cops' horses nosing out into the crowds for lumps of sugar. The old Chinese who collects stage laundry and loans impecunious players money at 10 per cent weekly. Leo and Helen Marsh.

An inky blue sky powdered with stars. And the bright yellow boy from the White Way cutting through the darkness. I wonder if the L's are sitting out in front of the hotel back home? Ed Wynn even looks a bit sappy off stage. But what a comedian!

Down town Manhattan has a millionaire gin seng merchant. He sells roots wholesale to Chinese in America and has a practical monopoly on the business.

My gin seng reporter tells me the herb has no medicinal qualities save as a demulcent—you'll find it under the d's—but its dried twisted roots resemble diminutive figures of men and women and Chinese hang them in dark places as devil chasers.

* * *

Speaking of herbal hooduses, a certain actor, Frank Fay I suspect, is reported reducing 20 pounds in a month by breakfasting solely on a cup of hot sassafras tea.

* * *

The herb specialist in our town was Pedro Joe, a gnome-like creature with incredible shaggy eyebrows, snaggy teeth and a foreign accent. His hovel back of the meat shop was shrouded in mystery. Nobody was allowed inside and there were many legends about his past. One was that he was the son of an Austrian king by a morganatic marriage. He was an idol of boys for when in his cups, which was almost perpetual, he sat out in front of the saloons and piped shrill melodies on peach leaves.

Skipping from herbs to blurbs, a huge banner on Fourteenth street poetically heralds: "The laughingest show you ever seen with Oscar Kopf and Myrtle Green."

"New York" intones a visiting British writer "boasts of its gigantic skyscrapers yet they are built up over night like houses of cards. They are as durable as papier mache and could be pulled down with a good strong wrench."

Go ahead and pull one down. I'll hold the baby.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Certain persons have the power to anger you, very easily.

Others might say or do the same and you are not annoyed.

But this person or persons can easily fuss you and enjoy the knowledge.

You wonder why you are so affected.

You don't want to admit it is lack of control on your part.

But it is true that certain people have the power to embarrass and annoy you in different ways and to know it, should be to be on your guard.

Instead of making the necessary effort to control personal feelings, it is natural to devote time and attention to ways to retaliate.

Unless you happen to touch a sensitive place the chances are that you will not be able to punish in the way you desire.

It is better to control your own emotions.

It hurts the other fellow worse to know that he can't find a vulnerable spot.

If you want to effectually control the person who upsets and angers you, you must be master of your own self.

It takes will power and grit, but it can be done.

No matter how much effort it may require, it will be worth all it demands.

Don't permit anyone to be your master.
